Job Well Done

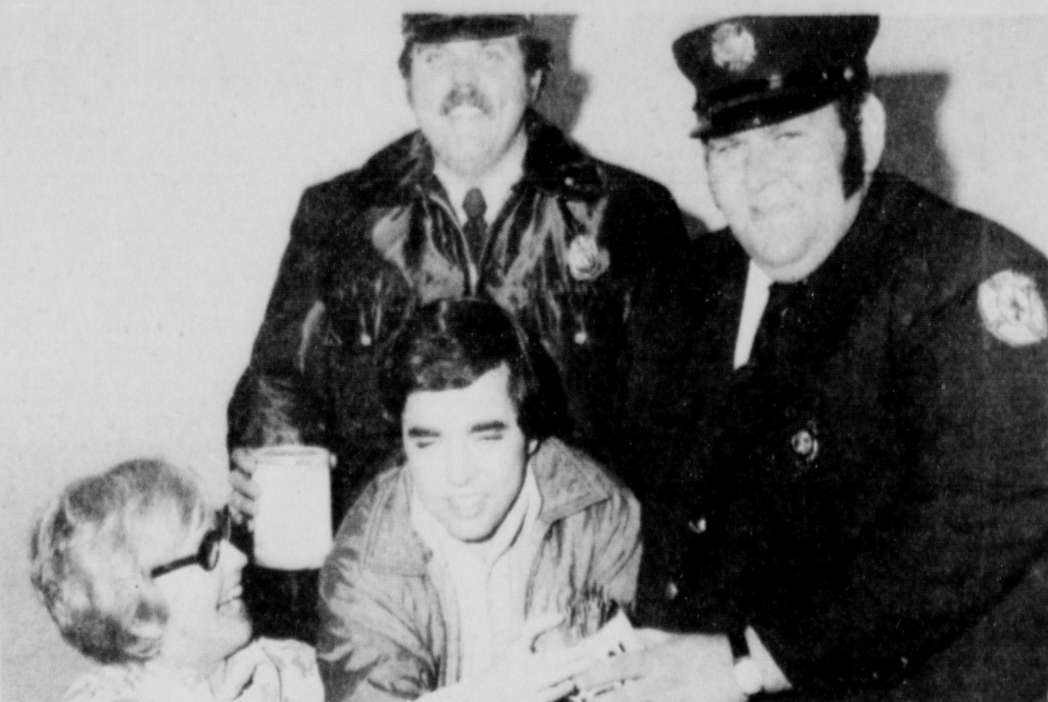

It's been said many times before by many people that when the going gets the roughest, residents of Kingston forget their problems and show their true colors by working together for a common cause.

That was the case Wednesday night when the populace of this community, with ample help from the surrounding towns, contributed more than $5,000 to commence the drive to raise funds for the City Children's Library, gutted last week by fire.

In a little more than four hours, "Beggar's Night" volunteers of all ages and from all walks of life arrived at the Daily Freeman office loaded with money in all kinds of denominations.

To say the beginning of the fund drive was successful is only putting it mildly. It was a tremendous effort on the part of many.

It was truly a community project and The Freeman is proud to have done its part to start the ball rolling.

$5 Thousand + Collected In 'Beggar's Night' Drive

KINGSTON

If success can be measured in dollars and cents, then Wednesday's "Beggar's Night" fund drive for the benefit of the Kingston Children's Library achieved all expectations.

By the time the phone lines were closed and the volunteers had departed, more than $5,000 in cash contributions had poured into the fund drive headquarters at the Freeman on Thanksgiving Eve. A recount of the cash totals early today set the latest figure at $5,100.36.

That doesn't include, however, $117 in pledges phoned in during a three-hour radiothon conducted by WKNY Wednesday night. In addition, four wards in the city had yet to turn in their collection canisters before the lights at the Freeman were dimmed shortly before midnight.

The fund drive will continue on a somewhat informal basis through Christmas Eve. Contributions can be mailed to, or dropped off in person at, The Freeman offices on Hurley Avenue.

All of the monies collected during the fund

drive will be placed in a special account to be used by the Children's Library once the board of trustees decides what course of action it will take to restore services and materials that went up in smoke during the early-morning fire on Nov. 19.

Despite the generous response to the library's plight Wednesday evening, the funds collected aren't nearly sufficient to restore or replace all of the damaged materials. Fund drive coordinators are hoping that persons who didn't contribute when volunteers conducted their door-to-door canvass Wednesday will respond with a check before Dec. 24. They are also looking to the business community and civic and community organizations to help add to the fund's treasury.

Wednesday's "Beggar's Night" campaign saw participation by virtually every segment of the local community. Youth organization members from throughout the city represented a large part of the volunteer collection force; a joint canvass by the city's paid and volunteer firemen raised $1,512.63 alone during the three-hour drive.

Lottery Is Out, New One Sought

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Hugh L. Carey today announced a thorough overhaul of the problem-plagued state lottery, including the layoff or reassignment of all lottery employees.

Among those to be laid off or reassigned was lottery director Gerald Bruno, Carey's advance man during his 1974 campaign, a spokesman for the governor said.

Carey said an outside consultant's study of the lottery, ordered when the governor shut it down Oct. 22, recommended a total reorganization "to restore public confidence and assure effective operation."

"In the weeks ahead, we will be making major changes in the lottery," the governor said in a statement.

He said "all 318 members of the Lottery Division" would be given three weeks' notice of layoffs or "reassigned within state government." Carey said "as many as possible will be placed in other positions."

The governor said the state "would fully honor our commitment" to those persons who purchased tickets for drawings that have not been held. He said plans were nearly complete for drawings for the Double-Up games of Oct. 2, 9, 16 and 23, and a special Oct. 31 Halloween Special drawing.

Carey said refunds would be made for the Oct. 30 Double-Up drawing.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said earlier in the week that the lottery had reached its legal limitations on salary payments and he would not honor next Monday's $113,000 bi-weekly payroll. However, a spokesman for the governor said today that some arrangement would be made to guarantee that any employees laid off receive at least three weeks' pay.

Carey said a special task force, headed by a "nationally recognized expert in lottery operations" would be formed to revise the game.

Among revisions being considered, sources said, was an "instant lottery" in which bettors peel or scratch a card to discover whether they have a winning number. Such a system would sidestep the lottery's computer operation, which produced duplicate tickets for the Oct. 31 drawing and prompted Carey to shut it down.

Carey said the outside consultant's study found no other instances of duplicate tickets, but did find "serious shortcomings in overall lottery operations."

Bruno's handling of the game has been severely criticized in several newspapers not only for the ticket difficulties but also for the practice of "phantom payoffs."

There have been reports that nearly half of the weekly $250,000 top prizes were not awarded and that many of the jackpot prizes were undistributed because the winning numbers were on tickets that never were sold.

Carey named a Boston consulting firm, the Arthur D. Little Co., to look into all aspects of the lottery, which heretofore had produced more than $50 million a year for the state treasury.

There has also been frequent criticism in the legislature that the lottery's original intention of providing money directly for education never was realized because earnings from the game go into the state's general fund.

At least one lawmaker, State Sen. William T. Conklin, R-Brooklyn, has said he will offer legislation in the coming session requiring that nearly half the lottery proceeds go directly to school districts where the tickets are sold.

Another legislator highly critical of the lottery, and specifically of Bruno's administration, has been Sen. John J. Marchi, R-Statens Island, chairman of the powerful Finance Committee. Marchi has called for Bruno's firing, and said it was "virtually certain" that the lottery would be unable to meet its payroll for the rest of the year.

Festival of Lights Starts at Sundown

The holiday, which will continue for eight days, celebrates the rededication of the Temple to the service of God and commemorates the Maccabean

Another Giant Step For a City Bus System

KINGSTON

Expansion of the city's mass transportation system—currently serviced by one bus—moved a step closer to realization this week when bids were opened at City Hall for the purchase of three 23-passenger mini-buses.

The low bid was submitted by Grumman Allied Industries of Garden City: $19,798 per bus, for a total of $57,612.

That amount is considerably lower than the price originally projected by city officials. Mayor Francis R. Koenig had earlier received commitments from federal and state agencies for a $94,000 grant for the purchase of three buses, with the city required to pay five per cent of the cost of the project.

If the bid from Grumman Allied is accepted, the city's share of the cost would be an estimated $2,880. The city now has 30 days to decide which bid it will accept and to execute the appropriate agreements. The city's choice must be approved by the state.

The other bids received this week were from DeMico otors of Kingston ($20,684 per bus for a total of $62,053.83) and from Minibus, Inc. of Downey, Calif. ($29,140 per bus for a total of $87,420). Minibus, Inc. was the only bidder to submit a proposal for diesel powered buses at a unit cost of $39,699.

If the Grumman Allied bid is accepted, the buses would be delivered within 90 days of the date the contract is signed.

With three new buses in service, the city's transit system would be expanded to include routes not presently serviced by the one city bus. Koenig noted that particular emphasis would be placed on establishing bus routes to meet the needs of the city's senior citizens.

In addition to the bus bids, city officials opened bids from three firms for transit coach fareboxes, which would be installed in the buses. The firms, and the unit price they proposed were Diamond Manufacturing, Inc., of Kansas City, Mo., $368.69; Euclid Products Co. of Willoughby, Ohio, $420.32 and Duncan Industries of Elk Grove Village, Ill., $638.

Sale of Gov. Clinton Near

KINGSTON

The Governor Clinton Hotel, on the market for some time, will be sold to three area men for an undisclosed sum after 50 years of ownership by the Kingston Community Hotel Corporation.

The hotel was constructed in 1926, according to the City of Kingston assessor's office. New Owners plan operations as usual for the time being, definite rehabilitation of the building, and no announced long term policy.

Kingston Attorney N. Jansen Fowler confirmed reports that there is "substantial agreement" between himself as controlling stockholder and three principals of the new corporation: Martin Aaron of Kingston, owner of Fowler and Keith Hardware; Orvil and Israel Slutzky of Hunter Mountain

Ski Resort, a construction company, and other business interests.

It was emphasized by Fowler (who has no connection with Aaron's hardware business) that when the sale is consummated "sometime around the first of the year" that the present management and employees will be retained and the business continue without interruption.

"All reservations and commitments heretofore and currently being made are to be honored by the purchasers," said Fowler. The new owners will "continue to maintain residential dining and banquet facilities," he stated and plan to "rehabilitate the property and make some needed repairs."

The attorney declined comment on whether the new owners planned to continue the Governor Clinton as a motel business. During the past ten years at various times of fiscal crisis for the uptown establishment, plans have been announced to convert more of the guest rooms into apartments, and many have been done.

Tenants were informed of the transaction Thanksgiving Day, said Fowler. He will address the annual corporation stockholders' meeting next week. There are about 175 stockholders.

Aaron commented today that "at present no changes will be made in staff or management." He confirmed plans to renovate the building.

Complete Dinner

Vietnamese youth receives a bread roll from a kitchen worker to complete his Thanksgiving dinner as he passes through dinner line in Indiantown Gap, L., Thursday. Santa Claus (background) was also present to add some cheer to mess hall festivities. (UPI)

A 'Thankful' Holiday

By UPI

A critically ill child, jail inmates, Vietnamese refugees and a man whose murder conviction was overturned all found much to be thankful for during Thanksgiving, 1975.

Doctors diagnosed that Jacquelyn Packheiser, 7, of Rolling Meadows, Ill., had Reyes Syndrome, a brain-damaging disease, when she was admitted in critical condition to Wyler Children's Hospital in mid-November.

But she opened her eyes Thanksgiving eve and asked to see her mother. The hospital sent her home for a very "thankful" holiday.

Sammy Garrett, 26, was released from Stateville Penitentiary just 14 hours before the holiday began. His murder conviction — for which he had served five of a 20-to-40-year sentence — had been overturned.

"Thanks. That's what I feel," Garrett said. "I often wondered if any humanity remains. Well it does."

Nguyen Van Tuoc, a former lieutenant colonel in the South Vietnamese military, sat down with his wife and their eight children to celebrate their new life in Chicago with an old-fashioned turkey dinner.

"Thanksgiving is a day of thank you to God," Tuoc's 10-year old daughter Dung said.

Jail inmates had special turkey dinners but at Cook County Jail in Chicago, they went without drumsticks. Bones more than 1½ inches long are considered potential weapons.

Thousands of volunteers served Thanksgiving dinners to the sick, disabled and poverty-stricken.

The U.S. Army — the largest single turkey customer in the nation — dished up 347,000 pounds of turkey, 52,000 pounds of shrimp and 74,000 pounds of mince meat and pumpkin pies to servicemen around the world. President and Mrs. Ford and their daughter, Susan, sat down to a traditional feast. The rest of the First Family celebrated elsewhere.

A handful of reporters combed New York City's Central Park for live turkeys. They'd been sent there to cover a "turkey trot" sponsored by the Borough of Manhattan Community College.

"Seen any turkeys around here," a reporter asked a pretzel salesman. "Turkeys? We got pigeons and squirrels; no turkeys," he replied.

The turkeys — dead and wrapped in brown paper bags — were finally found. It turned out the college's students and faculty were doing the trotting. The turkeys were prizes.

Tragedy hit for some. At least 10 persons suffered heart attacks while shoveling snow after a storm hit the Midwest.

For department stores, today was the day to give thanks for — the first day of the Christmas shopping season.

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — With $205 million in New York City tax boosts behind them, state lawmakers now face an even tougher task — dealing with Gov. Hugh L. Carey's proposed $872 million hike in state levies.

The legislature's emergency session, recessed for the Thanksgiving holiday, resumes Wednesday, but the state tax package is likely to be delayed considerably past that date.

There is wide disagreement between Carey and Republican leaders over the size of any new state taxes or budget cuts.

In order to get any tax hikes through the GOP-dominated Senate, Republican sources say they there must be sharp cuts by the Democratic governor, as well as an agreement by Carey to limit spending in the 1976-77 fiscal year.

The New York City taxes were approved late Tuesday night to convince President Ford that New York was willing to make sacrifices to solve its fiscal problems.

Carey signed the bills Wednesday.

Carey said in a statement he would ask Comptroller Arthur Levitt to certify the existence and size of the budget gap by the beginning of next week and said the emergency session would "fully dispose of that matter." He said a program for dealing with several fiscally shaky state agencies also would be presented.

Carey said that with the city taxes "New Yorkers have now offered every reasonable sacrifice to secure federal assistance."

Assembly Speaker Stanley Steingut, reflecting on the week of hectic bargaining that produced the city tax package, added, "Next week we'll start another one."

Steingut said the legislature would first take up a bill requiring New York city employees to live in the city and a measure consolidation of next year's April and September primaries into one June election.

"I don't think next week we'll be ready with state taxes or state cuts," the Democratic speaker said, noting how far apart both sides were on the issue.

Carey has claimed that the state faces a budget deficit of as much as $700 million unless taxes are raised and spending sharply cut, but Senate Republicans estimate the gap at only $264 million.

Republicans in the Senate planned next week to draw up their own proposals for cuts while they discussed the budget with Carey's fiscal aides, sources said.

Any new state taxes would put New York even farther in the lead in state taxes. The Commerce Clearing House reported Wednesday that New York State residents paid a per person average of $952 in state and local taxes in fiscal 1974, nearly $200 more than the second state, Massachusetts.

The New York City tax

package, most of which goes into effect Jan. 1, includes a $75 million hike in the city's income tax, a $45 million boost in the tax on bank profits and $26 million in "nuisance" taxes. Also included was a $200 million increase in the amount the Municipal Assistance Corp. could borrow for the city.

Final approval was delayed for several hours when the Assembly balked at raising the city's automobile use tax from $15 to $25 a year. The measure was withdrawn and the bank tax was doubled to make up the needed $15 million.

The measures passed by comfortable margins in the Assembly, with opposition coming mainly from Republicans. In the Senate, the margins were narrower, with both parties split.

'I Didn't Want to Go That Way'

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — In retrospect, it was a mistake to throw the fish out of the rubber life raft in which Susan Shepherd, 26, and Alan Zovar, 33, floated for four days on the Pacific Ocean.

A five foot shark appeared, gobbled it up, and wouldn't leave. More sharks joined it.

"Sharks kept bumping the bottom of the raft and pushing it around," Miss Shepherd said. Fins cut the water around them, and they could feel the sharks rubbing against them through the rubberized fabric of the raft.

"It was really scary," she said.

"Of all the ways to go, I didn't want to go that way," Zovar said.

"I thought, 'if the sharks are going to get us, I'm going to slash my wrist.' I probably wouldn't have been able to. It would have happened too fast."

They were rescued Thursday by a fishing boat that found them on Santa Cruz Island, 35 miles off the coast.

The ordeal began Sunday afternoon when they were fishing from the raft just offshore from Miss Becker's father's weekend house in Malibu. A sudden wind from the north-east drove them out to sea.

By nightfall, they were miles out, with six foot high waves swamping the raft.

"At that point we realized we were in trouble," Zovar said.

They sang to keep each other's spirits up, drank their own urine, and tried to eat a jellyfish and kelp, but couldn't get them down.

Miss Becker said they threw out fish they had caught earlier, fearing their spines would puncture the rubber raft. That drew the shark pack, which followed the raft continuously.

Shortly after daybreak Wednesday, they sighted the island, mistaking it for the coast of the mainland. They rowed frantically for 12 hours but were still about two miles offshore when the sun went down.

There are only two points on the 20-mile long island — which has only two homes — where they could go ashore. The rest of the shoreline is vertical rock wall.

"We feel God was guiding us to that cove in the dark," Zovar said.

They collapsed on the deserted beach, and when they woke up the next morning, attracted the attention of a crewman on the passing fishing boat.

The crew told Zovar they were lucky, that persons lost at sea on a rubber raft usually don't live more than two days.

"Are you impressed?" Zovar said he asked, adding his own reply, "I'm impressed."

Sex Experiments Banned For Harvard Undergrads

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — A university-conducted experiment to electronically measure the link between fear and sexual arousal is taboo for Harvard undergraduates, according to dean of students Archie Epps.

Epps banned Harvard and Radcliffe students from the experiments because he said they would be dehumanizing.

"I was also concerned about the private nature of the subject being researched," he said. "It seemed that its after-effects could be harmful to individual students."

In the experiment, electronic devices would be tied to the sexual organs of volunteers to measure if sexual arousal declined as fear increased. Prof. Gerald C. Davison said.

The subjects would listen to "an erotic story, a sexy story, concerning a young man and a young woman who get together and have fun sexually described in more or less anxiety-provoking ways," said Davison, the chief researcher in the study.

The research, unanimously approved by the university's 14-member Committee on the Use of Human Subjects, was aimed at finding out whether "people are less turned on the more fearful they are,"

Davison said.

He is on leave from the State University of New York's Stony Brook campus, where he said he has conducted similar experiments with such devices for years without problems.

Physical risks were "as close to zero as one can achieve," Davison insisted. "Psychological risks are almost as negligible."

"I feel I've suffered a serious loss and Harvard-Radcliffe students certainly haven't gained," he said.

EMC Gets Resource Handbook

Environmental Book Presented

KINGSTON Elisabeth Ladd, co-author of "A Method for Resource Analysis," reviewed the techniques in the book and answered questions concerning the role of environmental conservation commissions at the recent meeting of the Ulster County Environmental Management Council (EMC).

Ms. Ladd, who drew up the method book with Charles Killpack of the Harvard University Graduate School of Design, said it is not an environmental plan but an explanation of a method that can be used by local environmental conservation commissions, town boards, town planning boards and county planning boards to evaluate the degree of impact to be expected from potential land uses.

"An historical landmark has been established by the council toward the future of land use planning in the Catskills," said Donald C. Bruyn, EMC chairman. Citizens, conservation commissions and town planning board members who attended a course on natural resource inventory techniques at Ulster County Community College last May will find this publication an invaluable adjunct to the materials they will use in their work and it will be distributed to them, along with copies to local government agencies and libraries, Bruyn said.

The manual is designed to give conservation commissions an opportunity to understand natural systems and to provide a method for evaluating and protecting the county's environment.

Bruyn said the future role of EMC will be to coordinate local natural resource inventories within the county to encourage municipalities to work together and recognize the benefits of intermunicipal cooperation, and ultimately to consider the regional implications of their individual activities, Bruyn noted.

Better Detection Yet Reduced Risk

NEW YORK (UPI) — The medical director of a free cancer detection clinic is seeking ways to use x-rays to screen more women for breast cancer with far less radiation dose than they now receive.

Forty-five million women in America are at risk for breast cancer. That is all the females 35 and over.

Mammograph — an x-ray of the breast — plus routine palpation, is proving highly successful in a nationwide demonstration program in finding minimal cancers smaller than the head of a pin.

It also is helpful in finding bigger cancers that are, though larger than a pinhead, still too small to be detected by feeling for lumps alone.

The demonstration project, sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute (NCI), is based on a highly-successful detection program set up by Dr. Philip Strax back in the early 1960s using mammography.

Strax, medical director of Guttman Institute in New York, said in an interview he is searching for ways to improve mammography by reducing the radiation dosage and developing a system to screen many more women rapidly.

Authorities say at most only 10 million women have their breasts x-rayed each year.

By using an image enhancer on standard x-ray film, Strax said he has been able to cut the radiation exposure 90 per cent. Strax will report on his findings Dec. 4 at the Chicago congress of the Radiological Society of North America.

The mammograms with "much lower" radiation doses are "surprisingly more detailed," Strax said.

The enhancer is a chemically treated sheet. It emits light when x-rays hit it.

Strax said he is applying for a NCI grant to develop what he believes will be a successful machine for mass detection programs using mammograms.

The x-ray film would be on reels. The image enhancer would move right along with the film.

Instead of putting in a big flat film for each picture, the operator would only change film when the roll ran out.

Strax believes this would speed up mammograms to a point where many more women could have them when desired — and not need to worry about too much exposure to radiation.

His Rube Goldberg mammograph machine is a long way down the road. But the pressure to improve and speed up the breast x-ray examinations is great.

The preliminary findings of the demonstration project using mammography in addition to regular palpation methods shows breast cancers are being found before spreading to the lymph nodes in the armpit. At this stage, the cancers have greatest chance of cure.

The early cancers are being found twice as often as they were in detection programs without mammography.

The image-enhancing chemical in the material Strax is working with comes from rare earth phosphors.

Their role in eliminating a significant amount of radiation exposure in medical x-rays was discovered in 1971 by Dr. Robert A. Buchanan, a scientist at Lockheed Research Institute's laboratories in Palo Alto, Calif.

Tea Questions For Buyer's Billboard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — We have two related questions on tea, the first from Little Hocking, Ohio:

"For as long as I can remember we have been able to buy green tea or gunpowder tea from the grocery shelf — chain store or independent.

"Now, over the past year we find it gone from the grocery line and can't find it any more. How come?

"We get the answer that they no longer make it or that the wholesaler does not handle it. What has happened to it? It was used by a large number of people here and the stores could not keep it in stock."

According to a tea expert at the Agriculture Department, nothing has happened to green tea, except that consumers stopped buying it.

Which brings us to this inquiry from Flint, Mich.:

"An Oriental friend of mine refused a cup of tea made from instant powdered tea. He states that all Orientals think it is harmful since it is made by grinding up the tea leaves, and that the powder is in fact ground up leaves.

"Is this true? And if so, is it harmful? What research if any has been done on this?"

Thomas J. Lipton Inc., says there are no tea leaves in instant tea. It is made by water extraction. Tea first is brewed, then sprayed in a fine mist and allowed to fall through a tower where droplets form. The droplets dry into a powder, which is instant tea.

Lipton said ground tea leaves wouldn't dissolve; they'd just float around. The company says ground leaves never have been used in any instant tea product now or previously on the market, as far as it knows.

Sales Tax Increase

News that members of the Ulster County Legislature are considering raising the sales tax from one to two per cent in order to reduce the estimated 50 per cent hike in county property taxes has the unequivocal backing of The Freeman.

The projected increase in the 1976 Ulster County budget is almost $15 million. The projected added revenue from a one per cent increase in the county sales tax is in the neighborhood of $4 million.

The Freeman feels that a sales tax is the most painless way of taking money from the pocketbooks and pockets of the taxpayers.

A sales tax is just what the name implies. You pay only for something you purchase and only for how much you purchase. It's a tax that is fair to everyone and it's a tax that you pay as you buy.

An example of what the one per cent sales tax hike would do for a taxpayer instead of raising the property tax shows why The Freeman is behind a sales tax increase.

If a person is paying $400 in property taxes, his proposed increase, according to the preliminary 1976 budget figures, would be $200. However, if a one per cent sales tax were added, that same person would have to spend $20 thousand on purchases during the year to match that $200 increase.

When the legislature adopts its budget for '76, The Freeman is hopeful the additional sales tax will be implemented. It will prove to be beneficial, not only now but in years to come.

The UCCC Library

While considering the tax hike, the legislature should also begin an immediate investigation of the closing of the Macdonald DeWitt Library on the campus of Ulster County Community College.

Why, after being in operation for only eight years, was the library forced to close because of so-called "structural cracks?"

Those who were around eight years ago will recall the heated argument involving the library. The initial problem was the selection of Augustus R. Schrowang and Associates of Kingston as the architect. At that time, it was thought by many that other architects, much more aware of the college's construction needs, were available.

The other dispute brought a work stoppage at the site. It involved the use of non-union-made Virginia brick in campus buildings. The suggestion was that locally manufactured brick by union men were "in every way as good as the out-of-state brick."

The Freeman doesn't know the answers as to whether or not the architect did his job correctly or whether or not the Virginia brick was as good as that produced in Ulster County.

However, The Freeman insists that a thorough investigation be conducted immediately to determine whether this library can be used again. If it can't, a probe must be made to find out what negligence was involved in its construction.

It's hard to believe that a modern library building, situated in the heart of a modern college campus, has to be closed after only eight years of operation.

The legislature has an obligation to taxpayers of the county and to the students and faculty at UCCC to make this complete investigation and to make its results known immediately.

Thanks to the Candidates

Editor, The Freeman:

We, the 7th and 8th Grade students of the Immaculate Conception School in Kingston, would like to publicly thank Mayor Koenig, Mr. Darling, Mr. Singer, Mr. Gallo, Mrs. Kolts, Mr. DeCicco, Mr. Spada, Mr. Machione, and Mr. Perry for their appearance to our Social Studies class prior to Election Day.

We invited the candidates of our local area to speak to us or to send information about their campaign and the political office they were seeking. These above candidates chose to come to us in person. They were most generous with their time and very informative about the structure of our local government, the American political party system and their individual campaign techniques and philosophies.

These candidates proved to us what fine human beings they are, dedicated to serve the people of our community. We congratulate all those who won in this year's election. We hope those that lost will continue their fine efforts to bring better government to the people.

Thank you all for honoring us with your visit to our Social Studies class. It was a memorable experience for all of us.

Sincerely,

7th and 8th Grade students

Parents Not Notified

Editor, The Freeman:

The Kingston Consolidated School Board has seriously damaged their credibility denying parents who are opposed to Strand III (Mental Health, Family Living, Sex-Ed) the opportunity to air their views.

At the October meeting parents were told that there was no point in discussing Strand III until the syllabus was available. A meeting would be called after they had an opportunity to study the syllabus. Parents, who took the trouble to get the syllabus, carefully scanned "The Daily Freeman" for notice of this meeting. No notice of the meeting was published. Parents attended the next scheduled Board Meeting in November only to sit in shocked silence while the School Board passed Strand III before opening the meeting to the general public.

When asked about this, Miss Jones, Secretary of the School Board, stated that "The Paper" was notified. This was not true. Subsequently their story changed. The new version was that a paper had been circulated at the October meeting for parents to sign who wanted to attend an open hearing on Strand III. This did not happen.

Parents, leaving their name and address for the syllabus, were not notified of this meeting.

In spite of this, Mr. Salzmann, Superintendent of Schools, is reported to have said: "I don't buy the story that parents didn't have enough input." Apparently Mr. Salzmann or the School Board is not truly interested in what parents think, even when these parents have taken the trouble to attend Board Meetings and have taken the trouble to obtain a copy of the syllabus.

Yours truly,
ROSE APREA
New Paltz

P.S. Though my address is New Paltz, I am within the Kingston School District.

Friends in Need

Editor, The Freeman:

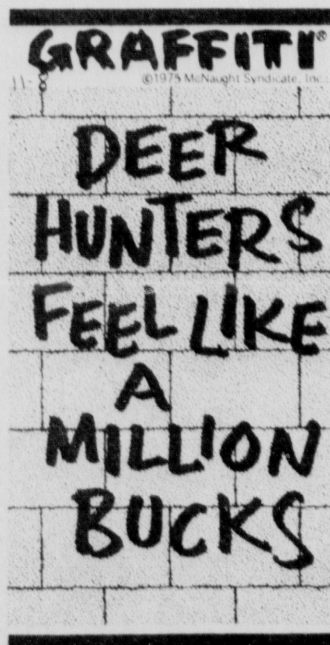

Friends are people who are there when you need them. The Kingston Area Library, in the aftermath of the fire in our Children's Building, has found that we have friends too numerous to count. At this time, we thank one group—the firemen, both paid and volunteer.

Wednesday morning, they extinguished our fire and saved most of our rare book collection. Saturday, they packed thousands of children's books. Sunday, they oved these books to new temporary quarters. Since then, they have organized and participated in a city-wide fund drive.

They have worked together in a spirit of brotherhood, united in the common cause of restoring the services of the Children's Library to the people of Kingston.

It is fitting for us to give thanks to these good men for their unselfishness. Because of them, we have much to be grateful for.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM C. MULLANY,

'Who's The Fairest of All?'

Inside Report

Frisco Revolt

By Rowland Evans
and Robert Novak

SAN FRANCISCO — The unexpected presence in the Dec. 11 mayoral runoff election here of a conservative Republican businessman — lacking organization, funds and even campaigning ability — is the latest evidence of spontaneous voters' revolt, this time in the most liberal of American cities.

Conservative city supervisor John Barbagelata seemingly needs a miracle to win on his anti-labor union platform in this traditionally union town against liberal Democratic state Sen. George Moscone. But discontent over strikes by police and firemen here and fear of going the way of New York are strong enough to provide the ingredients of that miracle.

There is no need for a victory by Barbagelata, however, to show that San Francisco is deeply influenced by the harsh new realities in big city politics. While unmistakably the candidate of labor and the left, Moscone is gingerly edging away from them and, if he gets to city hall, almost surely will disappoint them. Here, as elsewhere, the twin menaces of municipal bankruptcy and deepening crime are revolutionizing politics.

INTENSIVE TRENDS

These trends had to be intense to reach San Francisco, easily carried by Sen. George McGovern in 1972. With a national reputation for permissiveness, it is the only city where homosexual support is openly courted by candidates. Moscone is the archetypal San Francisco liberal of the 1970s — an early McGovern booster, foe of capital punishment and the Vietnam war, reflexively identified with all liberal causes.

In this environment, Barbagelata was expected to run fifth in a five-man field in the Nov. 4 non-partisan election. While often described as a Reagan Republican, he has met Ronald Reagan only twice in his life and is really a non-political businessman who first entered politics with his 1969 election to the 11-member board of supervisors. He gives few political speeches, does little hand-shaking and is remarkably short on the staples of politics — smiles, small talk, organization and money.

Conventional politicians have all manner of sophisticated explanations for Barbagelata running second Nov. 4. Certainly he benefited from the police-fire strike and lameduck Mayor Joseph Alioto's capitulation to their demands.

But his appeal runs deeper. His opposition to rapacious demands of municipal unions ("they are destroying our cities"), busing and lax measures against street crime strikes a responsive chord with middle-class whites who live in San Francisco neighborhoods never visited by tourists.

As the ally of organized labor and the liberal Burton machine (run by Congressmen Phil and John Burton), Moscone would seem the antithesis of Barbagelata. Like Alioto, the bedrock of his support is welfare recipients, minorities and civil servants. But, in private, Moscone on fiscal affairs and crime is not all that different from his conservative opponent.

While Moscone aides expect a rout in the Dec. 11 runoff and rejoice that their victim is a Reaganite ("I just love it," one enthusiastically told us), Moscone in private feels the Nov. 4 election brought home a sober warning of taxpayer revolt.

Accordingly, Moscone has quietly modified his tactics. While begging out of a meeting of black leaders earlier in the week, he spent last Saturday night hand-shaking through the middle-class Sunset section carried by Barbagelata. Told by one adviser to divorce his left constituency but not inform them of the divorce, Moscone likely will have some unpleasant surprises for his supporters if he is elected: crackdowns on municipal unions, budget trimming and reorganization of San Francisco's widely criticized police force.

With Moscone thus trimming his sails in the face of middle-class antagonism, the Dec. 11 runoff would seem even more of a one-sided affair. The handsome 44-year-old Moscone campaigns tirelessly against an opponent who scarcely seems visible. Rather than make public appearances, the 56-year-old Barbagelata, acting as his own campaign manager, spends hours writing and rewriting campaign flyers which he prints on his own $800 printing press run by his 18-year-old son.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Engineering Downfall of Agnew

By Jack Anderson with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—For the first time, it is now possible to trace the strange twists of history that put Gerald Ford in the White House. If ex-Vice President Spiro Agnew hadn't been caught taking petty bribes from Maryland contractors, he would be President today.

If ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally hadn't become ensnared in the milk scandal, he would have been named as Agnew's replacement and would now be sitting in the oval office in Ford's place.

We have obtained the amazing, behind-the-scenes story from sources close to both Agnew and ex-President Richard Nixon. We have spoken, for example with Charles Colson who was the intermediary between Nixon and Agnew. We have also had access to the page proofs of Colson's unpublished book, "Born Again," which discusses Agnew's downfall.

As Agnew's friends relate the story, the then-Vice President learned in early 1972 that President Nixon wanted to replace him on the ticket with Connally.

Colson got the same impression from the President who confided that Connally was "one guy who could take over my job." The two men became so close that, after Connally's departure from government to recoup his finances, Nixon quietly intervened to help him with some oil deals in the Middle East, Colson recalls.

But Agnew had a strong, stubborn following among conservative Republicans. To replace him with a lifelong Democrat, Nixon feared, would cause a Republican rebellion. "Could I appoint a Democrat?" Nixon asked Colson. Then, answering his own question, the President said: "No, I can't do it."

Less than a week after their Nov. 7, 1972, reelection, Nixon summoned Agnew to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md. Apparently, Agnew thought he was being invited for a celebration; he was unprepared for the brutal session that followed.

The President informed him bluntly that the White House staff would exercise tighter control over his operation. His budget would be cut and his activities curtailed, Agnew was told. In short, the triumphant Nixon served notice that he intended to keep his Vice President on a short leash.

Afterward, the President confided to an aide: "I was really surprised at the way Agnew buckled under. I would never have taken that." Agnew returned from Camp David with a new impression also of Nixon. "He is the coldest fish I ever met," Agnew remarked to a friend.

True to his word, Nixon clamped down on the Vice President who was treated thereafter like a minor functionary. He was told whom to fire and whom to keep on his staff. The humiliated Agnew was even obliged to ask a Nixon aide, Alexander Haig, for transportation and other perquisites.

The Vice President also had to clear his overseas travel with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Once Agnew wanted to visit his ancestral home in Greece, but Kissinger refused permission.

It was February, 1973, that Agnew first got wind that a federal grand jury was investigating him. He suspected immediately that Nixon was behind it. As Agnew confided darkly to friends, he expected Nixon to use the threat of indictment to black mail him into giving up the vice presidency to Connally.

Colson insists that President Nixon had no such plot in mind, although he ended up trying to push Agnew out and to bring Connally in. Colson claims that the President never instigated the Agnew investigation, and, in fact, never even learned about it until April 1973.

Nixon's first reaction was to come to Agnew's aid simply to spare his Administration from further embarrassment. On April 13, 1973, he asked Colson, who had left the White House to practice law, to help Agnew.

Not until September, according to Colson, did he get a suggestion from the White House that Agnew should resign.

The President warned Colson: "There is no way Agnew can escape indictment. It is time for him to make a deal."

The removal of Agnew, Nixon indicated to Colson, would take some of the heat off himself from Watergate. Colson contended, on the contrary, that a crippled Vice President would be his best insurance against impeachment.

On September 23, Nixon was back on the phone to Colson. "God," said the President, "how I wish it would all go away, but Ted (Agnew) doesn't understand the problem. He has got the best deal he can ever make. It is all boiled down to one income tax problem."

Colson said his client was worried about going to prison. "He should have no fear about that," assured Nixon. "That can be taken care of."

For the first time, Colson put the proposition straight to Agnew on September 24. He had no support in the White House; his situation was deteriorating fast; maybe it was time to make a deal.

Agnew angrily rejected the idea. "I am innocent," he swore. "I am going to stick it out. I don't give a damn. I was elected just like the President was." But Agnew's attempts to force a showdown on Capitol Hill, according to Colson, were undercut by the White House itself.

The President still had Connally in mind as Agnew's replacement said Colson, until Connally came under investigation for allegedly taking a bribe from dairymen. In desperation, Nixon turned to Gerald Ford to be his new Vice President.

The Attitude For the Job

Dusk leads a short life in Jamaica. The late sun disappears, taking with it all the sloping green of the mountains and the lime green of Ocho Rios Bay. For a moment, the world is veiled violet, then there is darkness and a star appears.

Glaister Hales and I sat on a small aluminum porch on the 10th floor of the Inter-Continental. We had been talking about his job as director of personnel at the hotel. The magic of evening came, and we fell silent. On the far side of the bay, the lights of a sugar ship tossed red and green paths on the water.

Hales likes his work. He is Jamaican, 44, with skin like polished ebony. He interviewed hundreds of men and women to staff the hotel. He never permits his intelligence to get in the way of good manners.

Not For Me

I told him I wouldn't work in a hotel at any time. People who pay high prices for room and meals become angry. If it rains, they blame it on the front desk. Or the waiter.

They leave "Do Not Disturb" signs on doorknobs and forget to remove them.

The steak is too hot or too cold. The room maids move all the toiletries to the work side of the basin.

Hales has a rich smile. With attitude, I could hardly be hired a one of the 250 persons working in the hotel. When he hires, his interviews are low-key, pleasant. His brown eyes study appearance.

He listens for signs of innate courtesy. The only thing more important than job training, he feels, is attitude. A man or woman working in a hotel must want to serve people.

The ship was moored to the dock now. Long pale stalks of sugar cane would come roaring down a chute from the mountains and fill the holds of the vessel. She would be standing out to sea by mid-morning because another hungry ship would be coming in.

It is sometimes more difficult, Hales says, to get the proper employees than it is to get guests. "I believe in service without servility," he says, "We Jamaicans walk erect."

Jamaica is a nation among a commonwealth of nations and it truckles to no one. The waiters are all literate and they take orders with grace and dispatch. Off the lobby, I have watched the smiling bartenders. They make me feet hurt. They stand for eight hours on floorboards.

The doorman looked lonesome in his flashy uniform. He stands waiting to open a car door, help a lady alight, find a taxi for a tourist and strike a match for someone else's cigarette.

No, I said, I would like none of these jobs. He asked if there was any job I would like in Jamaica. "Yes," I said, "yes, there is one."

I would like to be the governor-general of the island. This is my idea of nothing to do and all day in which to do it. The position is held by the Hon. Florizel Glasspole, which is one hell of a moniker.

He is appointed by Queen Elizabeth. He lives in a fine house. Mr. Glasspole is a ceremonial figure. When the government of Jamaica wants to stage a colorful garden party, or the investiture of certain officials, the governor-general may be dusted off and given his mace.

Easily Coaxed

I am ideally suited for this work, in case

Her Majesty reads this column. When not on official duties, I can be hung up in a closet. In fact, I could easily be coaxed into staring at the view of the mountains and sea at Ocho Rios forever.

Hales is sure I would not qualify. Perhaps, but if "attitude" means anything, I have it. The darkness was complete. The mountains disappeared. From far off, Sirius and Arcturus sent messages in dots and dashes.

Glaister Hales said he would have to leave. The visit was short, but I was impressed. He has an aura of being under control at all times, a man with built-in confidence.

In the morning I was in a striped robe on the same porch. The sun buttered the little half-moon bay with daffodils. The sugar ship had departed, leaving a smudgy crayon of smoke against the mountains.

Ocho Rios has more moods than a croquette. Other guests went shopping. I was on the little porch enjoying my fantasies.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

November 28, 1775:

Congress designates Benjamin Harrison of Virginia, Benjamin Franklin of Pennsylvania, Thomas Johnson of Maryland, John Dickinson of Pennsylvania and Delaware, and John Jay of New York as a secret committee of correspondence. The members, who come to be known as the Committee of Five, are instructed to correspond "with our friends in Great Britain, Ireland, and other parts of the world, and [to] lay their correspondence before Congress when directed." Among its members, only Franklin has any diplomatic experience. The primary conduit to the committee becomes Charles Dumas — a Swiss journalist and a long-time friend of Franklin — in the Hague. Dumas gathers his information, puts it into an intricate code that he devises, and forwards it to the Committee.

Yusman Aman: Malaysia's Pride

PETALING JAYA, Malaysia (UPI) — Yusman Aman never gave up. As one of ten children in a poverty-stricken Malay family, his overworked parents couldn't pay much attention to his artistic inclinations. There was no money to send him to art school, despite his obvious talent.

Discouraged, he dropped out of school. Family and friends scoffed at his dreams. He had no money, financial backing or training.

Yusman moved with his family to Singapore from what is now Malaysia and got a job as a commercial artist. After his first successful show, he returned to his homeland in 1972 with one goal — to capture in art the land and Malay people he loved.

The years of quiet disappointment have ended for Yusman Aman. Today Yusman, 38, has become Malaysia's pride, the master of batik, Asia's exacting art of pattern dyeing.

Still boyish looking, Yusman's paintings of dark-haired Malaysian women, native villages, lush jungles and bold, colorful abstracts reflecting what he calls the "new Malaysia," have achieved international stature.

"It's interesting that Asians prefer the abstracts and Americans and Europeans like the figures," Yusman said.

Yusman today lives with his wife and four children in a comfortable home in this town just outside Kuala Lumpur.

The house is crammed with his work, which he says shows "pride in my heritage and desire to expose the general beauty of the Malaysian culture."

Traditional batik involves a long and difficult process. The artist masks parts of a fabric with hot wax, then dips it in colored dye. He repeats the process for each color, rewaxing before each dunking to create the beautiful patterns of the genre.

Yusman was working as a commercial artist in Singapore in 1967 when, "deciding the time was right after all that waiting, and noticing an increase in support for art," he turned to batik.

"It wasn't easy," Yusman said. "For nearly 12 months I experimented and practiced with batik techniques, obtaining different effects."

His first one-man show was held in Singapore and brought him instant acclaim. He has since given many solo shows there and countless exhibitions in Kuala Lumpur.

His successes have led to an exhibit in Melbourne, Australia, a place in the Adelaide (Australia) Festival of Arts and a commission from the First National Bank of Chicago to paint a mural for their

Yusman has become the only Malaysian artist financially successful enough to afford his own gallery, where he sells his works for between $96 and $320.

He plans shows in Sweden, West Germany and Australia in 1976, and mentions the possibility of an exhibit in the United States.

Yusman attributes his growing popularity to "God, confidence and hard work." It takes a week for him to produce one of his vivid, intricate batiks.

"I start with a white cotton cloth and cover the parts I want to remain white with wax," Yusman said. "Then instead of dipping in a vat, I paint the basic colors of dye with a brush."

"Batik lends itself to more flexibility and creativity and provides excellent textures which I cannot hope to achieve in other mediums," Yusman said. "However batik is most exacting. It is very hard if not impossible to correct a mistake."

Yusman said he mostly uses Malaysian women as his subjects "because their beauty reflects the beauty of Malaysia."

His abstracts almost always depict his impressions of the massive building and dynamic spirit of Malaysia and the bustle of Kuala Lumpur.

"Once I looked toward political themes for inspiration," Yusman said, "but now all I have to do is look around me." His early poverty and his long wait for a chance to show his talent have left him even more determined.

He advises youngsters to "face your talent realistically."

"That takes some bravery. Then try your talent out, and if you know in your heart it's good, don't give up, even if it means decades of waiting for the chance."

Homespun Goes Haut Mode

BRUNSWICK, Maine (UPI) — The label on the thick wool sweater reads "Collab, Maine, U.S.A." It is Maine's newest export, destined for prestigious department stores in Boston, New York and Paris, France.

Aside from the state's famous lobster, it would be hard to find a product more thoroughly Maine in origin.

The wool comes from sheep raised by farmers in the central part of the state. It is spun at a 150-year-old mill in the tiny town of Harmony, north of Skowhegan, knitted by French-speaking women in their homes in Madawaska in the far north of the state and designed by a Brunswick resident in a cottage overlooking the Maine Coast.

Helen Damon, the designer and president of "Collab," began working with Bartlett Yarns of Harmony and the Acadian Crafts Association of Madawaska about a year and a half ago.

They started by making a "Maine hat," a bell-shaped cap that can be pulled and rolled to suit the wearer, and by August Mrs. Damon had a suitcase full of items to show store buyers.

She took it to five leading stores in this country and each ordered several of the items — pullover sweaters for men and women, a kimono-like wraparound, the hats, scarves and a "Maine mitt" with a triggerfinger as well as a thumb. When she went to France in connection with her work as a shoe designer, she took the canvas suitcase along and lugged it into Printemps, one of the two leading department stores in Paris.

"They loved them because they look classic and American," Mrs. Damon said. "The pullover they said was 'trop classique' — too classic — but the kimono they said was 'plus fantasie' — more of a fantasy, and they ordered that."

The French department store also placed an order for some of the mitts, hats and scarves, and Mrs. Damon hurried back to Maine with the order.

Up in Madawaska, the knitting needles clicked into action, not only to get the export off to Paris on time but, equally important, to complete the work before the potato harvest.

"Some of the ladies have to go picking potatoes during the harvest and others have their families in the fields," said Teresa Violette, who manages the Acadian Crafts Association office. "It's a very busy time."

POUGHKEEPSIE
A Poughkeepsie cab driver was held up this morning by 'two fares' who escaped with $53 cash and his wallet. Detectives in that city's police department said cabbie Lawrence E. Ball picked up two black males about 1:45 a.m. and was subsequently ordered at the point of a handgun to pull over near the Delafield Street housing project, in the Marist College vicinity. The two were similarly described as being about 6-1, 175 pounds, in their 20s, and armed. Ball was not injured.

Soviets Make Charges

By UPI

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said today a force of foreign white mercenaries, including American Vietnam veterans, has invaded Angola in an attempt to overthrow the Soviet-backed regime lodged in the capital. Apparently responding to Western charges of Soviet intervention in the infant nation, Pravda said in Moscow the force consisted of regular South African troops supported by Spanish and Portuguese "fascists," Belgians, and American ex-servicemen who fought in Vietnam.

In Johannesburg, South African Defense Minister Piet Botha Thursday accused the Soviet Union of supplying advisers and equipment to the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola to gain a foothold in the former Portuguese colony. Botha said Western countries should "take a more direct interest in getting the Russians out of southern Africa."

Sophisticated Soviet weapons, 3,000 well-trained Cuban troops and Russian military leadership have escalated the conflict from a terrorist to a conventional war, Botha told newsmen. Portugal three weeks ago quit the strategic, oil-rich territory she ruled for five centuries, abandoning it to a raging three-way war among rival black liberation movements. The Popular Movement seized control of the port capital of Luanda and is being bolstered by a daily sea and airborne buildup of Soviet armaments. The Western-backed groups, the National Front for the Liberation of Angola and the Union for the Total Independence of Angola control most of the interior. China withdrew its support for the National Front this week. A National Front leader said the Chinese were more interested in ideology than fighting. An estimated 3,000 persons have been killed in 10 months of fighting this year.

Charges To Be Filed

KINGSTON

The Kingston Board of Fire Commissioners has ordered Kingston Fire Chief William J. Schreiber to file departmental charges against the three participants allegedly involved in a fight at the scene of the Nov. 19 fire at the Children's Library. The charges will enable the board to conduct a full scale hearing to determine the facts of the case. The charges will be filed against Gilbert Combs and Christopher Cahill, both members of the paid department, and Ronald J. Keller, a volunteer with Wicks Engine and Truck Co. The decision was made at a special meeting of the fire commissioners Wednesday, at which time preliminary statements and facts were presented and reviewed. No date for the official hearing has yet been set.

Outstanding Administration Award

HOMESTEAD AFB, Fla. Outstanding leadership, managerial ability and plain hard work led to the selection of MSgt. David T. Evans as the Air Force's Outstanding Administration Superintendent for 1975.

Sergeant Evans is the Chief of Publishing, 31st Combat Support Group, Homestead AFB.

First selected as the Tactical Air Command's outstanding superintendent, Sergeant Evans then competed with nominees from every major Air Force command.

The most significant accomplishments of Sergeant Evans were those that resulted in considerable savings to the Air Force. According to Maj. George H. Holbrook, Chief of Central Base Administration,

Sergeant Evans "... implemented many innovative programs involving the Base Reproduction Section, which decreased the average monthly workload and saved $7,000 a year."

"The new procedures he implemented to reduce the Official Bulletin frequency and content led to an additional $4,000 savings," Major Holbrook continued.

Monetary savings are not the only contributions that have been attributed to Sergeant Evans, however.

"Sergeant Evans' duty performance since his assignment at Homestead has been nothing less than superior," Major Holbrook said. "He came into a situation with manning problems and inconsistencies and shaped it into the best Publications Branch I have ever seen."

Honors are no stranger to Sergeant Evans. His 23-year Air Force career has seen the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star Medal, Air Medal and Air Force Commendation Medal. He has served in two combat areas, Korea and Vietnam.

He served as a gunner on B-26 aircraft in Korea and his duties in Vietnam involved administration.

Married to the former Mary

Coats of Savannah, Ga., they have four sons. David, 27, is married and lives in Mt. Marion Park; Timothy, 18, recently graduated from Marine Boot Camp at Parris Island, S.C.; Reggie, 15, and Thomas, 13, reside at home.

Area Navy Graduates

Recruits who trained at Orlando are Seaman Recruit Maryann F. McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McCarthy of Route 213, Olivebridge; Dentalman Recruit Vincent J. Carpino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J.

A Super Snipper

The new Para-Med scissors from Simulaid Inc. of Woodstock are now available, deceptively simple in design, but able to cut through, without strain, such things as seat belts, blankets, canvas, heavy outer clothing, cardboard, thick plastic and adhesive, wire, sheet metal, zippers, layers of tough bandages and other items often encountered by rescue and para-medical personnel. The president of Simulaid Inc. is Kevin Sweeney of Woodstock.

Rare Plants

Gertrude Villiard, widow of noted writer Paul Villiard, is now operating the Green Growery at 229 Partition Street in Saugerties, specializing in ferns, bromeliads and succulents. Mrs. Villiard, who became interested in rare and exotic flora during a six-year sojourn in Hawaii before she came to Saugerties a dozen years ago, said she is trying to create an interest in the types of plants her shop offers because they make good house plants and are not really difficult to grow. As evidence that the plants are not difficult to grow, most of those in the shop were grown by Mrs. Villiard in her home. (Freeman photo)

Hercules Contributes

Melissa Miller, age 4, representing the Association for Retarded Children, picks winning pledge cards in the lottery at Hercules Inc.'s Port Ewen works. Looking on are United Way Chairman David Dittman, who is also supervisor of industrial relations at Hercules, and Robert Reip, president of the Hercules Employees Charities Fund. The lottery winners received gift certificates sponsored by Hercules to stimulate participation in the charities fund. The fund raised $8,260 this year to support United Way, the Heart Fund, the Cancer Crusade, the March of Dimes, Multiple Sclerosis and the TB and RD Association. United Way received $5,200 from this fund, along with a Hercules corporate gift of $1,500.

Marine Midland's Merger

BUFFALO
Marine Midland Banks Inc. has reported that approval has been received from the Federal Reserve Board to merge together the 10 Marine Midland banks on Jan. 1.

Edward W. Duffy, chairman of Marine Midland's board, said "We are gratified at this successful achievement of our goal to become New York's first statewide bank."

In a separate action, the company stated that in the fourth quarter of 1975 it plans to charge-off loans of approximately $25 million and to increase its reserves for possible future loan losses by charging fourth quarter expense approximately $40 million. This will produce an earnings loss in the fourth quarter and sharply reduce earnings for 1975.

To increase capital through retained income the Board of Directors of the bank holding company declared a quarterly dividend at a reduced rate of 20 cents per common share.

The prior quarterly rate was 45¢ per common share. The new quarterly dividend is payable Jan. 2 to shareholders of record Dec. 5.

Oil Fingerprints Identify Foulers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal enforcers of pollution laws can "fingerprint" oil now in a technique to help them find out who fouls the sea.

The most visible recent use of new methods of identifying oil from spills came in a 16-week investigation that picked one suspected tanker out of 247 possibilities in connection with a Florida oil spill.

The master of the suspected polluter was arrested and charges were filed against the company that owned the vessel. The charge: the ship illegally dumped 5,000 gallons of crude oil into the ocean not far from the shoreline of Key West.

The heart of the investigative technique is a scientific tool that has long been used for other things — chromatography. It consists of separating the parts of a mixture or solution by allowing it to flow over a medium, usually in a column. As the parts in effect adhere to parts of the column, they can be identified.

In the case of oil, gas chromatography is used: an inert gas pushes the oil sample along the column. The compounds that make up oil, such as hydrocarbons, aromatics, sulphurs and asphalts, "stick" to the long column at different places and for different periods.

Detectors find out what compounds are in the oil in what proportions and a strip chart records the places and times the compounds show up on the graph. The chart, with peaks and valleys something like a cardiogram, becomes the "fingerprint" of the oil.

Chemist Dennis G. Revell, of the Environmental Protection Agency's laboratory in Athens, Ga., says the chart is about as distinctive as a fingerprint because "various oils have different proportions and different types" of components.

Generally, the Coast Guard does the police work, taking samples of oil from a spill, checking tankers' logs for times and places on their routes, and then taking samples of oil from the tankers who may have been in the area of the spill.

The samples go to the EPA laboratories — there are various ones around the country — for the gas chromatographic analysis. There, the chemists can match up the chart from the spilled oil with the chart for a certain suspect.

Revell says the technique came into frequent use only with the recent years' increase in concern about oil spills. To supplement what the analysis tells chemists about the makeup of oil, he says, there is a separate technique for identifying the concentrations of nickel and vanadium in oil.

Floating in the ocean may dilute the oil or break it down somewhat, Revell says, but the ratio of nickel and vanadium in each type remains the same.

Most of incidents of ocean oil pollution come from unauthorized pumping of bilges, the EPA says. But of course, the more spectacular spills come from tanker collisions and breakups, which are much less frequent.

For investigators, finding the source of illegal — as opposed to accidental — spills is a difficult task. "Fingerprinting" oil is only a way to find the possible source of a spill, and not a proof of why the spill occurred.

But, as Lt. Cmdr. John MacDonald of the Coast Guard's pollution enforcement branch says, "The message is, you cannot spill oil in our waters indiscriminately any more. It (the identification technique) is going to make it extremely more difficult to get away with it."

Iowa, Not N.H., Really Where It All Begins

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — New Hampshire has its first-in-the-nation primary Feb. 24, but the first steps in the process of selecting the 1976 Democratic and Republican presidential nominees will begin a month earlier in Iowa.

Campaign staffs have spent weeks planning for 2,600 precinct level caucuses Jan. 19—the first grass roots test of strength for presidential candidates in the nation.

The precinct caucuses begin a five-month process to elect delegates to the National nominating conventions, although each party will work by its own schedule and actual selection process.

From the outset, the Democratic candidates will be openly contesting for delegates.

"The prospective delegates express their preferences at the precinct level," Joe Genereux, a Democratic State Central Committee spokesman said. "At those precinct caucuses, if a candidate has greater than 15 per cent support among those in attendance, he is entitled to a delegate to the county and district conventions."

That puts the burden on the campaign organizations to mobilize their forces as early as possible. Work already has begun to turn out each candidate's maximum support for the precinct caucuses, even though the caucuses will not actually choose delegates to go to the National convention in New York next July 12.

Forty Democratic delegates will be elected at six congressional district conventions April 10 and seven elected at-large at the state convention May 29. But because candidate preference will be expressed at the precinct meetings and be binding on the process at higher levels, a good indication of how the delegation is going to be made up will be available then.

The Democrats' delegate selection process will yield an almost immediate reading of relative candidate strengths in Iowa.

"We'll be able to get real good indications of where the support is," Genereux said. "We're setting up a call-in system that will provide us with almost instantaneous information on the night the caucuses convene Jan. 19. We'll know right away what's going on out there."

The Democrats will hold county meetings March 6, then move on to the district and state conventions.

GOP county conventions are scheduled Feb. 28, but it is not until the district caucuses almost four months later that Republicans actually will select National convention delegates.

difficult to obtain an accurate reading of candidate strength on the Republican side.

Prospective delegates will not be required to state candidate preferences at any time throughout the caucus process, although with President Ford facing a strong challenge by Ronald Reagan, state party officials have little doubt the differences in support will become apparent.

"By talking to the people in the counties and finding out who was elected, you should get a pretty good grasp," said Ralph Brown, executive director of the GOP state central committee.

Republicans will be meeting in six congressional district caucuses June 18, where each district will elect two delegates outright and will nominate three others to be ratified by the state convention the following day.

Nearly 3,500 GOP delegates will gather in Des Moines to select six at-large delegates to the National convention and give what Brown said amounted to pro forma approval to a slate of 12 others, named by the districts. Combined with those elected directly by the districts, this will make up Iowa's 36-member delegation to the Republican National Convention at Kansas City Aug. 16.

China Trip and Detente

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Kremlin is keeping a careful eye cocked to President Ford's forthcoming visit to Peking, but western diplomat's here say there are no signs the trip will have any deleterious effect on Soviet-American detente.

"Much will depend on the results," one diplomat said, "but if it goes as blandly as it is shaping up, it might even be a plus."

Analysts in Moscow believe that the issues which seriously could affect detente are those that directly involve Washington and Moscow, such as the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) and the proposed visit of Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev to the United States.

Next in importance come situations that involve the two super-powers more obliquely, such as Europe and the Middle East.

"China is far down the list and only if there is a remarkable breakthrough such as the Kissinger visit in the summer of 1971 would the Soviets be seriously concerned," the diplomat said. He referred to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's initial, secret trip to China that paved the way for a visit by former President Richard M. Nixon.

Right now the Soviets seem to be pleased that there are signs of something less than rapport between Washington and Peking, especially on detente.

Soviet newspapers have been playing up rebuttals of the Chinese conception of detente by other Western leaders who have visited there recently, including President Walter Scheel of West Germany and French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues.

"They are happy that others are not buying the Chinese line," an analyst said.

The Soviet leadership has committed itself heavily to detente and has gained much from it. The policy is hailed daily by the government-controlled press.

More than that, any switch from detente inevitably would involve dropping its sponsors — primarily party General Secretary Brezhnev—and there are signs the leadership wants or is preparing big changes.

Plans for a Brezhnev summit meeting with Ford are looking more and more fragile as the SALT talks flounder on inconclusively. But the Soviets see no casual connection between a Moscow-Washington summit and a Washington-Peking meeting.

"They are not dependent in any way," an observer said.

The IRS, an IRA, and You.

Just about everyone recognizes IRS as the Internal Revenue Service. You've probably heard about IRA. What do the two mean for you?

IRA is the abbreviation for an Individual Retirement Account. It means that you can save taxes now while saving toward your retirement. Here's how it works:

If you are self employed without a retirement program, or if your present employer does not have a retirement plan for you, you can start your own by opening a special IRA account at Marine Midland. Each year, you can deposit 15% of your earnings, up to $1,500, AND you can deduct the money you save from your income for tax purposes.

As your Marine Midland account balance grows we automatically move your money into the interest-earning account that will give you the highest rate of interest permitted by law, up to 7½% per annum.

Then, when you retire, you can start drawing the money monthly, annually, or even in one lump sum. It's a secure way to plan for your retirement years.

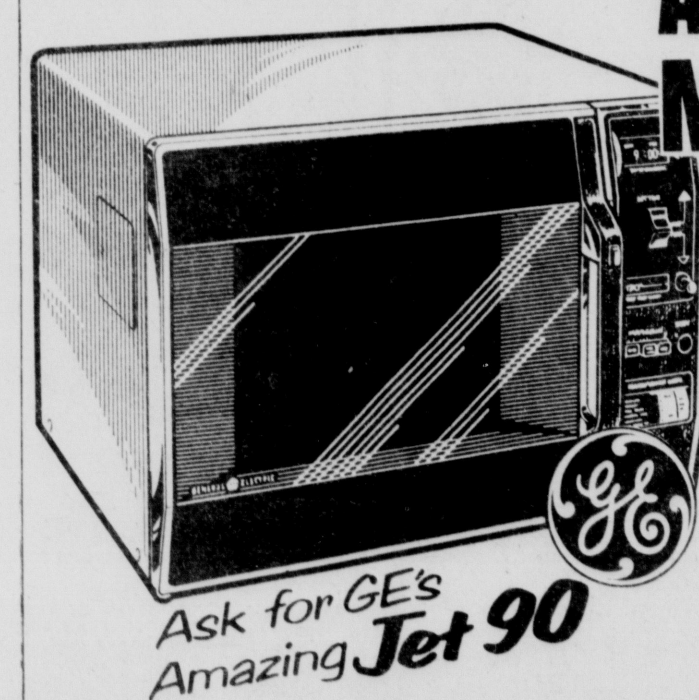

But you should act NOW! If you open your Individual Retirement Account at Marine Midland NOW, before the end of the year, your 1975 deposits will be tax deductible from your 1975 income. Get more information about IRA, the IRS, and you at your nearest Marine Midland office.

Flo Valley Sends Ulster to Losers' Bracket

ESSEX, Md.—A morning practice session and an afternoon sightseeing excursion to Washington, D.C. were on the agenda for Ulster County Community College's soccer team today as they await their third and final game of the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) tournament here Saturday.

Unfortunately for UCCC, that third game, a 10 a.m. meeting with Mitchell, Conn., will not be for the national championship since the Senators were booted into the losers' bracket Thursday by a 3-1 loss at the hands of top-seeded Florissant Valley of St. Louis.

Flo Valley will face Morrisville, N.Y., a 4-0 winner over Mitchell, in Saturday's noon championship battle. The UCCC-Mitchell confrontation will be for third place. In an earlier game Saturday, Mercer, N.J., will play Essex, Md., for fifth place. Mercer beat Belleville, Ill., 5-2, and Essex outlasted Miami-Dade, Fla., 3-2 in sudden death overtime, in Thursday action.

Ulster coach George Vizvary was predictably disappointed following his team's loss Thursday but he bowed to the talent of the superior Flo Valley Club.

"In the second half they started to play like Florissant Valley can play," the erudite Senator coach said. "They applied constant pressure. They were always in the right position. They had poise and momentum."

"We were victims of a mechanical, well-oiled, colorless but efficient team."

In the first half, however, Ulster had the tournament favorites on the ropes.

"We had them for 42 minutes," Vizvary related. "We were leading 1-0 and we had been able to control them by double-teaming their players. On the other side, we had several shots that went over or outside the net, but things were going like we wanted them to."

"The turning point, I think came at the 42 minute mark," he continued. "Before that time, twice Florissant Valley players had hand balls in the penalty area and the official refused to call the penalty. But at the 42 minute mark, we had a hand ball, it was called, and they got a penalty kick."

After Mark Darrow kicked the penalty past goalie Leo Lynch to tie the score, the momentum shifted to Flo Valley. The Missourians scored early in the second half on a goal by Jim Roth at 1:35, kept the pressure on and finally iced the victory at 42:55, Roth scoring off a corner kick.

"The first goal of the second half made the final result academic," said Vizvary. "We had one or two dangerous opportunities and we proved that Flo Valley was not infallible. But I must bow to the superior team. We lost to a better team."

Vizvary admitted that had Oscar Rendon's goal at 24:00 of the first half (assisted by Paul Roncar) if Ulster been followed by the one or two penalty kicks he feels his club should have been awarded, things might have been different. But he quickly added that his club didn't entirely deserve to win.

"The team played up to standard, but not up to potential," analyzed Vizvary. "We did not display the kind of speed we had during the regionals in either game here."

We were hesitating, not attacking the ball.

"Against some of the teams in our region, you can be haphazard and win. You just can't do that against the competition here, mainly because they won't let you do that."

Ulster, an inexperienced team that has had a Cinderella season, has come a long way. But Vizvary's Senators aren't quite at the top yet.

FREE KICKS—In losing their first game of the season, Ulster lost the statistical battle as well, also for the first time. The Senators were outshot, 22-14; Flo Valley had eight corner kicks to UCCC's two, and Lynch made 11 saves to Matt McVey's three. Scouts are all over the place, but tournament rules prohibit them from bothering the players until they've finished competition. Ulster is headquartered in Towson, Md., some nine miles from the tournament site. Following the championship game Saturday, an awards ceremony is scheduled. If it ends early enough, UCCC will return home in the evening. If not, the club will motor back Sunday morning.

Braxton Steals the Show From Pair of Glamour Backs

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Big Jim Braxton certainly stole the show from what might have been the season's key matchup of two of pro football's most exciting running backs.

But without any false modesty, Braxton gave thanks on Thanksgiving Day to his supporting cast—the injury-racked Buffalo Bills' defense that had been ranked next to last in the AFC.

"The defense gets much of the credit," he said. "Their effort is what gave me a chance to get the ball so much."

The 242-pound fullback, who normally blocks while O.J. Simpson runs, had three touchdowns and 160 yards rushing Thursday as the Bills battered the St. Louis Cardinals, 32-14.

Buffalo, 7-4 and trailing only the Miami Dolphins, retains hope of a playoff spot in the AFC East.

The Cardinals fell to 8-3, giving Dallas, 7-3, an opportunity to move into a tie for first place in the NFC East when the Cowboys entertain the New York Giants Sunday.

The humiliation of the Cardinals before a national television audience extended to their all-purpose running back, Terry Metcalf, who had rushed for 685 yards on 137 carries entering the game. Buffalo held Metcalf to an astonishing seven rushing yards in five carries.

The Cardinals kept Simpson in check by limiting him to 85 rushing yards in 23 carries. He had a 1,394-yard total prior to the game.

However, St. Louis seemed to have forgotten about Braxton, letting him carry the ball 34 times in the best performance of his five-year career.

"I don't mind letting someone else get the spotlight as long as we win," Simpson said.

Braxton said he had expected the game to be "full of scoring. I was only hoping we would be outscoring St. Louis."

That task proved to be no problem for the Bills, thanks to their defense and the season's most embarrassing day for Cardinals' quarterback Jim Hart. Hart suffered four interceptions, two sacks and three fumbles, two of which were recovered by the Bills and turned into scoring drives.

"We'll often win in spite of a bad performance," said Hart, who connected on only 13 of 31 passes for 156 net yards.

"We've come up and won when we've not played really super either offensively or defensively. That's the mark of a good team. Today we just couldn't do it."

Braxton's final score came on a one-yard run early in the fourth quarter. The scoring drive was set up by Tony Greene's interception of a Hart pass. Greene returned the ball 37 yards to the St. Louis two and Braxton took it over two plays later.

Ike Harrison intercepted Hart's first pass of the second half at the St. Louis 43 to set up John Leybold's 30-yard field goal. Leybold added another three-pointer near the end of the third quarter after Hart was sacked and fumbled with Don Croft recovering for the Bills at the St. Louis 21.

Harrison grabbed another Hart pass at the St. Louis 38 late in the third quarter and Buffalo moved to the St. Louis 5 on runs of 9 and 12 yards by Braxton. He scored his second touchdown on a twisting, backwards 5-yard run.

Braxton's first touchdown came in the first quarter on a 1-yard run that concluded a 70-yard drive in which Braxton picked up 37 yards on eight carries.

Buffalo quarterback Joe Ferguson, who completed 11 of 22 pass attempts for 128 yards and two interceptions, said, "Our offensive line did the job and that's where everything gets down to."

Metcalf scored both St. Louis touchdowns on a one-yard run and a four-yard pass.

"After the game, O.J. told me I'm a great player," said a dejected Metcalf. "Well, he's wrong. I've got a ways to go before I reach greatness."

Rams In Line for Another Shot at Title

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Good game plans and a great defense have given the Los Angeles Rams their third straight shot at the Super Bowl.

The Rams made the playoffs Thanksgiving Day by clinching their third consecutive NFC Western Division title with a 20-0 victory over the Detroit Lions. Quarterback James Harris threw three touchdown passes, two to Harold Jackson.

"It was a good win for us," Coach Chuck Knox said after Los Angeles raised its record to 9-2, "especially since it came in a short work week."

"It was a great tribute to our team," he said. "They came in to play, to wrap up the championship, and they did it."

Detroit saw its record slip to 6-5 with its second loss in five days, a defeat that clinched the NFC Central Division crown for the unbeaten Minnesota Vikings. The Lions had considered themselves contenders for a wild card playoff berth until two games ago.

"The winners could do no wrong," lamented Coach Rick Forzano of Detroit, which suffered its last shutout loss by a identical score to the Washington Redskins in a Thanksgiving game two years ago.

The Rams, who had two shutouts last season, only let the Lions across the middle of the field three times in the game—once in the first half and twice in the fourth quarter—in recording their first shutout this season.

Knox had built a game plan on Detroit's predilection for blitzing its linebackers and defensive backs.

"We were set for them," Harris said. "We were prepared to throw if they 'red-dogged.'"

"We expected them to red-dog," Knox said, "so consequently we threw a lot on first down. The 'dog' is designed to stop the run."

Harris threw 10 times on 24 first down opportunities but completed only three for 62 yards. One of them was his 38-yard touchdown strike to Jackson, which cinched the game with 9:24 to play.

That pass to Jackson came after Knox brashly ordered his team to go for a first down on fourth down at the Lions' 41. Harris dove over the line for three yards and Jackson beat cornerback Levi Johnson for a touchdown for the second time in the game on the next play. Detroit was blitzing on the play.

Jackson beat Johnson in the third quarter to give Los Angeles some breathing room. The Detroit cornerback, already beaten, gambled to deflect the ball and never saw Jackson trot 17 yards into the end zone.

That pass and Harris' 11-yard strike to former Lion Ron Jessie in the first quarter came on second down. The Rams tried to pass seven times on their 21 second down situations.

Harris threw 24 passes and completed 11 for 157 yards, with Jackson getting 106 yards out of five of them.

Joe Reed completed 11 of his 26 tosses for 117 yards but he was only 6-of-15 for 53 yards through the first three quarters and was intercepted twice.

The first interception was the one Forzano felt really hurt. Bill Simpson made it, his fifth, right on the goal line in the second quarter as Detroit looked like it might be making a move to tie the game.

The second, which Dave Elmendorf got after Jack Reynolds tipped it, halted a Lions' drive near midfield after the kickoff opening the second half.

The Lions' inability to move and their ability to get penalties, 10 of them for a total of 63 yards, drew boos and a couple of snowballs from the 69,552 fans who spurned bad weather to attend.

A four-inch overnight snowfall plus the fact the sold-out game was televised locally induced 11,086 fans to stay in the comfort of their homes. It was the first contest where the dome on the $55.7 Pontiac Stadium enabled the game to be played in better than natural conditions.

A Much-Improved Image For Georgia's Defense

By UPI

Georgia's "Junkyard Dogs" defense will be taking a vastly improved image to the Cotton Bowl.

Maligned at times this season when it had trouble containing opponents, the Georgia defense was outstanding for nearly three quarters Thursday night while spearheading the 14th-ranked Bulldogs to a nationally televised 42-26 victory over Georgia Tech.

Don't let Tech's 26 points mislead you. They came in the final period after Georgia had built a 42-point lead and when Coach Vince Dooley was letting his reserves mop up.

The regular Georgia defense recovered three fumbles, intercepted a pass and blocked a punt in the first half while sparking the Bulldogs to a 28-0 lead.

"Everything went our way and we took advantage of it," said Dooley. "I don't know how you can play much better."

Georgia's victory over Georgia Tech highlighted a light Thanksgiving college schedule that included Temple's 41-3 rout of Villanova and C.W. Post's 9-6 win over Hofstra.

There are two college headliners on television today. Second-ranked Texas A&M meets fifth-ranked Texas today and 16th-ranked UCLA meets Southern Cal tonight.

If Texas wins today, the Longhorns would get the Southwest Conference championship and the Cotton Bowl berth opposite Georgia. If the Aggies win, they still must beat 17th-ranked Arkansas next week to win the title and the bowl bid.

If UCLA wins tonight, it will represent the Pac-8 in the Rose Bowl opposite top-ranked Ohio State. If Southern Cal wins, the league title and Rose Bowl berth go to California.

Saturday's top game pairs eighth-ranked Arizona State against 11th-ranked Arizona for the Western Athletic Conference crown and a Fiesta Bowl date with Nebraska. Also on Saturday's schedule there's traditional rivalries Army-Navy, Alabama-Auburn, Tennessee-

Vanderbilt, Florida-Miami and Rutgers-Syracuse.

Georgia, 9-2, scored in the opening minutes Thursday night after intercepting a pass on the opening play of the game. But the Bulldogs actually broke the game open in the second period when they erupted for 21 points.

In that period, Glynn Harrison, who ran for 139 yards although playing less than 20 minutes, had a 78-yard touchdown run; Lawrence Craft scored on a 20-yard fumble return; and the Bulldogs punched in a third touchdown after blocking a Tech punt.

"As far as I am concerned, the turning point came when we fumbled right after (Bucky) Shamburger had put us in good position with a 68-yard run," said Tech Coach Pepper Rodgers. "We had taken the momentum and gave it back. We gave them the ball four times in the first half. They bounced one up there and we couldn't even get that one."

Georgia Tech, 7-4, had only three first downs the first three periods but the Yellow Jackets put on a belated offensive show in the final period when they scored four touchdowns, three by reserve quarterback Rudy Allen.

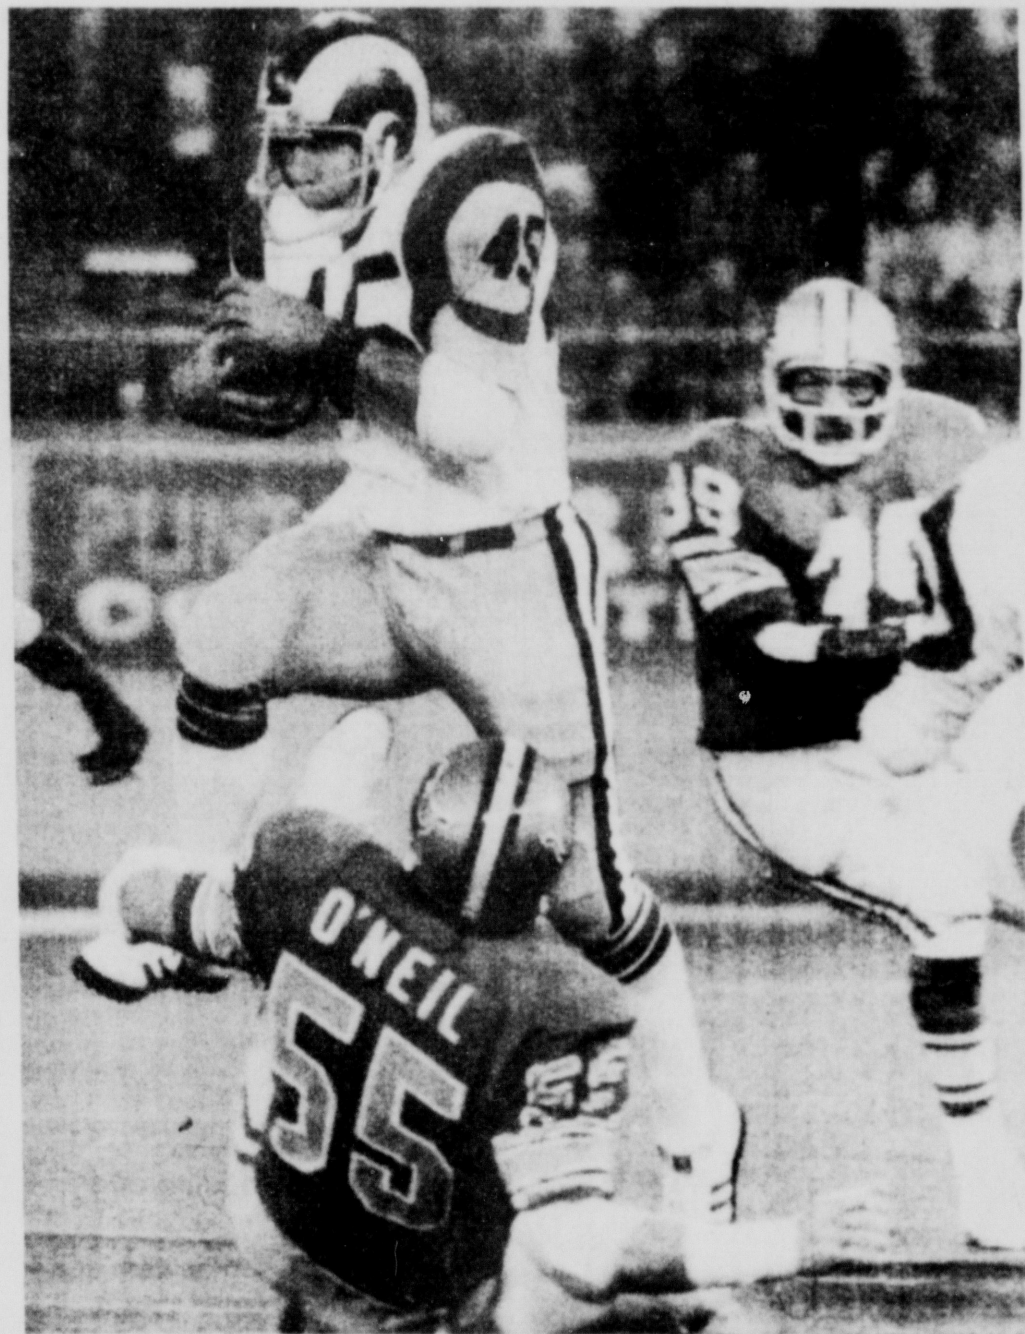

"In the final period we were playing second stringers," said Dooley. "But, to Tech's credit, they came back and made it a little hairy."

"I think we played great in the fourth quarter," said Rodgers. "That was something to come back as far as we did from 42-0."

Temple's Don Bitterlich kicked two field goals and five extra points Thursday and, in the process, set six NCAA kicking records.

The senior, a soccer player who never played football before three years ago, set national records for most field goals in a season (21), most points in a season by kicking (95), most consecutive extra points (87), most points per game by a kicker (7.1), most field goals per game in a season (1.9), and most career points by kicking (220).

Georgia's Allan Leavitt, with six extra points Thursday night, set a SEC record of 61 straight.

Will Army Offense Move?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Army hopes to find its lost, or "ghost," offense but will have a tough time doing that against defense-minded Navy when the two teams meet Saturday in the 76th renewal of the service academy rivalry.

Navy, ranked third in the nation in over-all defense, takes a 6-4 record into the game. Army, riddled by injuries most of the season, is 2-8 and has not scored in the last two meetings of the teams.

Army coach Homer Smith said the Cadets started out like a "house afire," winning their first two games and scoring 98 points, but then came the injuries and losses in the next eight games.

Army had to adjust its offense and insert sophomore Leamon Hall at quarterback after Scott Gillogly, the senior, got hurt in a 67-14 loss to Stanford.

Smith said Gillogly, who has never beaten Navy, "is getting well."

"Now we have the dilemma of what to do all over again," said Smith, who switched from a predominantly wishbone attack to increased use of the I-formation to utilize Hall's talent.

"But it's a delightful sort of dilemma," Smith said.

The return of Gillogly has created what Navy assistant coach Steve Belachic called a "ghost offense" for Army.

"There are things they might do, but we don't know what," said Belachic, who scouted Army for the past four weeks.

Navy, with a defense led by rover back Chet Moeller and an offense highlighted by fullback Bob Jackson of Lindenwood, N.J., is a 20 point favorite in the game, which played to 83,000 fans last year at John F. Kennedy Stadium.

Navy, which won 19-0 last year and 51-0 in 1973, is winding up its best season since 1963 when the Middies went to the Cotton Bowl.

But despite the difference in the records of the two teams, Navy coach George Welsh says the game will be a "horse race."

"We must be ready for the game. We know Army will be," he said.

The Middies, who lost two games by one point, had been considered for the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., but ruled out any bid last week because of academic conflicts.

According to Welsh, "a victory over Army is better than going to a bowl."

STONE RIDGE
Ulster County Community College's returning basketball coach Mike Perry has announced his starting lineup for the 1975-76 season opener, a Saturday night exhibition game against the Alumni at 8 p.m. in the Senate Gym.

Heading the Senators will be newly named co-captains, guards Rachid Walker (5-10) and Bill Bellamy (6-0). Joining the veteran backcourt duo will be center Joe McCall (6-7) and newcomers, forwards Phil Blount (6-1) and Herman Chapman (6-3).

Also on the UCCC squad are Paul Lawatsch (6-4) and Steve Mihic (6-1), both former junior varsity players at Kingston High, Jeff Port (6-1) of Ontario, Ray Younger (5-9) of Ellenville, and Joe Ruggeri (5-9) and Alvaro Rendon (6-1) both of Monticello.

Perry, who is back at Ulster after a two-year leave of absence in Sweden, sees the first week of the season as the tip-off as to the kind of year his club will have. UCCC meets Dutchess at home, Sullivan on the road, and Westchester and Manhattan at home in a five-night span beginning Monday.

A split of those opening four games, says Perry, is his goal. Compounding the challenge is that all teams on the early schedule already have games under their belts. Of those he's seen, Perry is high on Sullivan and Westchester, giving the nod to the latter because of its experience.

In announcing the selection of Walker and Bellamy as co-captains Perry said, "There's no question of the leadership ability of Walker offensively and Bellamy defensively and together I feel they will make a great pair of co-captains. This could be our finest backcourt combination if both continue to improve as they have the last five weeks."

Walker, a graduate of Boy's High in New York, was a first team all-star in the Mid-Hudson Conference last year. Bellamy was a sub backcourtman for Mike Bernstein's UCCC club last season and moved up to the first string this year.

Eddie Younger, a member of the 1971-72 and 1972-73 Ulster teams, is the latest Alumni player to accept an invitation for Saturday night's game. Eddie's younger brother Ray is on the current Ulster club.

Other Alumni players will be Don Gregorius, Ron Lindsay, Ike Chestnut, Cliff Schoonmaker, Dave Smith, Tim Terbush, Mike Hall, Burt Henderson, and Bill Zilliox. Dean Robert J. Markes will coach the Alumni.

Challenge Match

CINCINNATI (UPI)

Mary Jo Pepper figures she and a couple of volleyball playing friends are more than twice as good as the six-member Ohio women's collegiate championship volleyball team.

So Ms. Pepper, regarded as one of the best volleyball players in the country, and her two friends have challenged Mt. St. Joseph's of Cincinnati to a three-against-six player match.

Mt. St. Joseph's has qualified for a national collegiate tournament at Princeton, N.J., Dec. 10. School officials said the team will accept the challenge and play here Dec. 8 if an arena can be found. The local team wants to make money on the special match for travel expenses to the national tournament, but school officials said the college gym is too small for the size of crowd they want. They are searching out an arena.

Ms. Pepper's teammates are Liz Courtney, a member of the last U.S. Olympic volleyball team, and Carol Dewey, volleyball coach at Purdue University.

SPORT PARADE

Milton Richman,
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — When you're 35 going on 36, when people forget you were MVP only four years ago and when some of them cut you up inside by paying you what they think is a compliment, then you know you'd better take one more good look at yourself and if you don't like what you see, you'd better quit.

That's pretty much the course of action Joe Torre has lined up for himself. He's giving himself one more shot next spring with the New York Mets. He isn't imposing any deadline or cut-off date and he isn't saying he will finish the year or he won't. It all depends, he says. If next year turns out to be anything like this year, that'll be it for Joe Torre, the National League's MVP in 1971. He'll quit. The pitchers won't have him to kick around anymore.

For Joe Torre, this past season was an embarrassment. That's the word he uses himself.

He started the year with a .300 lifetime batting average and ended it sitting on the bench, reduced to an almost forgotten part-timer with the worst batting average of his career, .247, along with only 35 RBI and six home runs. The deepest indignity came when he set a National League record by hitting into four double plays in one game with Houston.

"The idea of quitting crossed my mind toward the end of the season when it looked like my bat was slowing up," says Torre. "I knew I was losing confidence. When you stop doing things well, you start doubting yourself. Then I talked to Bob Gibson. He told me he started losing confidence in himself in 1974. That made me feel a little better."

Generally, though, there wasn't anything to make Joe Torre feel good about last season. He had made the National League's All-Star team eight out of 14 times before playing with the Braves and Cardinals, but there was no danger of him making it again this time. He looked as if he was all through, especially toward the end of the year.

"I suppose the most embarrassing part was when I'd run into people who were friends of friends I happened to be with," says Torre. "I'd be introduced as 'Joe Torre of the Mets' and the people I was introduced to would say 'you're doing great!' That really made me feel bad because I knew these people telling me that didn't know anything about baseball."

Once in the $150,000 range, Torre's salary has been cut by 30 per cent the past two years. Moreover, Joe McDonald, the Mets' general manager, says he's looking for a right-handed hitting third baseman and it so happens that Torre, who plays first base as well, is a righthanded hitting third baseman.

Still, he has embarked on an ambitious physical conditioning program, he's in excellent shape and he believes he can win a job with the Mets next spring.

"I don't feel I have to beat anybody out in spring training," he says. "If I hit, I'll play somewhere. I know that. I think it's simply a matter of getting my confidence back. The kind of swing I have you just don't lose like that, but I got into some bad habits hitting the last few years. I just wasn't swinging right. I could tell that by looking at films of myself. When I see myself swinging right and I'm not hitting the ball, I'll quit because in the 14 years I played before this one I set up certain standards for myself. If I show any indication of playing as badly as I did last season, I won't embarrass myself by finishing out the year. Last season I felt the only thing I was doing was taking up a spot and I don't ever want to do that again."

Olympic Site: More Trouble

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — Quebec Solicitor General Fernand Lalonde says police may make further raids this week for more information into a possible fraud in construction of the $90 million Olympic Village.

Quebec Police Force and Royal Canadian Mounted Police members carried out raids Tuesday and Wednesday, seizing material from the homes and offices of contractors and high Olympic officials.

A QPF spokesman said a "large number of cases of documents" were seized and it "may take weeks or months to examine the material. He said arrest warrants would be sought if evidence of criminal activity was uncovered.

"Over 40 search warrants have been served and we can expect more in the days to come," Lalonde said Thursday night. "How many depends on what we find in the documents we have already gathered."

Police said they would also investigate two Montreal firms, each of which received $1.38 million in bonuses for early completion of work at the Village in Montreal's east end.

Police refused detailed comment on their investigation, but did say reports the alleged fraud involved $30 million were exaggerated.

The raids in the Montreal area included offices of the Zarelega consortium on the site of the Village and the offices of the Olympic Organizing Committee.

Police raided also the homes of Zarelega partners Joseph Zappia, Rene Lepine, Andrew Gaty and Gerald Robinson and the homes of COJO vicepresident Simon St. Pierre and architect Luc Durand.

Police said they were looking for any signs of fraud in the construction, the cost of which has tripled from $30 million in 1974 to a current forecast of $90 million.

They refused to substantiate reports the five-month investigation leading to the raids was initiated by the sale of seven mobile trailers to Zarelega for $100,000.

The Olympic Village is a complex of two pyramid-shaped, 980-unit buildings designed to house 11,500 athletes and team officials at the 1976 Summer Olympics next July.

Green Leads By One

MIYAZAKI, Japan (UPI) — First round leader Hubert Green fired a two under par 70 today and led a field of 94 pros from eight countries by one stroke in the second round of the $200,000 Dunlop Phoenix Golf tournament.

Green started badly by three putting from 12 feet for a bogey on the first hole and had a two over par 38 on the front nine but picked up four birdies on the back nine for a four under par 32 for his 70. He had a two round total of a seven under par 137 on the 7,012 yard par 72 Phoenix country club course.

Rik Massengale, winner of the Tallahassee Open last May, shot a five under par 32-67 for a six under par 138 and vaulted from 16th place into runner-up spot.

Alone in third was Kosaku Shimada, who will represent Japan in the World Cup next week in Bangkok, with a four under par 34-34-68 for a five under par 139.

Defending champion Johnny Miller continued to have trouble with his putting and could do no better than a one over 38-35-73 for a one over par 145 and a 27th place tie with eight others, including Jerry McGee, winner of the Pensacola Open, who had a 74.

A total of 64 players survived the cut of a four over par 148 for the low 60 scores and ties to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday in quest of the $40,000 first prize.

Holland Cut

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Hawks have put rookie guard Wilbur Holland on waivers.

The team announced Thursday it had waived the 23-year-old fifth draft choice from the University of New Orleans, saying he had scored just four points in six games.

Other NBA teams can claim Holland up until Monday, when he becomes a free agent.

on the U.S. tour, Ben Crenshaw, Miller Barber and Brian Allin were knocked out. Crenshaw, who missed the cut for the second straight year, shot a 76 for a 150 although he fired a seven under par 65 for the best pro-am competition Wednesday.

Barber had a 75, also for 150. Allin skied to a 79 for a 159.

Green, a favorite with a Japanese gallery, sank a pressure par putt of 10 feet on the second hole after his threeputt bogey on the first hole. But he chipped only a yard away in deep rough off the green and bogeyed the parthree sixth hole. He birdied the seventh but he three putted from 35 feet for another bogey on the ninth for a two over par 38 on the front nine.

Green sank birdie putt of 20 feet on the 10th, two on the 11th and 12 on the 12th. He hit a wedge shot 25 feet from the pin and sank the putt for another birdie on the 16th to be a four under par 32 on the back nine.

"I played much better on the back nine and it was more fun," Green said. "I'm in good condition and I think it's about time I should win a tournament in Japan."

Miller, who in winning last year shot rounds of 69, 69, 69 and 67 to win by seven strokes over Lu Liang Huan of Taiwan, said "I went 30 holes without making a putt over three feet. But I finally made a 14 footer for par on the 17th and a 15 foot birdie putt on the 18th so my putting may improve tomorrow. It was beautiful weather and the course is good so I have no excuse."

Hsieh Min Nam of Taiwan, who plays out of Japan, fired today's best round of a six under par 33-33-66 and jumped from 55th into a fourth place tie with five others with a four under par 140. The group included Americans Tom Kite and Larry Ziegler, Peter Oosterhuis of Great Britain and Japanese pros Masashi "Jumbo" Ozaki and Haruo Yasuda. Kite, Ziegler and Ozaki had a 69, Yasuda a 68 and Oosterhuis a 70.

Mexican Rules Anger WBC

MEXICO CITY (UPI)

The World Boxing Council will bar future world championships bouts in this city if the local boxing commission does not accept its rules, WBC President Ramon Velazquez says.

Velazquez, angered by the Federal District Boxing Commission's refusal to accept neutral officials for the Jose Napoles-John Stracey world welterweight bout, slated for Dec. 6, said Thursday:

"It's time that here, in Mexico City, where the WBC was founded, its authority were recognized. It's irritating that only here our rules are not respected."

About three world title bouts are held here every year.

Velazquez made his remarks to an evening newspaper before leaving for Tunisia to attend the WBC Congress.

Observers believe his threat may bare little weight, as he is expected to be voted out of the top job at the conference, which starts Dec. 1.

Velazquez, 77, has been involved in other hassles with the local commission, which refused to let "neutrals" control bouts here because a decision by one of them sparked a riot some years ago.

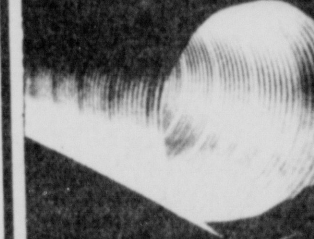

Commission President Luis Spota was not immediately available for comment.

Meanwhile, Mickey Duff, one of the representatives of challenger Stracey, of Britain, said he had "virtually reached an agreement" with promoter Jaime de Haro to go ahead with the bout.

Stracey's manager Terry Lawless said Tuesday he and Duff would not allow the poetry-loving Stracey to fight unless De Haro paid more—because Mexican officials would be controlling the bout.

Duff said he expected the fight to go on. Stracey, 25-year-old European champion since mid 1973, originally was to have received $40,000 for fighting the 35-year-old Cuban-Mexican Napoles, WBC champion since 1971.

Fast Start for Maker
 MONTICELLO
 Marvin Maker drove both winning ends of the Daily Double as harness racing returned to Monticello Raceway Thursday night for a six-week program.
 Maker scored with Luport ($8.80) and Nardins Bye Bye ($10.40) in the opening races on the card for a 3-6 payoff worth $56.20.
 A crowd of 2,715 was on hand for the opening night feature, a B-3 pace, won by Galions Lavern by a head over Babe Go Lucky and Touch N Bye in a three-way photo.
 Driven by Joseph Scorsone, the six-year-old Glions Lavern notched his ninth triumph of the year in 2:07.3. He paid $4.20, $3.00, and $2.60.
 Opening night handle was $225,352. New York City OTB handle was $76,033.
 Tonight, Jimmy Allen, the driving ace from Saratoga, will be behind the reins in the featured sixth race in which his Tartport O'Brien has been made the morning line 3-1 favorite.
 There's a day-night doubleheader scheduled for Saturday with post times at 2:30 and 8 p.m. Also scheduled is a Sunday afternoon card. The track will be dark Monday.

Greg Pruitt — Little Man Making It Big

NEW YORK When Cleveland drafted Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma as its No. 1 pick in 1973, the critics scoffed at his size. At 5-10, 190-pounds, they thought he was too small to stand up under the tough demands put on a running back in the National Football League.

Pruitt never agreed with the doubters, of course, and in three years with the Browns he has been doing an excellent job of proving his class. This is his third season over the 1,000-yard mark in combined yardage in his role as an all-purpose back.

"A little guy has more incentive," says Pruitt. "He has to go harder all the time. It's developed my style of running, which is to keep moving. Sometimes when I am following a big tackle or guard, the tacklers don't even see me. I sort of hide behind them. It also works the other way. I have to be careful how I position myself so that I can see what's out front."

Pruitt has been positioning himself properly this season, although he has not attracted much attention because of the Browns' long losing streak, snapped at nine last Sunday with a 35-23 victory over the Bengals.

"Pruitt was super," said Coach Forrest Gregg. "I never saw him better."

It was just last week when Gregg commented that he measured a good player on "how well he plays against the competition." The competition that week was Oakland and Pruitt rushed for 103 yards.

The opposition last Sunday was Cincinnati, another of the top playoff contenders, and Pruitt responded by rushing 17 times for 121 yards. He also caught seven passes for 106 yards and scored twice running and one on a pass.

Only eight other running backs in National Football League history have made "the big double", running for 100 and catching passes for 100 on the same day.

The others were: Larry Brown, Redskins, Dec. 16, 1973 (26-150, 3-150).

Essex Johnson, Bengals,

Sept. 30, 1973 (21-121, 2-116). Leroy Kelly, Browns, Nov. 10, 1968 (17-127, 3-104).

Tim Brown, Eagles, Oct. 4, 1964 (16-116, 2-110).

Abner Haynes, Chiefs, Sept. 15, 1963 (15-162, 3-100).

Jim Brown, Browns, Sept. 15, 1963 (15-162, 3-100).

Eilly Cannon, Oilers, Dec. 10, 1961 (25-216, 5-114).

Ollie Matson, Cardinals, Nov. 28, 1954 (10-115, 5-161).

Pruitt also picks up yardage as a punt and kickoff return man. In 1974 he led the AFC kickoff returners with a 27.5 yard average. Through 10 games this season, Pruitt has 654 yards rushing, 227 receiving, 109 on punts and 302 on kickoffs, for a total of 1,292 yards.

With four games left to play, Pruitt has a chance at the 1000-yard rushing club, needing 346 yards in games against the Steelers, Saints, Chiefs and Oilers.

"He's absolutely the finest back I've ever coached," says George Sefcik, the Browns' backfield coach. "He has a wealth of ability, the quickness, the moves, the desire — everything you like to see in a back."

Blicksteins Honored At Hospital Benefit

SPRING GLEN

More than 600 persons attended the Ellenville Community Hospital's tenth annual dinner-dance recently at Homowack Lodge. The festive event was held to honor Florence and Irving Blickstein and to raise funds for hospital equipment.

Leo Rosick and Arthur Chipp were co-chairmen for the successful program. Serving on the dinner committee were Frank Blackwell, William H Collier, Dr. Martin Cowan, Connie Elman, Irving Esrig, Connie Feldshuh, David Freer Jr., J. William Lempka, Benjamin Lonstein, Louis Resnick, Harry Rieger, Manfred Schroeder, Marcia Sperling and Ruth Suggs.

Guests were tendered a lavish cocktail party and a dinner featuring roast prime ribs of beef, George Washington, in a setting decorated in the bicentennial theme.

In addition to monies raised from dinner donors, the occasion was the setting for the announcement of an $18,000 gift to the hospital auxiliary. Mrs. Harry Greenberg, auxiliary president, made the presentation to hospital president, Benjamin Lonstein, noting that the funds were to be placed in a trust fund to be used for equipment purchases.

Lonstein, on behalf of the hospital family, paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Blickstein, presenting them with a plaque and an antique grandfather's clock as a lasting token of appreciation. The clock, which stands over seven foot tall in a crotch mahogany case said traces its history to the 1830 period.

In his remarks, Lonstein said, "Ten years ago we met in this room to inaugurate what has become an Ellenville tradition. The Ellenville Community Hospital Dinner, held the Sunday before Thanksgiving is generally regarded and looked forward to as the social occasion of the year. As I look about me this evening I note, with pleasure, the presence of many who have attended each of our nine preceding events, as well as a number who are joining us this year for the first time. I personally, and the Board of Trustees of the hospital, want to express appreciation to each of you for the support you have given the hospital over the years and for your attendance here tonight.

"A benefit event like this does not become a tradition unless it is, year after year, a sparkling success. This requires not only that enough people recognize their responsibilities to support the hospital which sponsors the event, but also that the affair itself is of outstanding quality. That the Ellenville Community Hospital Dinner Dance has met the first of these criteria is a credit to the community. That it has met the second is in large measure a tribute to the remarkable couple we honor here tonight.

"It was Florence and Irving Blickstein who, at our very first hospital dinner dance, set the pace for all the programs which have followed.

"We have come, over the years, to rely on the genuine warmth of their hospitality, the gracious touch to their generosity, the showmanship which adds so much to any evening, and the characteristic sounds of music which have trumpeted our dinner-dances. We have come to know the personal qualities of Florence and Irving Blickstein which have made them beloved by their guests, their staff, their suppliers and their community.

"Irving Blickstein became a member of the hospital Board of Directors in 1963. But even before that he and Florence were active supporters of the highest possible standards of health care for the community. While some people required lengthy explanations and philosophical discussions and persuasive pressures, the typical response of the Blicksteins has always been "If it's good, do it and we'll help you" and they always said "Leave it to us" and when we did, we found we could not have asked for more.

"There are people who can be described as "the salt of the earth" and they are real people, to be depended upon in good fortune and in adversity, in fair weather and in foul. Florence and Irving Blickstein are salt of the earth people but they are also sugar and spice. Together they possess an incisive wit and a tremendous sense of humor. They have crisscrossed the globe on their travels, but they are part and parcel of our local scene. They have built a small hotel into a legend in its own time. Economically, culturally and socially they have contributed to enrich the fabric of our community.

Woolley Photographic Exhibit On Display Saturday at UCCC

STONE RIDGE
The Visual Arts Gallery at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College will be open on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. to permit the public to see "Image of America; Baby Brownie Americamera," a photographic essay exhibition.

Admission to the Gallery, located in John Vanderlyn Hall, is free.

This photographic essay was conceived by A.E. Woolley, of New Paltz, an internationally renowned photojournalist, to reflect the spirit of America and its people. It is dedicated to the nation's Bicentennial celebration.

All the photos on exhibit were taken with a Baby Brownie camera, which Woolley rediscovered in his attic. He used it to demonstrate his theory that most photographers often have too much camera to encumber the very act expected from the medium.

Saturday will be the last day the Woolley exhibition will be on display at the college.

Yule Festivals at Wine Village

HIGHLAND

The jingle of sleigh bells, the music of caroling, and the spicy scent of hot punch and wine today fill the air over the Hudson as the Hudson Valley Wine Village in Highland, prepares for a series of Saturday afternoon Christmas Festivals.

To celebrate the end of a bountiful year, the picturesque estate winery will hold old-fashioned holiday parties the three Saturdays before Christmas, December 6, 13, and 20. The eighteenth-century Manor House has been decked with holly and Christmas greens . . . the quaint European-style courtyard has been decked with party tents . . . and the wine shop, filled with specially-wrapped gift-packs of wines and champagnes.

Santa Claus has promised to be there for the little ones, and the Dutchess Community College Madrigal Singers will be strolling through the wine village singing Christmas carols. For the children, there'll be hot cider and candy canes. For adults over 18, hot punches, egg nogs, and sparkling cups made from the Hudson Valley Wine Company's famous recipes. In the Manor House, with its paneled walls and wood-burning fireplaces, everybody will enjoy an old-fashioned box lunch.

Reservations are required for the Saturday afternoon Christmas Festivals, and the winery requests they be made a week in advance. For reservations contact the Hudson Valley Wine Co., Highland. The wine shop is open daily from 9 to 5 for holiday shopping.

'Rape' Next Y-Forum Topic

"What a Woman Should Know About Rape" is the subject of Y-Forum's third offering of the season on topics of vital community issues. The program will be held Saturday, Dec. 6 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, Kingston.

Rape is rapidly becoming a major social issue. The FBI reports rape as the fastest-growing of the nation's violent crimes. As many as 500,000 people a year are attacked by rapists.

Ulster County officials have suggested that the community needs to know what rape is all about. Y-Forum offers a group of panelists well qualified to provide helpful, factual information on the subject.

Martha Gans, director of the new Sex Crime Unit of Ulster County Sheriff's Department, will participate in the program, along with Andrea Moran, area Lawyer, and Joyce Granger, psychiatric social worker and deputy sheriff.

Y-Forum is sponsoring this meeting to teach women that they can defend themselves and sometimes prevent rape. It also hopes to encourage rape victims to report this crime for the future protection of themselves and others.

Registration and coffee hour will begin at 9:30, followed by the panel and discussion from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Babysitting is included in the nominal registration fee. This program is open to all women and teens. Students will be admitted free of charge. Interested persons should contact the YWCA to reserve a place.

Mid-Hudson Madrigal Society ...Renaissance Feast News

RHINEBECK
Early in December, between the traditional turkey dinners of Christmas and Thanksgiving, the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck will become again a gathering place for all those devotees who have been awaiting this year's Renaissance Feast. This event, presented annually by the Mid-Hudson Madrigal Society, has proven to be such a success that it must be given twice this year, on Monday, December 8, and on Wednesday, December 10, to accommodate the anticipated crowd.

The formula for success is straightforward and makes good sense: give the audience the best possible food and music for the money, and attendance will prove no problem. Two years ago, with a sudden deep snow on the day of the Feast, Madrigal officers debated whether to cancel. That evening, with the county almost paralyzed by snow, only two people out of a hundred failed to make it to the Beekman Arms for the show. A random telephone survey of reservations holders indicated to the Madrigal Singers that nine-inches of snow wasn't going to stop the Feast! And last year, the small groups of costumed singers who serenaded the diners during the meal could hardly make their way between the tables because of the overflow crowd, despite a four-inch snowfall.

As usual, of course, the menu for the Renaissance Feast, will offer another taste-tempting list of good food and beverage, typical of these annual functions.

Musically, the Madrigal Singers hardly need an introduction. In addition to the annual Feast, and the annual concert at the Maverick, the Madrigal Society produces a popular program which has been touring local schools, has appeared on local television, Jarvis's recent 85th birthday party.

They also have appeared at the Guild, the Artists Association, the Woodstock Playhouse, New Paltz College, and even The Bear! Even if you don't regularly go to concerts, you may have been exposed to their Christmas Caroling through Woodstock, accompanied by relatives, friends, and passers-by.

The music at the feast, in addition to the chansons and madrigals sung through dinner, will feature a Medieval Pageant called "The Shepherds Play," which depicts the effects of Christ's birth on three shepherds. It is a brief and intense narrative, which the group's director Dr. Richard Olsen has been preparing since the summer. The play features an announcing angel, double choir and organ accompaniment.

A recorder consort will appear with the Madrigal Singers this year, and in addition to providing incidental music will play Renaissance tunes and also present an introduction to the Shepherds Play.

Finally, the Madrigal Society will unite the groups of minstrels and troubadours to sing English carols and other seasonal music.

Tickets and reservations may be made through any Madrigal Society member, or by telephoning Judy Sykes. Tables of up to eight persons per party are available, and the seats this year are limited, on a first-come basis.

After Turkey Day . . . It's Sticks 'N Chick

CHICAGO, Ill.
After the hectic holidays, families settle down doggedly determined to stay solvent. If they must be indebted at this time, best it be only to a recipe — a special one like Sticks 'N Chick that takes little money but tastes delicious.

You really can reinforce your resolution to eat better economically when you serve moist, wholesome corn sticks covered with a colorfully captivating chicken sauce. As an economy measure, the yummy corn stick base begins from scratch using corn meal enriched with B-vitamins and iron. Over each serving of two corn sticks is spooned a fine blend of flavors — diced cooked chicken, chicken broth and a whole banquet of vegetables (celery, onion and cooked peas and carrots.) The sauce, savory from poultry seasoning, is thickened just right; it's not too thick and not too thin. Bountiful serving portions fill you up but don't leave the pocketbook empty.

Corn Sticks:
1 cup enriched corn meal
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup milk
1/4 cup melted or liquid shortening

Chicken Sauce:
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 cups chicken broth
1 egg yolk, beaten
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/2 teaspoon pepper
One 4-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
One 10-oz. pkg. peas and carrots, cooked and drained
2 cups diced cooked chicken

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For corn sticks, sift together corn meal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl. Add egg, milk and shortening. Mix until smooth, about 1 minute. Pour batter into hot, greased corn stick pans. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Let cool a few minutes before removing from pans.

For chicken sauce, in medium-sized saucepan saute onion and celery in butter until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Gradually add chicken broth, stirring constantly. Continue cooking over medium heat until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Quickly stir in beaten egg yolk. Add remaining ingredients; stir to combine. Heat thoroughly, but do not let boil.

To serve, place 2 corn sticks on each plate. Spoon over corn sticks; serve immediately.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABY: My husband died last winter, and ever since, I have had a terrible time falling asleep. I don't want to get into the habit of taking sleeping pills.

I recently visited my sister, and the sound of her husband's snoring in the next room put me to sleep instantly! Every night I was there I slept like a baby. I soon realized that what I'd been missing all these months was the sound of my beloved late husband's snoring. It must have given me a sense of security and well being.

I suppose it is ridiculous to ask if there is some place I can buy a record or a tape of a man snoring. But that could be the answer to my problem. Can you help me?

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS
DEAR SLEEPLESS: Ask your sister's husband to record a long snoring session on a cassette. All you'll need is something on which to play it, and you're off to dreamland!

DEAR ABBY: My son, a brilliant, ambitious honor student, has just announced that he is dropping out of law school (in his second year) to get a job so he can marry a girl he has gotten pregnant.

This young man was told the facts of life early so there is no excuse for such an "accident." Nowadays, no girl has to get pregnant unless she wants to — or is awfully dumb. And Abby, this girl is far from dumb — she's 21 and a college dropout.

I can't help but feel that the girl used my son to escape from a family situation she found intolerable. I know I can't prevent the marriage, but I would like to know how I can honestly accept this girl when I feel she used my son and cost him his lifelong dream — to become a lawyer.

CRUSHED IN COLORADO

Widow Needs Snorer to Sleep

DEAR CRUSHED: Unless you want to alienate your son completely, you had better "accept" the girl — and graciously.

If your son is as brilliant and ambitious as you say he is he'll find a way to resume his education and realize his lifelong dream.

DEAR ABBY: I am anti-trousers for females. So much so that I refuse to extend any gentlemanly courtesies to a woman who is wearing trousers. (I won't hold a door open for her, allow her to go ahead of me or help her with her chair.)

If I get a waitress who is wearing trousers, and doing a good job, she gets NO tip. If she does an excellent job, she gets only a 5 per cent tip, but I won't go back to that restaurant. A waitress wearing a skirt (length unimportant) gets anywhere from 15 per cent to 25 per cent tip, depending upon the service she gives me.

My wife wears trousers once in a while. So do my daughters-in-law, but if they don't wear dresses in public, I refuse to go along. And when I don't go, they have no one to pick up the tab.

I've heard all the excuses women use for wearing pants instead of skirts — "they're more comfortable, hide the runs in my stockings, keep my legs warm in winter," etc. — but I still hate 'em.

PREFERS SKIRTS
DEAR PREFERS: To each his own, but I think you're unfair to penalize a waitress just because the legs she rushes around on to serve you happen to be in trousers! Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Gardiner Boy Wins Scholarship

GARDINER
Eight-year-old Anton Gross of Brunswick Road, Gardiner, has been awarded a full scholarship to the School of American Ballet in New York City.

Fred Douglass de Mayo, director of the New Paltz School of Ballet, recognized Anton's talent after his first few classes, and it was de Mayo who recommended that his young student audition for a

Mideast Peace Talks Considered by UN

By UPI
U.N. diplomatic sources say Syria will agree to renew the U.N. peacekeeping mandate on the Golan Heights if it gets a Security Council resolution calling for new talks on an overall Middle East peace settlement.

The sources said Thursday Syria gave conditional approval to the mandate in talks between U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim and Syrian President Hafez Assad in Damascus earlier this week.

But the sources said Syria wants a Security Council resolution linking the mandate to a call for early negotiations on an overall Middle East peace settlement.

The mandate allows the United Nations to station a 1,250-man peacekeeping force in a buffer zone between Israeli and Syrian forces on a 42-mile long stretch of the rocky Golan Heights.

Victory Over Fires, But Now a New Danger

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — Light rain brought victory Thursday over brush fires that ravaged 100 square miles of southern California, but warned of a possible worse disaster to follow — floods and mudslides that could engulf whole neighborhoods.

Worried officials scheduled a meeting today to discuss emergency plans to meet the threat.

Some 4,000 firefighters battled for five days against the two main blazes that swept from the Angeles National Forest into suburban canyon neighborhoods and destroyed or damaged 43 houses, chasing an estimated 5,600 persons from their homes.

Preliminary damage estimates rose to more than $20 million, including $14 million in damage to the watershed in the major blaze, the Tujunga fire.

Helped by cool weather and light rains, firefighters Thursday contained both the 46,500-acre Tujunga blaze and the 19,500-acre Mt. Baldy fire 30 miles to the east. This meant both fires were surrounded by fire breaks, although they continuing to burn inside the perimeter.

"There are still hot spots in the midst of both blazes," a U.S. Forest Service spokesman said. "But we are confident we can hold the lines if the weather doesn't change drastically."

Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. declared the blackened region on the northeastern fringe of Los Angeles a disaster area, the first such declaration of his administration.

State assemblyman William Campbell, chairman of the committee on fire services, appealed to Brown for millions of dollars to combat "one of the most critical disasters that has ever confronted southern California" — the expected floods and mud slides that often follow such fires, doing more damage to people and houses than the fires themselves.

Rain falling on the steep hillsides, denuded of brush, runs off as flash flooding or turns them to rivers of mud that can swamp whole neighborhoods. The season of heaviest rains begins in about six weeks and runs for three to four months.

Press Hits Gag Rule In Gov. Mandel Case

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A group of reporters wants to discuss a proposed gag rule in the criminal case against Gov. Marvin Mandel, and hints it may take court action if it is not allowed to voice its opinion.

Mandel was indicted Monday for mail fraud and corruption under anti-racketeering laws. He is charged with doling out state favors to five associates in exchange for financial interest in two business enterprises.

E. Barrett Prettyman Jr., attorney for the Washington-based Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, asked U.S. District Judge Herbert F. Murray to give the news media a chance to discuss the proposed gag rule informally or at a formal hearing at least 10 days before it goes into effect.

Prettyman told Murray that to impose an order forbidding discussion of the case with the media without giving the press an opportunity to be heard could lead to court challenges to the order that might disrupt the defendants' cases.

"We respectfully suggest that it would be highly commendable if you could establish a pattern of notice and dialogue rather than forcing the media to collateral litigation — litigation which unfortunately has the potential for disrupting both the pre-trial and trial proceedings," said Prettyman.

"As the Mandel case is so controversial, this could be only one of a series of problems that may arise between the press, on the one hand, and the court, the defendants and the prosecutors, on the other," he said.

Mandel, W. Dale Hess, Harry W. Rodgers, William A. Rodgers, Irvin Kovens and Ernest N. Cory, Jr. were charged in the 24-count indictment, returned Monday.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Ronald S. Liebman immediately sought a gag order barring out-of-court statements. He said prosecutors would be prepared to discuss specifics of the proposal at the arraignment hearing, which has not been set.

Liebman said the prosecutors wanted the order to prevent leaks of information like those which were published during the grand jury investigation.

Caroline's Subdued Birthday

LONDON (UPI) — Caroline Kennedy, reportedly ordered by her mother to curb her swinging in London, celebrated her 18th birthday quietly Thursday with a lunchtime hamburger and a small party.

London columnists said Caroline cancelled plans for a wild birthday bash after her mother, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, spoke with her earlier this month about reports of Caroline's nightly partygoing.

Caroline is staying with an old Kennedy friend, Lord Harlech, the former British ambassador in Washington, since her previous London host narrowly escaped an Irish Republican Army bomb attack.

She had a birthday lunch at Morton's restaurant with bearded Bobby Hesketh, 24-year-old younger brother of Lord Hesketh, owner of Britain's most successful Grand Prix automobile racing stable.

She settled for a hamburger and a single glass of wine — turning down the management's offer of birthday champagne on the house.

Later, it said, she threw a small party for her closest London friends.

Two weeks ago gossip columnists reported Mrs. Onassis, perturbed by reports of Caroline's nonstop partying, ordered her to pay more attention to her classes at Sotheby's and stay off the party circuit.

Hamilton paid up. And it sure paid off.

The War of Independence had put us in the red for $27 million in securities.

It would have been easy to shortchange the public by paying them off at depressed market value. But Hamilton said no.

You see, he had pretty definite ideas about keeping the people's trust. After all, he was the first Secretary of the Treasury.

So he insisted that every debt be paid in full. And they were.

Over the years, it's paid off. Today, over 9½ million Americans buy U.S. Savings Bonds through their Payroll Savings Plan at work.

They know Bonds are safe, secure and pay off at a good rate of interest, 6% when held to maturity in 5 years.

Here's a tip that's guaranteed to pay off.

Take stock in America. With the specially designed Bicentennial Series E Bonds.

Don't shortchange your future.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity in 5 years. 4% the first year. Last, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Beclouded Retirement

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court judge arrested for lewd conduct with another man in a sex movie theater retired on a $29,000-a-year pension, records disclosed today.

Judge Sherman W. Smith and another man were arrested in a Hollywood theater Aug. 1 on charges of sex perversion and lewd conduct. They were allowed to plead guilty to trespassing charges, fined $200 each and placed on probation.

Smith applied for a disability retirement, submitting medical records showing he suffers from hypertension. Records showed the state Commission on Judicial Qualifications granted the request, giving Smith a lifetime pension of 65 per cent of his $45,299 salary. The first year's pension is exempt from taxation, officials said.

think you may beat the contract. The odds against you are too great.

The contract did go down. West opened his king of spades and wound up with a spade trick and his two side aces.

Of course, North should not have bid five hearts. He should have passed. South would double four spades, set it two tricks and pick up 300 points, which is a much better result than being set at five hearts.

Barbie's Boutique

These youngsters—Andrea Abramovich, Sandy Abramovich and Christine Heidenreich—are getting a preview of "Barbie's Boutique" which will highlight the Sauter's Jaynees Christmas Shoppe, Dec. 1-3 from 1-4 p.m. at Republican Headquarters on Partition Street. A wide variety of gifts will be available, Santa Claus will be on hand and the public is invited. Santa also has a mailbox at Simmons Plaza which receives over 400 letters each year, all of them answered by the Jaynees.

Guards Suspend! Action

BEACON, N.Y. (UPI) — Guards at the Fishkill Correctional Facility and Matteawan mental facility for criminals, apparently satisfied with negotiations with state Corrections Commissioner Benjamin Ward, have suspended picketing after one day protesting of alleged understaffing.

Ward had helicoptered to Fishkill from his Albany office Wednesday to direct negotiations aimed at getting the guards back to work.

A guard spokesman said talks with corrections department officials were continuing.

Guards say the sprawling Dutchess County facility which cares for about 1,000 patients and inmates is down 62 men from assigned strength.

Wednesday, about 240 guards assigned to the morning and afternoon shifts refused to report for work and picket lines were set up at all four gates. The facility has about 516 guards but days off, vacations and other factors limit the daily available work force to a total of about 320 guards.

Thursday, however, the 6:30 a.m. shift turned up as usual. The job action followed a vote by the members of Local 1255 of Council 82 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), AFL-CIO, to remain off the job to protest what they see as a shortage of guards.

They said the manpower shortage meant guards had to supervise too many inmates and that there had been 400 injuries among the guard force in the past seven months.

According to Carl Gray, Council 82 president, the guard force had been trimmed from three to one officers on certain posts and each officer had to supervise from 40 to 75 inmates.

A prison spokesman said, however, that the maximum number of inmates under supervision in any single unit was 50.

The one-day protest was mainly centered around the Matteawan unit, which houses about 300 inmates judged mentally ill after committing a violent crime.

The facility also includes the General Confinement unit, which has about 400 inmates, and units for the elderly and handicapped, work release programs and diagnosis and evaluation.

Problem Solving In Phoenicia

PHOENICIA Half the problem created when the Phoenicia Bridge collapsed 10 months ago was solved this week when installation of a new six-inch water main across the Esopus Creek was completed.

But replacement of the bridge itself is still on the drawing boards.

The new water main—supported by steel I-beams suspended across the creek—will service customers located in the south end of the Phoenicia Water District. Since the bridge, and the water main it supported, collapsed in February, residents have been provided with water via a temporary three-inch plastic pipe.

That arrangement was unsatisfactory to residents of the area—who had to boil their water to eliminate impurities and who had to tolerate extremely low pressure during peak use periods—and to the Ulster County Health Department, which warned that the water could become contaminated.

Health Department officials declared the situation an emergency and required immediate corrective measures. That prompted installation of the steel water main. Work began two weeks ago and was completed Tuesday.

The Health Department announced Wednesday that residents do not have to continue to boil their water now that the new main has been installed. Pressure is expected to reach 1974 levels.

The measure, however, is only temporary. When, and if, a new bridge is constructed, a new main will be attached to the span.

Originally, the Town of Shandaken had intended to locate the new water main below the bed of the Esopus Creek, a project that would have cost an estimated $22,000. Complications arose in that procedure—not the least of which was New York City's refusal to shut off the Shandaken portal to allow construction crews to work in the creek bed—prompting the more expeditious solution of suspending the line above the stream. There was also some concern that a heavy frost could fracture the plastic pipe, necessitating its immediate replacement.

The bridge toppled into the creek on Feb. 27 after an 11½ foot rental truck driven by Craig Shultis of Phoenicia tried unsuccessfully to pass through the 8½ foot span.

Job Well Done

It's been said many times before by many people that when the going gets the roughest, residents of Kingston forget their problems and show their true colors by working together for a common cause.

That was the case Wednesday night when the populace of this community, with ample help from the surrounding towns, contributed more than $5,000 to commence the drive to raise funds for the City Children's Library, gutted last week by fire.

In a little more than four hours, "Beggar's Night" volunteers of all ages and from all walks of life arrived at the Daily Freeman office loaded with money in all kinds of denominations.

To say the beginning of the fund drive was successful is only putting it mildly. It was a tremendous effort on the part of many.

It was truly a community project and The Freeman is proud to have done its part to start the ball rolling.

Representatives of the city's paid and volunteer fire forces turn over more than $1,500 in cash they collected during the "Beggar's Night" fund drive for the benefit of the Kingston Children's Library. $5 Thousand + Collected In 'Beggar's Night' Drive

If success can be measured in dollars and cents, then Wednesday's "Beggar's Night" fund drive for the benefit of the Kingston Children's Library achieved all expectations.

By the time the phone lines were closed and the volunteers had departed, more than $5,000 in cash contributions had poured into the fund drive headquarters at the Freeman on Thanksgiving Eve. A recount of the cash totals early today set the latest figure at $5,100.36.

That doesn't include, however, $117 in pledges phoned in during a three-hour radiothon conducted by WKNY Wednesday night. In addition, four wards in the city had yet to turn in their collection canisters before the lights at the Freeman were dimmed shortly before midnight.

The fund drive will continue on a somewhat or informal basis through Christmas Eve. Contributions can be mailed to, or dropped off in person at, The Freeman offices on Hurley Avenue.

All of the monies collected during the fund

drive will be placed in a special account to be used by the Children's Library once the board of trustees decides what course of action it will take to restore services and materials that went up in smoke during the early-morning fire on Nov. 19.

Despite the generous response to the library's plight Wednesday evening, the funds collected aren't nearly sufficient to restore or replace all of the damaged materials. Fund drive coordinators are hoping that persons who didn't contribute when volunteers conducted their door-to-door canvass Wednesday will respond with a check before Dec. 24. They are also looking to the business community and civic and community organizations to help add to the fund's treasury.

Wednesday's "Beggar's Night" campaign saw participation by virtually every segment of the local community. Youth organization members from throughout the city represented a large part of the volunteer collection force, a joint canvass by the city's paid and volunteer firemen raised $1,512.63 alone during the three-hour drive.

Lottery Is Out, New One Sought

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Hugh L. Carey today announced a thorough overhaul of the problem-plagued state lottery, including the layoff or reassignment of all lottery employees.

Among those to be laid off or reassigned was lottery director Gerald Bruno, Carey's advance man during his 1974 campaign, a spokesman for the governor said.

Carey said an outside consultant's study of the lottery, ordered when the governor shut it down Oct. 22, recommended a total reorganization "to restore public confidence and assure effective operation."

"In the weeks ahead, we will be making major changes in the lottery," the governor said in a statement.

He said "all 318 members of the Lottery Division" would be given three weeks' notice of layoffs or "reassigned within state government," Carey said "as many as possible will be placed in other positions."

The governor said the state "would fully honor our commitment" to those persons who purchased tickets for drawings that have not been held. He said plans were nearly complete for drawings for the Double-Up games of Oct. 2, 9, 16 and 23, and a special Oct. 31 Halloween Special drawing.

Carey said refunds would be made for the Oct. 30 Double-Up drawing.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said earlier in the week that the lottery had reached its legal limitations on salary payments and he would not honor next Monday's $113,000 bi-weekly payroll. However, a spokesman for the governor said today that some arrangement would be made to guarantee that any employees laid off receive at least three weeks' pay.

Carey said a special task force, headed by a "nationally recognized expert in lottery operations" would be formed to revise the game.

Among revisions being considered, sources said, was an "instant lottery" in which bettors peel or scratch a card to discover whether they have a winning number. Such a system would sidestep the lottery's computer operation, which produced duplicate tickets for the Oct. 31 drawing and prompted Carey to shut it down.

Carey said the outside consultant's study found no other instances of duplicate tickets, but did find "serious shortcomings in overall lottery operations."

Bruno's handling of the game has been severely criticized in several newspapers not only for the ticket difficulties but also for the practice of "phantom payoffs."

There have been reports that nearly half of the weekly $250,000 top prizes were not awarded and that many of the jackpot prizes were undistributed because the winning numbers were on tickets that never were sold.

Carey named a Boston consulting firm, the Arthur D. Little Co., to look into all aspects of the lottery, which heretofore had produced more than $50 million a year for the state treasury.

There has also been frequent criticism in the legislature that the lottery's original intention of providing money directly for education never was realized because earnings from the game go into the state's general fund.

At least one lawmaker, State Sen. William T. Conklin, R-Brooklyn, has said he will offer legislation in the coming session requiring that nearly half the lottery proceeds go directly to school districts where the tickets are sold.

Another legislator highly critical of the lottery, and specifically of Bruno's administration, has been Sen. John J. Marchi, R-Statens Island, chairman of the powerful Finance Committee. Marchi has called for Bruno's firing, and said it was "virtually certain" that the lottery would be unable to meet its payroll for the rest of the year.

Festival of Lights Starts at Sundown

Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn, spiritual leader of Temple Emanuel, discusses significance of Hanukkah with students of the Temple confirmation class prior to the start of the joyous Festival of Lights at sundown today. The holiday, which will continue for eight days, celebrates the rededication of the Temple to the service of God and commemorates the Maccabean

Another Giant Step For a City Bus System

KINGSTON

Expansion of the city's mass transportation system—currently serviced by one bus—moved a step closer to realization this week when bids were opened at City Hall for the purchase of three 23-passenger mini-buses.

The low bid was submitted by Grumman Allied Industries of Garden City: $19,798 per bus, for a total of $57,612.

That amount is considerably lower than the price originally projected by city officials. Mayor Francis R. Koenig had earlier received commitments from federal and state agencies for a $94,000 grant for the purchase of three buses, with the city required to pay five per cent of the cost of the project.

If the bid from Grumman Allied is accepted, the city's share of the cost would be an estimated $2,880. The city now has 30 days to decide which bid it will accept and to execute the appropriate agreements. The city's choice must be approved by the state.

The other bids received this week were from DeMico Motors of Kingston ($20,684 per bus for a total of $62,053.83) and from Minibus, Inc. of Downey, Calif. ($29,140 per bus for a total of $87,420). Minibus, Inc. was the only bidder to submit a proposal for diesel powered buses at a unit cost of $39,699.

If the Grumman Allied bid is accepted, the buses would be delivered within 90 days of the date the contract is signed.

With three new buses in service, the city's transit system would be expanded to include routes not presently serviced by the one city bus. Koenig noted that particular emphasis would be placed on establishing bus routes to meet the needs of the city's senior citizens.

In addition to the bus bids, city officials opened bids from three firms for transit coach fareboxes, which would be installed in the buses. The firms, and the unit price they proposed were Diamond Manufacturing, Inc., of Kansas City, Mo., $366.69; Euclid Products Co. of Willoughby, Ohio, $420.32 and Duncan Industries of Elk Grove Village, Ill., $638.

Sale of Gov. Clinton Near

KINGSTON

The Governor Clinton Hotel, on the market for some time, will be sold to three area men for an undisclosed sum after 50 years of ownership by the Kingston Community Hotel Corporation.

The hotel was constructed in 1926, according to the City of Kingston assessor's office. New Owners plan operations as usual for the time being, definite rehabilitation of the building, and no announced long term policy.

Kingston Attorney N. Jansen Fowler confirmed reports that there is "substantial agreement" between himself as controlling stockholder and three principals of the new corporation: Martin Aaron of Kingston, owner of Fowler and Keith Hardware; Orvil and Israel Slutzky of Hunter, proprietors of Hunter Mountain Ski Resort, a construction company, and other business interests.

It was emphasized by Fowler (who has no connection with Aaron's hardware business) that when the sale is consummated "sometime around the first of the year" that the present management and employees will be retained and the business continue without interruption.

"All reservations and commitments heretofore and currently being made are to be honored by the purchasers," said Fowler. The new owners will "continue to maintain residential dining and banquet facilities," he stated and plan to "rehabilitate the property and make some needed repairs."

The attorney declined comment on whether the new owners planned to continue the Governor Clinton as a motel business. During the past ten years at various times of fiscal crisis for the uptown establishment, plans have been announced to convert more of the guest rooms into apartments, and many have been done.

Tenants were informed of the transaction Thanksgiving Day, said Fowler. He will address the annual corporation stockholders' meeting next week. There are about 175 stockholders.

Aaron commented today that "at present no changes will be made in staff or management." He confirmed plans to renovate the building.

Complete Dinner

Vietnamese youth receives a bread roll from a kitchen worker to complete his Thanksgiving dinner as he passes through dinner line in Indiantown Gap, L., Thursday. Santa Claus (background) was also present to add some cheer to mess hall festivities. (UPI)

A 'Thankful' Holiday

By UPI

A critically ill child, jail inmates, Vietnamese refugees and a man whose murder conviction was overturned all found much to be thankful for during Thanksgiving, 1975.

Doctors diagnosed that Jacquelyn Packheiser, 7, of Rolling Meadows, Ill., had Reyes Syndrome, a brain-damaging disease, when she was admitted in critical condition to Wyler Children's Hospital in mid-November.

But she opened her eyes Thanksgiving eve and asked to see her mother. The hospital sent her home for a very "thankful" holiday.

Sammy Garrett, 26, was released from Stateville Penitentiary just 14 hours before the holiday began. His murder conviction — for which he had served five of a 20-to-40-year sentence — had been overturned.

"Thanks. That's what I feel," Garrett said. "I often wondered if any humanity remains. Well it does."

Nguyen Van Tuoc, a former lieutenant colonel in the South Vietnamese military, sat down with his wife and their eight children to celebrate their new life in Chicago with an old-fashioned turkey dinner.

"Thanksgiving is a day of thank you to God," Tuoc's 10-year old daughter Dung said.

Jail inmates had special turkey dinners but at Cook County Jail in Chicago, they went without drumsticks. Bones more than 1½ inches long are considered potential weapons.

Thousands of volunteers served Thanksgiving dinners to the sick, disabled and poverty-stricken.

The U.S. Army — the largest single turkey customer in the nation — dished up 347,000 pounds of turkey, 52,000 pounds of shrimp and 74,000 pounds of mince meat and pumpkin pies to servicemen around the world. President and Mrs. Ford and their daughter, Susan, sat down to a traditional feast. The rest of the First Family celebrated elsewhere.

A handful of reporters combed New York City's Central Park for live turkeys. They'd been sent there to cover a "turkey trot" sponsored by the Borough of Manhattan Community College.

"Seen any turkeys around here," a reporter asked a pretzel salesman. "Turkeys? We got pigeons and squirrels; no turkeys," he replied.

The turkeys — dead and wrapped in brown paper bags — were finally found. It turned out the college's students and faculty were doing the trotting. The turkeys were prizes.

Tragedy hit for some. At least 10 persons suffered heart attacks while shoveling snow after a storm hit the Midwest.

For department stores, today was the day to give thanks for — the first day of the Christmas shopping season.

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — With $205 million in New York City tax boosts behind them, state lawmakers now face an even tougher task — dealing with Gov. Hugh L. Carey's proposed $872 million hike in state levies.

The legislature's emergency session, recessed for the Thanksgiving holiday, resumes Wednesday, but the state tax package is likely to be delayed considerably past that date.

There is wide disagreement between Carey and Republican leaders over the size of any new state taxes or budget cuts.

In order to get any tax hikes through the GOP-dominated Senate, Republican sources say they there must be sharp cuts by the Democratic governor, as well as an agreement by Carey to limit spending in the 1976-77 fiscal year.

The New York City taxes were approved late Tuesday night to convince President Ford that New York was willing to make sacrifices to solve its fiscal problems.

Carey signed the bills Wednesday.

Carey said in a statement he would ask Comptroller Arthur Levitt to certify the existence and size of the budget gap by the beginning of next week and said the emergency session would "fully dispose of that matter." He said a program for dealing with several fiscally shaky state agencies also would be presented.

Carey said that with the city taxes "New Yorkers have now offered every reasonable sacrifice to secure federal assistance."

Assembly Speaker Stanley Steingut, reflecting on the week of hectic bargaining that produced the city tax package, added, "Next week we'll start another one."

Steingut said the legislature would first take up a bill requiring New York city employees to live in the city and a measure consolidating of next year's April and September primaries into one June election.

"I don't think next week we'll be ready with state taxes or state cuts," the Democratic speaker said, noting how far apart both sides were on the issue.

Carey has claimed that the state faces a budget deficit of as much as $700 million unless taxes are raised and spending sharply cut, but Senate Republicans estimate the gap at only $264 million.

Republicans in the Senate planned next week to draw up their own proposals for cuts while they discussed the budget with Carey's fiscal aides, sources said.

Any new state taxes would put New York even farther in the lead in state taxes. The Commerce Clearing House reported Wednesday that New York State residents paid a per person average of $952 in state and local taxes in fiscal 1974, nearly $200 more than the second state, Massachusetts.

The New York City tax

package, most of which goes into effect Jan. 1, includes a $75 million hike in the city's income tax, a $45 million boost in the tax on bank profits and $26 million in "nuisance" taxes. Also included was a $200 million increase in the amount the Municipal Assistance Corp. could borrow for the city.

Final approval was delayed for several hours when the As-ssembly balked at raising the city's automobile use tax from $15 to $25 a year. The measure was withdrawn and the bank tax was doubled to make up the needed $15 million.

The measures passed by comfortable margins in the Assembly, with opposition coming mainly from Republicans. In the Senate, the margins were narrower, with both parties split.

'I Didn't Want to Go That Way'

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — In retrospect, it was a mistake to throw the fish out of the rubber life raft in which Susan Shepherd, 26, and Alan Zovar, 33, floated for four days on the Pacific Ocean.

A five foot shark appeared, gobbled it up, and wouldn't leave. More sharks joined it. "Sharks kept bumping the bottom of the raft and pushing it around," Miss Shepherd said. Fins cut the water around them, and they could feel the sharks rubbing against them through the rubberized fabric of the raft.

"It was really scary," she said.

"Of all the ways to go, I didn't want to go that way," Zovar said.

"I thought, 'if the sharks are going to get us, I'm going to slash my wrist.' I probably wouldn't have been able to. It would have happened too fast."

They were rescued Thursday by a fishing boat that found them on Santa Cruz Island, 35 miles off the coast.

The ordeal began Sunday afternoon when they were fishing from the raft just offshore from Miss Becker's father's weekend house in Malibu. A sudden wind from the north-east drove them out to sea.

By nightfall, they were miles out, with six foot high waves swamping the raft.

"At that point we realized we were in trouble," Zovar said.

They sang to keep each other's spirits up, drank their own urine, and tried to eat a jellyfish and kelp, but couldn't get them down.

Miss Becker said they threw out fish they had caught earlier, fearing their spines would puncture the rubber raft. That drew the shark pack, which followed the raft continuously.

Shortly after daybreak Wednesday, they sighted the island, mistaking it for the coast of the mainland. They rowed frantically for 12 hours but were still about two miles offshore when the sun went down.

There are only two points on the 20-mile long island — which has only two homes where they could go ashore. The rest of the shoreline is vertical rock wall.

"We feel God was guiding us to that cove in the dark," Zovar said.

They collapsed on the deserted beach, and when they woke up the next morning, attracted the attention of a crewman on the passing fishing boat.

The crew told Zovar they were lucky, that persons lost at sea on a rubber raft usually don't live more than two days.

"Are you impressed?" Zovar said he asked, adding his own reply, "I'm impressed."

Sex Experiments Banned For Harvard Undergrads

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — A university-conducted experiment to electronically measure the link between fear and sexual arousal is taboo for Harvard undergraduates, according to dean of students Archie Epps.

Epps banned Harvard and Radcliffe students from the experiments because he said they would be dehumanizing.

"I was also concerned about the private nature of the subject being researched," he said. "It seemed that its after-effects could be harmful to individual students."

In the experiment, electronic devices would be tied to the sexual organs of volunteers to measure if sexual arousal declined as fear increased. Prof. Gerald C. Davison said.

The subjects would listen to "an erotic story, a sexy story, concerning a young man and a young woman who get together and have fun sexually described in more or less anxiety-provoking ways," said Davison, the chief researcher in the study.

The research, unanimously approved by the university's 14-member Committee on the Use of Human Subjects, was aimed at finding out whether "people are less turned on the more fearful they are,"

Davison said.

He is on leave from the State University of New York's Stony Brook campus, where he said he has conducted similar experiments with such devices for years without problems.

Physical risks were "as close to zero as one can achieve," Davison insisted. "Psychological risks are almost as negligible."

"I feel I've suffered a serious loss and Harvard-Radcliffe students certainly haven't gained," he said.

EMC Gets Resource Handbook

Environmental Book Presented

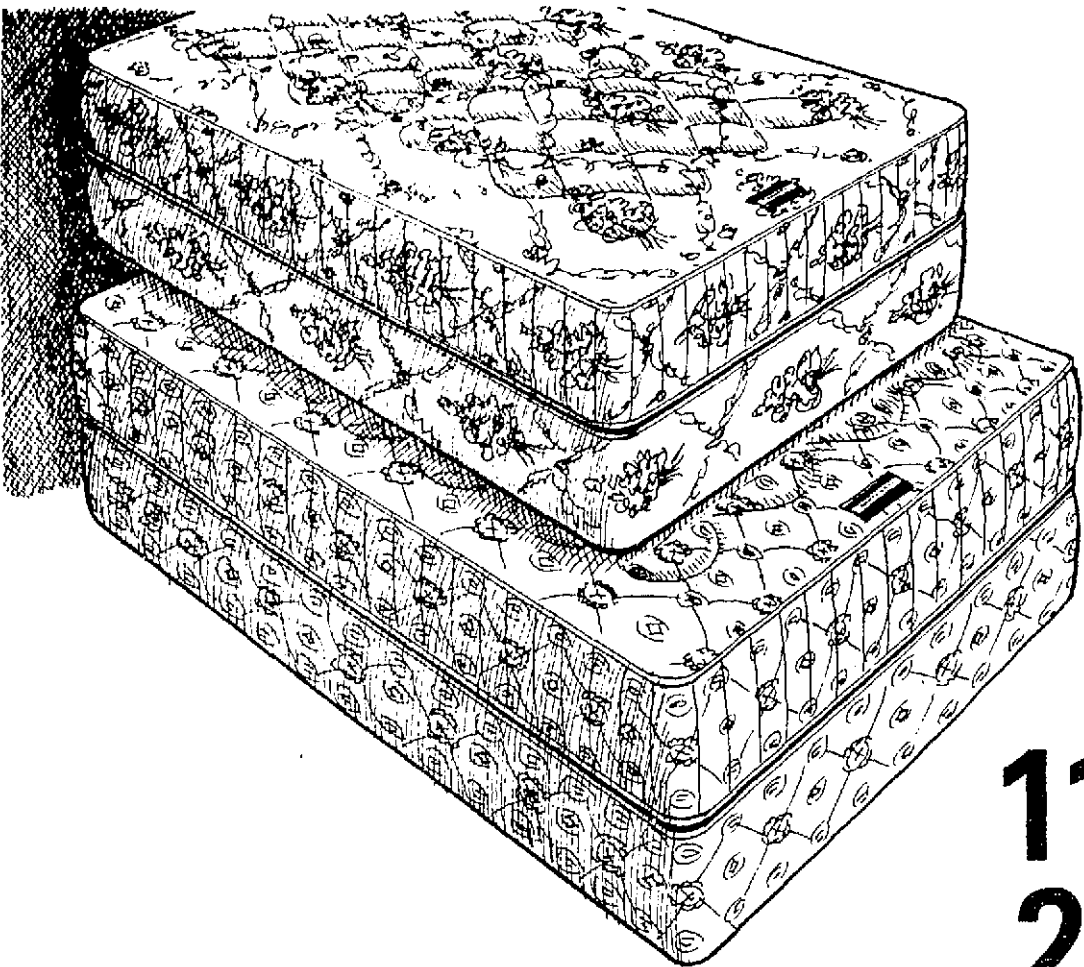

KINGSTON Elisabeth Ladd, co-author of "A Method for Resource Analysis," reviewed the techniques in the book and answered questions concerning the role of environmental conservation commissions at the recent meeting of the Ulster County Environmental Management Council (EMC).

Ms. Ladd, who drew up the method book with Charles Killpack of the Harvard University Graduate School of Design, said it is not an environmental plan but an explanation of a method that can be used by local environmental conservation commissions, town boards, town planning boards and county planning boards to evaluate the degree of impact to be expected from potential land uses.

"An historical landmark has been established by the council toward the future of land use planning in the Catskills," said Donald C. Bruyn, EMC chairman. Citizens, conservation commissions and town planning board members who attended a course on natural resource inventory techniques at Ulster County Community College last May will find this publication an invaluable adjunct to the materials they will use in their work and it will be distributed to them, along with copies to local government agencies and libraries, Bruyn said.

The manual is designed to give conservation commissions an opportunity to understand natural systems and to provide a method for evaluating and protecting the county's environment.

Bruyn said the future role of EMC will be to coordinate local natural resource inventories within the county to encourage municipalities to work together and recognize the benefits of intermunicipal cooperation, and ultimately to consider the regional implications of their individual activities, Bruyn noted.

Better Detection Yet Reduced Risk

NEW YORK (UPI) — The medical director of a free cancer detection clinic is seeking ways to use x-rays to screen more women for breast cancer with far less radiation dose than they now receive.

Forty-five million women in America are at risk for breast cancer. That is all the females 35 and over.

Mammograph — an x-ray of the breast — plus routine palpation, is proving highly successful in a nationwide demonstration program in finding minimal cancers smaller than the head of a pin.

It also is helpful in finding bigger cancers that are, though larger than a pinhead, still too small to be detected by feeling for lumps alone.

The demonstration project, sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute (NCI), is based on a highly-successful detection program set up by Dr. Philip Strax back in the early 1960s using mammography.

Strax, medical director of Guttman Institute in New York, said in an interview he is searching for ways to improve mammography by reducing the radiation dosage and developing a system to screen many more women rapidly.

Authorities say at most only 10 million women have their breasts x-rayed each year.

By using an image enhancer on standard x-ray film, Strax said he has been able to cut the radiation exposure 90 per cent. Strax will report on his findings Dec. 4 at the Chicago congress of the Radiological Society of North America.

The mammograms with "much lower" radiation doses are "surprisingly more detailed," Strax said.

The enhancer is a chemically treated sheet. It emits light when x-rays hit it.

Strax said he is applying for a NCI grant to develop what he believes will be a successful machine for mass detection programs using mammograms.

The x-ray film would be on reels. The image enhancer would move right along with the film.

Instead of putting in a big flat film for each picture, the operator would only change film when the roll ran out.

Strax believes this would speed up mammograms to a point where many more women could have them when desired — and not need to worry about too much exposure to radiation.

His Rube Goldberg mammograph machine is a long way down the road. But the pressure to improve and speed up the breast x-ray examinations is great.

The preliminary findings of the demonstration project using mammography in addition to regular palpation methods shows breast cancers are being found before spreading to the lymph nodes in the armpit. At this stage, the cancers have greatest chance of cure.

The early cancers are being found twice as often as they were in detection programs without mammography.

The image-enhancing chemical in the material Strax is working with comes from rare earth phosphors.

Their role in eliminating a significant amount of radiation exposure in medical x-rays was discovered in 1971 by Dr. Robert A. Buchanan, a scientist at Lockheed Research Institute's laboratories in Palo Alto, Calif.

Tea Questions For Buyer's Billboard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — We have two related questions on tea, the first from Little Hocking, Ohio:

"For as long as I can remember we have been able to buy green tea or gunpowder tea from the grocery shelf — chain store or independent."

"Now, over the past year we find it gone from the grocery line and can't find it any more. How come?"

"We get the answer that they no longer make it or that the wholesaler does not handle it. What has happened to it?" It was used by a large number of people here and the stores could not keep it in stock."

According to a tea expert at the Agriculture Department, nothing has happened to green tea, except that consumers stopped buying it.

Which brings us to this inquiry from Flint, Mich.:

"An Oriental friend of mine refused a cup of tea made from instant powdered tea. He states that all Orientals think it is harmful since it is made by grinding up the tea leaves, and that the powder is in fact ground up leaves."

"Is this true? And if so, is it harmful? What research if any has been done on this?"

Thomas J. Lipton Inc., says there are no tea leaves in instant tea. It is made by water extraction. Tea first is brewed, then sprayed in a fine mist and allowed to fall through a tower where droplets form. The droplets dry into a powder, which is instant tea.

Lipton said ground tea leaves wouldn't dissolve; they'd just float around. The company says ground leaves never have been used in any instant tea product now or previously on the market, as far as it knows.

Sales Tax Increase

News that members of the Ulster County Legislature are considering raising the sales tax from one to two per cent in order to reduce the estimated 50 per cent hike in county property taxes has the unequivocal backing of The Freeman.

The projected increase in the 1976 Ulster County budget is almost $15 million. The projected added revenue from a one per cent increase in the county sales tax is in the neighborhood of $4 million.

The Freeman feels that a sales tax is the most painless way of taking money from the pocketbooks and pockets of the taxpayers.

A sales tax is just what the name implies. You pay only for something you purchase and only for how much you purchase. It's a tax that is fair to everyone and it's a tax that you pay as you buy.

An example of what the one per cent sales tax hike would do for a taxpayer instead of raising the property tax shows why The Freeman is behind a sales tax increase.

If a person is paying $400 in property taxes, his proposed increase, according to the preliminary 1976 budget figures, would be $200. However, if a one per cent sales tax were added, that same person would have to spend $20 thousand on purchases during the year to match that $200 increase.

When the legislature adopts its budget for '76, The Freeman is hopeful the additional sales tax will be implemented. It will prove to be beneficial, not only now but in years to come.

The UCCC Library

While considering the tax hike, the legislature should also begin an immediate investigation of the closing of the Macdonald DeWitt Library on the campus of Ulster County Community College.

Why, after being in operation for only eight years, was the library forced to close because of so-called "structural cracks?"

Those who were around eight years ago will recall the heated argument involving the library. The initial problem was the selection of Augustus R. Schrowang and Associates of Kingston as the architect. At that time, it was thought by many that other architects, much more aware of the college's construction needs, were available.

The other dispute brought a work stoppage at the site. It involved the use of non-union-made Virginia brick in campus buildings. The suggestion was that locally manufactured brick by union men were "in every way as good as the out-of-state brick."

The Freeman doesn't know the answers as to whether or not the architect did his job correctly or whether or not the Virginia brick was as good as that produced in Ulster County.

However, The Freeman insists that a thorough investigation be conducted immediately to determine whether this library can be used again. If it can't, a probe must be made to find out what negligence was involved in its construction.

It's hard to believe that a modern library building, situated in the heart of a modern college campus, has to be closed after only eight years of operation.

The legislature has an obligation to taxpayers of the county and to the students and faculty at UCCC to make this complete investigation and to make its results known immediately.

Thanks to the Candidates

Editor, The Freeman:

We, the 7th and 8th Grade students of the Immaculate Conception School in Kingston, would like to publicly thank Mayor Koenig, Mr. Darling, Mr. Singer, Mr. Gallo, Mrs. Kolts, Mr. DeCicco, Mr. Spada, Mr. Machione, and Mr. Perry for their appearance to our Social Studies class prior to Election Day.

We invited the candidates of our local area to speak to us or to send information about their campaign and the political office they were seeking. These above candidates chose to come to us in person. They were most generous with their time and very informative about the structure of our local government, the American political party system and their individual campaign techniques and philosophies.

These candidates proved to us what fine human beings they are, dedicated to serve the people of our community. We congratulate all those who won in this year's election. We hope those that lost will continue their fine efforts to bring better government to the people.

Thank you all for honoring us with your visit to our Social Studies class. It was a memorable experience for all of us.

Sincerely,

Parents Not Notified

Editor, The Freeman:

The Kingston Consolidated School Board has seriously damaged their credibility denying parents who are opposed to Strand III (Mental Health, Family Living, Sex-Ed) the opportunity to air their views.

At the October meeting parents were told that there was no point in discussing Strand III until the syllabus was available. A meeting would be called after they had an opportunity to study the syllabus. Parents, who took the trouble to get the syllabus, carefully scanned "The Daily Freeman" for notice of this meeting. No notice of the meeting was published. Parents attended the next scheduled Board Meeting in November only to sit in shocked silence while the School Board passed Strand III before opening the meeting to the general public.

When asked about this, Miss Jones, Secretary of the School Board, stated that "The Paper" was notified. This was not true. Subsequently their story changed. The new version was that a paper had been circulated at the October meeting for parents to sign who wanted to attend an open hearing on Strand III. This did not happen.

Parents, leaving their name and address for the syllabus, were not notified of this meeting.

In spite of this, Mr. Salzmann, Superintendent of Schools, is reported to have said: "I don't buy the story that parents didn't have enough input." Apparently Mr. Salzmann or the School Board is not truly interested in what parents think, even when these parents have taken the trouble to attend Board Meetings and have taken the trouble to obtain a copy of the syllabus.

Yours truly,
ROSE APREA

Editor, The Freeman:

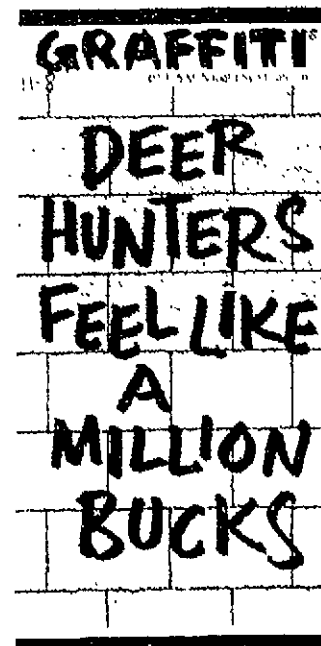

Friends are people who are there when you need them. The Kingston Area Library, in the aftermath of the fire in our Children's Building, has found that we have friends too numerous to count. At this time, we thank one group—the firemen, both paid and volunteer.

Wednesday morning, they extinguished our fire and saved most of our rare book collection. Saturday, they packed thousands of children's books. Sunday, they oved these books to new temporary quarters. Since then, they have organized and participated in a city-wide fund drive.

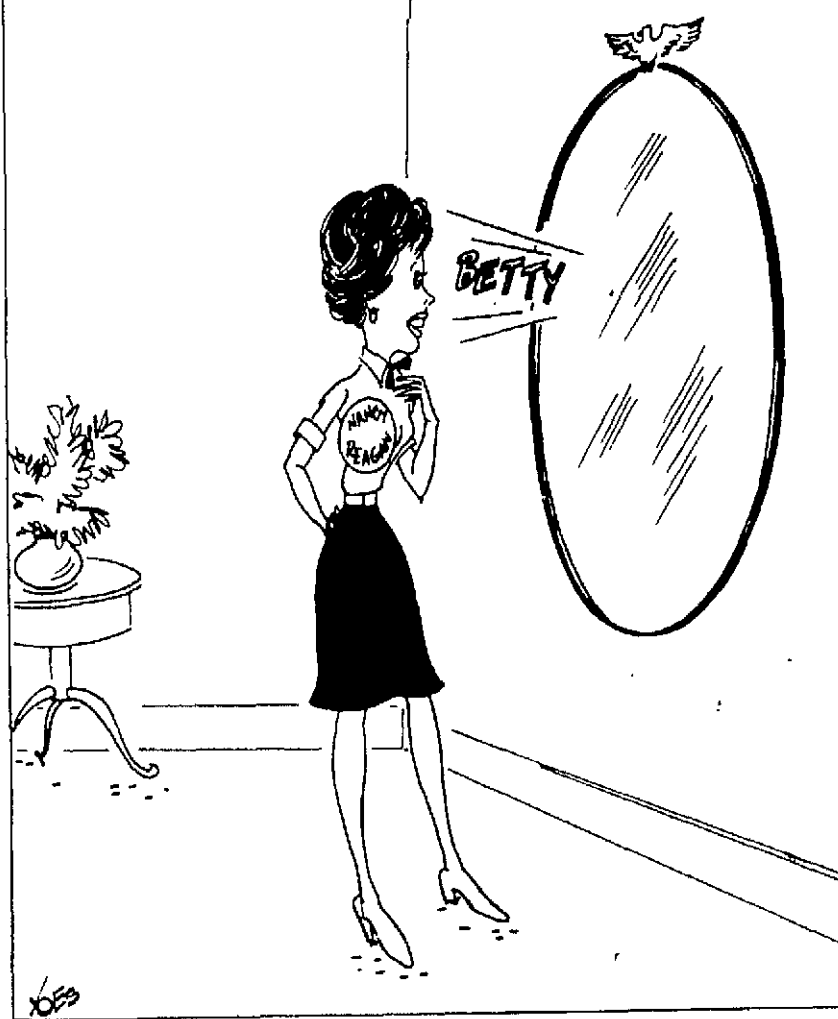

They have worked together in a spirit of brotherhood, united in the common cause of restoring the services of the Children's Library to the people of Kingston.

It is fitting for us to give thanks to these good men for their unselfishness. Because of them, we have much to be grateful for.

Sincerely,

Frisco Revolt

By Rowland Evans
and Robert Novak

SAN FRANCISCO — The unexpected presence in the Dec. 11 mayoral runoff election here of a conservative Republican businessman — lacking organization, funds and even campaigning ability — is the latest evidence of spontaneous voters' revolt, this time in the most liberal of American cities.

Conservative city supervisor John Barbagelata seemingly needs a miracle to win on his anti-labor union platform in this traditionally union town against liberal Democratic state Sen. George Moscone. But discontent over strikes by police and firemen here and fear of going the way of New York are strong enough to provide the ingredients of that miracle.

There is no need for a victory by Barbagelata, however, to show that San Francisco is deeply influenced by the harsh new realities in big city politics. While unmistakably the candidate of labor and the left, Moscone is gingerly edging away from them and, if he gets to city hall, almost surely will disappoint them. Here, as elsewhere, the twin menaces of municipal bankruptcy and deepening crime are revolutionizing politics.

INTENSIVE TRENDS

These trends had to be intense to reach San Francisco, easily carried by Sen. George McGovern in 1972. With a national reputation for permissiveness, it is the only city where homosexual support is openly courted by candidates. Moscone is the archetypal San Francisco liberal of the 1970s — an early McGovern booster, foe of capital punishment and the Vietnam war, reflexively identified with all liberal causes.

In this environment, Barbagelata was expected to run fifth in a five-man field in the Nov. 4 non-partisan election. While often described as a Reagan Republican, he has met Ronald Reagan only twice in his life and is really a non-political businessman who first entered politics with his 1969 election to the 11-member board of supervisors. He gives few political speeches, does little hand-shaking and is remarkably short on the staples of politics — smiles, small talk, organization and money.

Conventional politicians have all manner of sophisticated explanations for Barbagelata running second Nov. 4. Certainly he benefited from the police-fire strike and lameduck Mayor Joseph Alioto's capitulation to their demands.

But his appeal runs deeper. His opposition to rapacious demands of municipal unions ("they are destroying our cities"), busing and lax measures against street crime strikes a responsive chord with middle-class whites who live in San Francisco neighborhoods never visited by tourists.

As the ally of organized labor and the liberal Burton machine (run by Congressmen Phil and John Burton), Moscone would seem the antithesis of Barbagelata. Like Alioto, the bedrock of his support is welfare recipients, minorities and civil servants. But, in private, Moscone on fiscal affairs and crime is not all that different from his conservative opponent.

While Moscone aides expect a rout in the Dec. 11 runoff and rejoice that their victim is a Reaganite ("I just love it," one enthusiastically told us), Moscone in private feels the Nov. 4 election brought home a sober warning of taxpayer revolt.

Accordingly, Moscone has quietly modified his tactics. While begging out of a meeting of black leaders earlier in the week, he spent last Saturday night hand-shaking through the middle-class Sunset section carried by Barbagelata. Told by one adviser to divorce his left constituency but not inform them of the divorce, Moscone likely will have some unpleasant surprises for his supporters if he is elected: crackdowns on municipal unions, budget trimming and reorganization of San Francisco's widely criticized police force.

With Moscone thus trimming his sails in the face of middle-class antagonism, the Dec. 11 runoff would seem even more of a one-sided affair. The handsome 44-year-old Moscone campaigns tirelessly against an opponent who scarcely seems visible. Rather than make public appearances, the 56-year-old Barbagelata, acting as his own campaign manager, spends hours writing and rewriting campaign flyers which he prints on his own $800 printing press run by his 18-year-old son.

The Attitude For the Job

Dusk leads a short life in Jamaica. The late sun disappears, taking with it all the sloping green of the mountains and the lime green of Ocho Rios Bay. For a moment, the world is veiled violet, then there is darkness and a star appears.

Glaister Hales and I sat on a small aluminum porch on the 10th floor of the Inter-Continental. We had been talking about his job as director of personnel at the hotel. The magic of evening came, and we fell silent. On the far side of the bay, the lights of a sugar ship tossed red and green paths on the water.

Hales likes his work. He is Jamaican, 44, with skin like polished ebony. He interviewed hundreds of men and women to staff the hotel. He never permits his intelligence to get in the way of good manners.

Not For Me

I told him I wouldn't work in a hotel at any time. People who pay high prices for room and meals become angry. If it rains, they blame it on the front desk. Or the waiter.

They leave "Do Not Disturb" signs on doorknobs and forget to remove them.

The steak is too hot or too cold. The room maids move all the toiletries to the work side of the basin.

Hales has a rich smile. With attitude, I could hardly be hired a one of the 250 persons working in the hotel. When he hires, his interviews are low-key, pleasant. His brown eyes study appearance.

He listens for signs of innate courtesy. The only thing more important than job training, he feels, is attitude. A man or woman working in a hotel must want to serve people.

The ship was moored to the dock now. Long pale stalks of sugar cane would come roaring down a chute from the mountains and fill the holds of the vessel. She would be standing out to sea by mid-morning because another hungry ship would be coming in.

It is sometimes more difficult. Hales says, to get the proper employees than it is to get guests. "I believe in service without servility," he says, "We Jamaicans walk erect."

Jamaica is a nation among a commonwealth of nations and it trickles to no one. The waiters are all literate and

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Engineering Downfall of Agnew

By Jack Anderson with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—For the first time, it is now possible to trace the strange twists of history that put Gerald Ford in the White House. If ex-Vice President Spiro Agnew hadn't been caught taking petty bribes from Maryland contractors, he would be President today. If ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally hadn't become ensnared in the milk scandal, he would have been named as Agnew's replacement and would now be sitting in the oval office in Ford's place. We have obtained the amazing, behind-the-scenes story from sources close to both Agnew and ex-President Richard Nixon. We have spoken, for example with Charles Colson who was the intermediary between Nixon and Agnew. We have also had access to the page proofs of Colson's unpublished book, "Born Again," which discusses Agnew's downfall.

As Agnew's friends relate the story, the then-Vice President learned in early 1972 that President Nison wanted to replace him on the ticket with Connally.

Colson got the same impression from the President who confided that Connally was "one guy who could take over my job." The two men became so close that, after Connally's departure from government to recoup his finances, Nixon quietly intervened to help him with some oil deals in the Middle East, Colson recalls.

But Agnew had a strong, stubborn following among conservative Republicans. To replace him with a lifelong Democrat, Nixon feared, would cause a Republican rebellion. "Could I appoint a Democrat?" Nixon asked Colson. Then, answering his own question, the President said: "No, I can't do it."

Less than a week after their Nov. 7, 1972, reelection, Nixon summoned Agnew to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md. Apparently, Agnew thought he was being invited for a celebration; he was unprepared for the brutal session that followed.

The President informed him bluntly that the White House staff would exercise tighter control over his operation. His budget would be cut and his activities curtailed, Agnew was told. In short, the triumphant Nixon served notice that he intended to keep his Vice President on a short leash.

Afterward, the President confided to an aide: "I was really surprised at the way Agnew buckled under. I would never have taken that." Agnew returned from Camp David with a new impression also of Nixon. "He is the coldest fish I ever met," Agnew remarked to a friend.

True to his word, Nixon clamped down on the Vice President who was treated thereafter like a minor functionary. He was told whom to fire and whom to keep on his staff. The humiliated Agnew was even obliged to ask a Nixon aide, Alexander Haig, for transportation and other perquisites.

The Vice President also had to clear his overseas travel with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Once Agnew wanted to visit his ancestral home in Greece, but Kissinger refused permission.

It was February, 1973, that Agnew first got wind that a federal grand jury was investigating him. He suspected immediately that Nixon was behind it. As Agnew confided darkly to friends, he expected Nixon to use the threat of indictment to black mail him into giving up the vice presidency to Connally.

Colson insists that President Nixon had no such plot in mind, although he ended up trying to push Agnew out and to bring Connally in. Colson claims that the President never instigated the Agnew investigation, and, in fact, never even learned about it until April 1973.

Nixon's first reaction was to come to Agnew's aid simply to spare his Administration from further embarrassment. On April 13, 1973, he asked Colson, who had left the White House to practice law, to help Agnew.

Not until September, according to Colson, did he get a suggestion from the White House that Agnew should resign.

The President warned Colson: "There is no way Agnew can escape indictment. It is time for him to make a deal."

The removal of Agnew, Nixon indicated to Colson, would take some of the heat off himself from Watergate. Colson contended, on the contrary, that a crippled Vice President would be his best insurance against impeachment.

On September 23, Nixon was back on the phone to Colson. "God," said the President, "how I wish it would all go away, but Ted (Agnew) doesn't understand the problem. He has got the best deal he can ever make. It is all boiled down to one income tax problem."

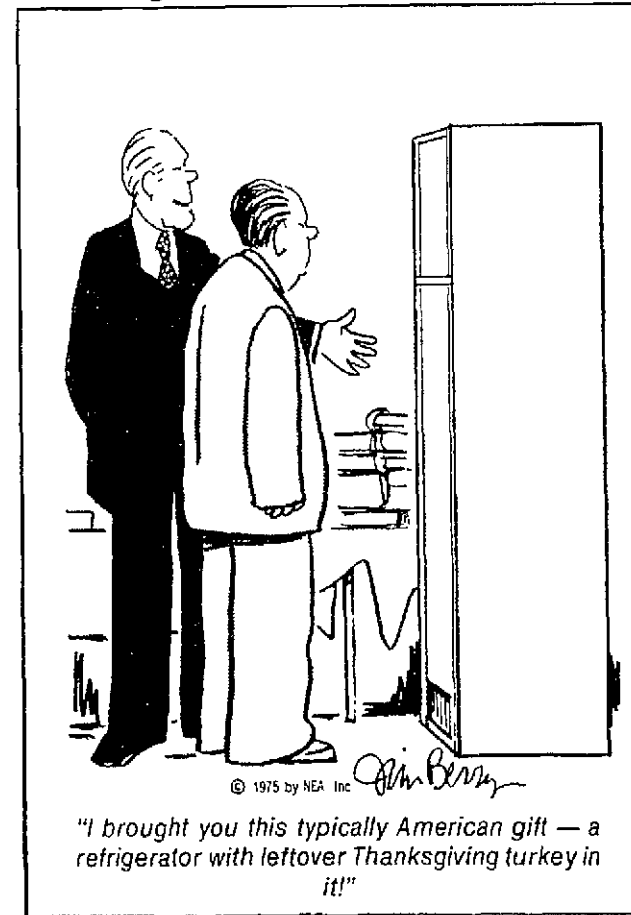

Colson said his client was worried about going to prison. "He should have no fear about that," assured Nixon. "That can be taken care of."

For the first time, Colson put the proposition straight to Agnew on September 24. He had no support in the White House; his situation was deteriorating fast; maybe it was time to make a deal.

Agnew angrily rejected the idea. "I am innocent," he swore. "I am going to stick it out. I don't give a damn. I was elected just like the President was." But Agnew's attempts to force a showdown on Capitol Hill, according to Colson, were undercut by the White House itself.

The President still had Connally in mind as Agnew's replacement said Colson, until Connally came under investigation for allegedly taking a bribe from dairymen. In desperation, Nixon turned to Gerald Ford to be his new Vice President.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

November 28, 1775:

Congress designates Benjamin Harrison of Virginia, Benjamin Franklin of Pennsylvania, Thomas Johnson of Maryland, John Dickinson of Pennsylvania and Delaware, and John Jay of New York as a secret committee of correspondence. The members, who come to be known as the Committee of Five, are instructed to correspond "with our friends in Great Britain, Ireland, and other parts of the world, and [to] lay their correspondence before Congress when directed." Among its members, only Franklin has any diplomatic experience. The primary conduit to the committee becomes Charles Dumas — a Swiss journalist and a long-time friend of Franklin — in the Hague. Dumas gathers his information, puts it into an intricate code that he devises, and forwards it to the Committee.

Yusman Aman: Malaysia's Pride

PETALING JAYA, Malaysia (UPI) — Yueman Aman never gave up. As one of ten children in a poverty-stricken Malay family, his overworked parents couldn't pay much attention to his artistic inclinations. There was no money to send him to art school, despite his obvious talent.

Discouraged, he dropped out of school. Family and friends scoffed at his dreams. He had no money, financial backing or training.

Yusman moved with his family to Singapore from what is now Malaysia and got a job as a commercial artist. After his first successful show, he returned to his homeland in 1972 with one goal — to capture in art the land and Malay people he loved.

The years of quiet disappointment have ended for Yusman Aman. Today Yusman, 38, has become Malaysia's pride, the master of batik, Asia's exacting art of pattern dyeing.

Still boyish looking, Yusman's paintings of dark-haired Malaysian women, native villages, lush jungles and bold, colorful abstracts reflecting what he calls the "new Malaysia," have achieved international stature.

"It's interesting that Asians prefer the abstracts and Americans and Europeans like the figures," Yusman said.

Yusman today lives with his wife and four children in a comfortable home in this town just outside Kuala Lumpur.

The house is crammed with his work, which he says shows "pride in my heritage and desire to expose the general beauty of the Malaysian culture."

Traditional batik involves a long and difficult process. The artist masks parts of a fabric with hot wax, then dyes it in colored dye. He repeats the process for each color, rewaxing before each dunking to create the beautiful patterns of the genre.

Yusman was working as a commercial artist in Singapore in 1967 when, "deciding the time was right after all that waiting, and noticing an increase in support for art," he turned to batik.

"It wasn't easy," Yusman said. "For nearly 12 months I experimented and practiced with batik techniques, obtaining different effects."

His first one-man show was held in Singapore and brought him instant acclaim. He has since given many solo shows there and countless exhibitions in Kuala Lumpur.

His successes have led to an exhibit in Melbourne, Australia, a place in the Adelaide (Australia) Festival of Arts and a commission from the First National Bank of Chicago to paint a mural for their

Yusman has become the only Malaysian artist financially successful enough to afford his own gallery, where he sells his works for between $96 and $320.

He plans shows in Sweden, West Germany and Australia in 1976, and mentions the possibility of an exhibit in the United States.

Yusman attributes his growing popularity to "God, confidence and hard work." It takes a week for him to produce one of his vivid, intricate batiks.

"I start with a white cotton

cloth and cover the parts I want to remain white with wax," Yusman said. "Then instead of dipping in a vat, I paint the basic colors of dye with a brush."

"Batik lends itself to more flexibility and creativity and provides excellent textures which I cannot hope to achieve in other mediums," Yusman said. "However batik is most exacting. It is very hard if not impossible to correct a mistake."

Yusman said he mostly uses Malaysian women as his subjects "because their beauty reflects the beauty of Malaysia."

His abstracts almost always depict his impressions of the massive building and dynamic spirit of Malaysia and the bustle of Kuala Lumpur.

"Once I looked toward political themes for inspiration," Yusman said, "but now all I have to do is look around me."

His early poverty and his long wait for a chance to show his talent have left him even more determined.

He advises youngsters to "face your talent realistically."

"That takes some bravery. Then try your talent out, and if you know in your heart it's good, don't give up, even if it means decades of waiting for the chance."

Homespun Goes Haut Mode

BRUNSWICK, Maine (UPI) — The label on the thick wool sweater reads "Collab, Maine, U.S.A." It is Maine's newest export, destined for prestigious department stores in Boston, New York and Paris, France.

Aside from the state's famous lobster, it would be hard to find a product more thoroughly Maine in origin.

The wool comes from sheep raised by farmers in the central part of the state. It is spun at a 150-year-old mill in the tiny town of Harmony, north of Skowhegan, knitted by French-speaking women in their homes in Madawaska in the far north of the state and designed by a Brunswick resident in a cottage overlooking the Maine Coast.

Helen Damon, the designer and president of "Collab," began working with Bartlett Yarns of Harmony and the Acadian Crafts Association of Madawaska about a year and a half ago.

They started by making a "Maine hat," a bell-shaped cap that can be pulled and rolled to suit the wearer, and by August Mrs. Damon had a suitcase full of items to show store buyers.

She took it to five leading stores in this country and each ordered several of the items — pullover sweaters for men and women, a kimono-like wraparound, the hats, scarves and a "Maine mitt" with a triggerfinger as well as a thumb. When she went to France in connection with her work as a shoe designer, she took the canvas suitcase along and lugged it into Printemps, one of the two leading department stores in Paris.

"They loved them because they look classic and American," Mrs. Damon said. "The pullover they said was 'trop classique' — too classic — but the kimono they said was 'plus fantasie' — more of a fantasy, and they ordered that."

The French department store also placed an order for some of the mitts, hats and scarves, and Mrs. Damon hurried back to Maine with the order.

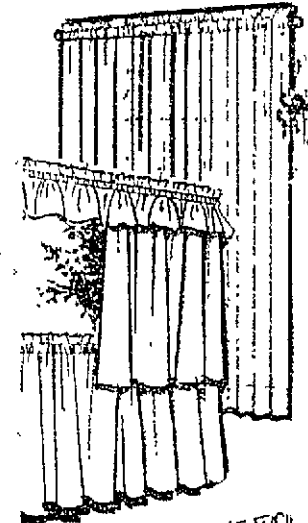

Up in Madawaska, the knitting needles clicked into action, not only to get the export off to Paris on time but, equally important, to complete the work before the potato harvest.

"Some of the ladies have to go picking potatoes during the harvest and others have their families in the fields," said Teresa Violette, who manages the Acadian Crafts Association office. "It's a very busy time."

Congratulations

Members of the Evans family admire the message congratulating Sergeant David T. Evans on his selection as the Air Force's Outstanding Administration Superintendent. With the sergeant are his wife Mary and sons Reggie (L) and Thomas. Another son, David, resides in Mt. Marion Park and a fourth son, Timothy recently graduated from Marine Boot Camp, Parris Island, S. C.

Outstanding Administration Award

HOMESTEAD AFB, Fla. Outstanding leadership, managerial ability and plain hard work led to the selection of MSgt. David T. Evans as the Air Force's Outstanding Administration Superintendent for 1975.

Sergeant Evans is the Chief of Publishing, 31st Combat Support Group, Homestead AFB.

First selected as the Tactical Air Command's outstanding superintendent, Sergeant Evans then competed with nominees from every major Air Force command.

The most significant accomplishments of Sergeant Evans were those that resulted in considerable savings to the Air Force. According to Maj. George H. Holbrook, Chief of Central Base Administration,

Sergeant Evans "... implemented many innovative programs involving the Base Reproduction Section, which decreased the average monthly workload and saved $7,000 a year."

"The new procedures he implemented to reduce the Official Bulletin frequency and content led to an additional $4,000 savings," Major Holbrook continued.

Monetary savings are not the only contributions that have been attributed to Sergeant Evans, however.

"Sergeant Evans' duty performance since his assignment at Homestead has been nothing less than superior," Major Holbrook said. "He came into a situation with manning problems and inconsistencies and shaped it into the best Publications Branch I have ever seen."

Honors are no stranger to Sergeant Evans. His 23-year Air Force career has seen the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross, Bronze Star Medal, Air Medal and Air Force Commendation Medal. He has served in two combat areas, Korea and Vietnam.

He served as a gunner on B-26 aircraft in Korea and his duties in Vietnam involved administration.

Married to the former Mary

Coats of Savannah, Ga., they have four sons. David, 27, is married and lives in Mt. Marion Park; Timothy, 18, recently graduated from Marine Boot Camp at Parris Island, S.C.; Reggie, 15, and Thomas, 13, reside at home.

Area Navy Graduates

Recruits who trained at Orlando are Seaman Recruit Maryann F. McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McCarthy of Route 213, Olivebridge; Dentalman Recruit Vincent J. Carpino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J.

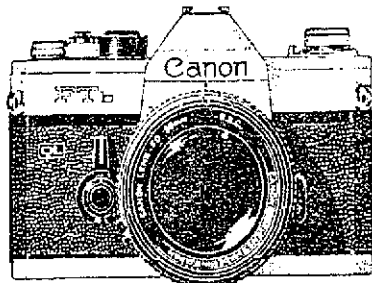

Carpino Sr. of 137 Washington Avenue, Kingston; Hospitalman Apprentice Kurt Grosshans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grosshans of 10 Orchard Lane, New Paltz; Fireman Recruit Clifford T. Knudsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Knudsen of High Falls and Fireman Michael J. Mahoney III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Mahoney Jr. of Stone Ridge.

A Super Snipper

The new Para-Med scissors from Simulaid Inc. of Woodstock are now available, deceptively simple in design, but able to cut through, without strain, such things as seat belts, blankets, canvas, heavy outer clothing, cardboard, thick plastic and adhesive, wire, sheet metal, zippers, layers of tough bandages and other items often encountered by rescue and para-medical personnel. The president of Simulaid Inc. is Kevin Sweeney of Woodstock.

Rare Plants

Gertrude Villard, widow of noted writer Paul Villard, is now operating the Green Growery at 229 Partition Street in Saugerties, specializing in ferns, bromeliads and succulents. Mrs. Villard, who became interested in rare and exotic flora during a six-year sojourn in Hawaii before she came to Saugerties a dozen years ago, said she is trying to create an interest in the types of plants her shop offers because they make good house plants and are not really difficult to grow. As evidence that the plants are not difficult to grow, most of those in the shop were grown by Mrs. Villard in her home. (Freeman photo)

Hercules Contributes

Melissa Miller, age 4, representing the Association for Retarded Children, picks winning pledge cards in the lottery at Hercules Inc.'s Port Ewen works. Looking on are United Way Chairman David Dittman, who is also supervisor of industrial relations at Hercules, and Robert Reip, president of the Hercules Employees Charities Fund. The lottery winners received gift certificates sponsored by Hercules to stimulate participation in the charities fund. The fund raised $8,260 this year to support United Way, the Heart Fund, the Cancer Crusade, the March of Dimes, Multiple Sclerosis and the TB and RD Association. United Way received $5,200 from this fund, along with a Hercules corporate gift of $1,500.

BUFFALO
Marine Midland Banks Inc. has reported that approval has been received from the Federal Reserve Board to merge together the 10 Marine Midland banks on Jan. 1.

Edward W. Duffy, chairman of Marine Midland's board, said "We are gratified at this successful achievement of our goal to become New York's first statewide bank."

In a separate action, the company stated that in the fourth quarter of 1975 it plans to charge-off loans of approximately $25 million and to increase its reserves for possible future loan losses by charging fourth quarter expense approximately $40 million. This will produce an earnings loss in the fourth quarter and sharply reduce earnings for 1975.

To increase capital through retained income the Board of Directors of the bank holding company declared a quarterly dividend at a reduced rate of 20 cents per common share.

The prior quarterly rate was 45c per common share. The new quarterly dividend is payable Jan. 2 to shareholders of record Dec. 5.

Oil Fingerprints Identify Foulers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal enforcers of pollution laws can "fingerprint" oil now in a technique to help them find out who fouls the sea.

The most visible recent use of new methods of identifying oil from spills came in a 16-week investigation that picked one suspected tanker out of 247 possibilities in connection with a Florida oil spill.

The master of the suspected polluter was arrested and charges were filed against the company that owned the vessel. The charge: the ship illegally dumped 5,000 gallons of crude oil into the ocean not far from the shoreline of Key West.

The heart of the investigative technique is a scientific tool that has long been used for other things — chromatography. It consists of separating the parts of a mixture or solution by allowing it to flow over a medium, usually in a column. As the parts in effect adhere to parts of the column, they can be identified.

In the case of oil, gas chromatography is used: an inert gas pushes the oil sample along the column. The compounds that make up oil, such as hydrocarbons, aromatics, sulphurs and asphalts, "stick" to the long column at different places and for different periods.

Detectors find out what compounds are in the oil in what proportions and a strip chart records the places and times the compounds show up on the graph. The chart, with peaks and valleys something like a cardiogram, becomes the "fingerprint" of the oil.

Chemist Dennis G. Revell, of the Environmental Protection Agency's laboratory in Athens, Ga., says the chart is about as distinctive as a fingerprint because "various oils have different proportions and different types" of components.

Generally, the Coast Guard does the police work, taking samples of oil from a spill, checking tankers' logs for times and places on their routes, and then taking samples of oil from the tankers who may have been in the area of the spill.

The samples go to the EPA laboratories — there are various ones around the country — for the gas chromatographic analysis. There, the chemists can match up the chart from the spilled oil with the chart for a certain suspect.

Revell says the technique came into frequent use only with the recent years' increase in concern about oil spills. To supplement what the analysis tells chemists about the makeup of oil, he says, there is a separate technique for identifying the concentrations of nickel and vanadium in oil.

Floating in the ocean may dilute the oil or break it down somewhat, Revell says, but the ratio of nickel and vanadium in each type remains the same.

Most of incidents of ocean oil pollution come from unauthorized pumping of bilges, the EPA says. But of course, the more spectacular spills come from tanker collisions and breakups, which are much less frequent.

For investigators, finding the source of illegal — as opposed to accidental — spills is a difficult task. "Fingerprinting" oil is only a way to find the possible source of a spill, and not a proof of why the spill occurred.

But, as Lt. Cmdr. John MacDonald of the Coast Guard's pollution enforcement branch says, "The message is, you cannot spill oil in our waters indiscriminately any more. It (the identification technique) is going to make it extremely more difficult to get away with it."

Iowa, Not N.H., Really Where It All Begins

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — New Hampshire has its first-in-the-nation primary Feb. 24, but the first steps in the process of selecting the 1976 Democratic and Republican presidential nominees will begin a month earlier in Iowa.

Campaign staffs have spent weeks planning for 2,600 precinct level caucuses Jan. 19 — the first grass roots test of strength for presidential candidates in the nation.

The precinct caucuses begin a five-month process to elect delegates to the National nominating conventions, although each party will work by its own schedule and actual selection process.

From the outset, the Democratic candidates will be openly contesting for delegates. "The prospective delegates express their preferences at the precinct level," Joe Genereux, a Democratic State Central Committee spokesman said. "At those precinct caucuses, if a candidate has greater than 15 per cent support among those in attendance, he is entitled to a delegate to the county and district conventions."

That puts the burden on the campaign organizations to mobilize their forces as early as possible. Work already has begun to turn out each candidate's maximum support for the precinct caucuses, even though the caucuses will not actually choose delegates to go to the National convention in New York next July 12.

Forty Democratic delegates will be elected at six congressional district conventions April 10 and seven elected at-large at the state convention May 29. But because candidate preference will be expressed at the precinct meetings and be binding on the process at higher levels, a good indication of how the delegation is going to be made up will be available then.

The Democrats' delegate selection process will yield an almost immediate reading of relative candidate strengths in Iowa.

"We'll be able to get real good indications of where the support is," Genereux said. "We're setting up a call-in system that will provide us with almost instantaneous information on the night the caucuses convene Jan. 19. We'll know right away what's going on out there."

The Democrats will hold county meetings March 6, then move on to the district and state conventions.

GOP county conventions are scheduled Feb. 28, but it is not until the district caucuses almost four months later that Republicans actually will select National convention delegates.

outright and will nominate three others to be ratified by the state convention the following day.

Nearly 3,500 GOP delegates will gather in Des Moines to select six at-large delegates to the National convention and give what Brown said amounted to pro forma approval to a slate of 12 others, named by the districts. Combined with those elected directly by the districts, this will make up Iowa's 36-member delegation to the Republican National Convention at Kansas City Aug. 16.

China Trip and Detente

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Kremlin is keeping a careful eye cocked to President Ford's forthcoming visit to Peking, but western diplomat's here say there are no signs the trip will have any deleterious effect on Soviet-American detente.

"Much will depend on the results," one diplomat said, "but if it goes as blandly as it is shaping up, it might even be a plus."

Analysts in Moscow believe that the issues which seriously could affect detente are those that directly involve Washington and Moscow, such as the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) and the proposed visit of Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev to the United States.

Next in importance come situations that involve the two super-powers more obliquely, such as Europe and the Middle East.

"China is far down the list and only if there is a remarkable breakthrough such as the Kissinger visit in the summer of 1971 would the Soviets be seriously concerned," the diplomat said. He referred to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's initial, secret trip to China that paved the way for a visit by former President Richard M. Nixon.

Right now the Soviets seem to be pleased that there are signs of something less than rapport between Washington and Peking, especially on detente.

Soviet newspapers have been playing up rebuttals of the Chinese conception of detente by other Western leaders who have visited there recently, including President Walter Scheel of West Germany and French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues.

"They are happy that others are not buying the Chinese line," an analyst said.

The Soviet leadership has committed itself heavily to detente and has gained much from it. The policy is hailed daily by the government-controlled press.

More than that, any swiftness from detente inevitably would involve dropping its sponsors — primarily party General Secretary Brezhnev — and there are signs the leadership wants or is preparing big changes.

Plans for a Brezhnev summit meeting with Ford are looking more and more fragile as the SALT talks flounder on inconclusively. But the Soviets see no casual connection between a Moscow-Washington summit and a Washington-Peking meeting.

"They are not dependent in any way," an observer said.

The IRS, an IRA, and You.

Just about everyone recognizes IRS as the Internal Revenue Service. You've probably heard about IRA. What do the two mean for you?

IRA is the abbreviation for an Individual Retirement Account. It means that you can save taxes now while saving toward your retirement. Here's how it works:

If you are self employed without a retirement program, or if your present employer does not have a retirement plan for you, you can start your own by opening a special IRA account at Marine Midland. Each year, you can deposit 15% of your earnings, up to $1,500, AND you can deduct the money you save from your income for tax purposes.

As your Marine Midland account balance grows we automatically move your money into the interest-earning account that will give you the highest rate of interest permitted by law, up to 7½% per annum.

Then, when you retire, you can start drawing the money monthly, annually, or even in one lump sum. It's a secure way to plan for your retirement years.

But you should act NOW! If you open your Individual Retirement Account at Marine Midland NOW, before the end of the year, your 1975 deposits will be tax deductible from your 1975 income. Get more information about IRA, the IRS, and you at your nearest Marine Midland office.

Flo Valley Sends Ulster to Losers' Bracket

ESSEX, Md.—A morning practice session and an afternoon sightseeing excursion to Washington, D.C. were on the agenda for Ulster County Community College's soccer team today as they await their third and final game of the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) tournament here Saturday.

Unfortunately for UCCC, that third game, a 10 a.m. meeting with Mitchell, Conn., will not be for the national championship since the Senators were booted into the losers' bracket Thursday by a 3-1 loss at the hands of top-seeded Florissant Valley of St. Louis.

Flo Valley will face Morrisville, N.Y., a 4-0 winner over Mitchell, in Saturday's noon championship battle. The UCCC-Mitchell confrontation will be for third place. In an earlier game Saturday, Mercer, N.J., will play Essex, Md., for fifth place. Mercer beat Belleville, Ill., 5-2, and Essex outlasted Miami-Dade, Fla., 3-2 in sudden death overtime, in Thursday action.

Ulster coach George Vizvary was predictably disappointed following his team's loss Thursday but he bowed to the talent of the superior Flo Valley Club.

"In the second half they started to play like Florissant Valley can play," the erudite Senator coach said. "They applied constant pressure. They were always in the right position. They had poise and momentum."

"We were victims of a mechanical, well-oiled, colorless but efficient team."

In the first half, however, Ulster had the tournament favorites on the ropes.

"We had them for 42 minutes," Vizvary related. "We were leading 1-0 and we had been able to control them by double-teaming their players. On the other side, we had several shots that went over or outside the net, but things were going like we wanted them to."

"The turning point, I think came at the 42 minute mark," he continued. "Before that time, twice Florissant Valley players had hand balls in the penalty area and the official refused to call the penalty. But at the 42 minute mark, we had a hand ball, it was called, and they got a penalty kick."

After Mark Darrow kicked the penalty past goalie Leo Lynch to tie the score, the momentum shifted to Flo Valley. The Missourians scored early in the second half on a goal by Jim Roth at 1:35, kept the pressure on and finally iced the victory at 42:55, Roth scoring off a corner kick.

"The first goal of the second half made the final result academic," said Vizvary. "We had one or two dangerous opportunities and we proved that Flo Valley was not infallible. But I must bow to the superior team. We lost to a better team."

Vizvary admitted that had Oscar Rendon's goal at 24:00 of the first half (assisted by Paul Roncar) for Ulster been followed by the one or two penalty kicks he feels his club should have been awarded, things might have been different. But he quickly added that his club didn't entirely deserve to win.

"The team played up to standard, but not up to potential," analyzed Vizvary. "We did not display the kind of speed we had during the regionals in either game here."

Braxton Steals the Show From Pair of Glamour Backs

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Big Jim Braxton certainly stole the show from what might have been the season's key matchup of two of pro football's most exciting running backs.

But without any false modesty, Braxton gave thanks on Thanksgiving Day to his supporting cast—the injury-racked Buffalo Bills' defense that had been ranked next to last in the AFC.

"The defense gets much of the credit," he said. "Their effort is what gave me a chance to get the ball so much."

The 242-pound fullback, who normally blocks while O.J. Simpson runs, had three touchdowns and 160 yards rushing Thursday as the Bills battered the St. Louis Cardinals, 32-14. Buffalo, 7-4 and trailing only the Miami Dolphins, retains hope of a playoff spot in the AFC East.

The Cardinals fell to 8-3, giving Dallas, 7-3, an opportunity to move into a tie for first place in the NFC East when the Cowboys entertain the New York Giants Sunday.

The humiliation of the Cardinals before a national television audience extended to their allpurpose running back, Terry Metcalf, who had rushed for 686 yards on 137 carries entering the game. Buffalo held Metcalf to an astonishing seven rushing yards in five carries.

The Cardinals kept Simpson in check by limiting him to 85 rushing yards in 23 carries. He had a 1,394-yard total prior to the game.

However, St. Louis seemed to have forgotten about Braxton, letting him carry the ball 34 times in the best performance of his five-year career.

"I don't mind letting someone else get the spotlight as long as we win," Simpson said.

Braxton said he had expected the game to be "full of scoring. I was only hoping we would be outscoring St. Louis."

That task proved to be no problem for the Bills, thanks to

We were hesitating, not attacking the ball.

"Against some of the teams in our region, you can be haphazard and win. You just can't do that against the competition here, mainly because they won't let you do that."

Ulster, an inexperienced team that has had a Cinderella season, has come a long way. But Vizvary's Senators aren't quite at the top yet.

FREE KICKS—In losing their first game of the season, Ulster lost the statistical battle as well, also for the first time. The Senators were outshot, 22-14; Flo Valley had eight corner kicks to UCCC's two, and Lynch made 11 saves to Matt McVey's three.

Scouts are all over the place, but tournament rules prohibit them from bothering the players until they've finished competition. Ulster is headquartered in Towson, Md., some nine miles from the tournament site. . . . Following the championship game Saturday, an awards ceremony is scheduled. If it ends early enough, UCCC will return home in the evening. If not, the club will motor back Sunday morning.

Rams In Line for Another Shot at Title

The Rams made the playoffs Thanksgiving Day by clinching their third consecutive NFC Western Division title with a 20-0 victory over the Detroit Lions. Quarterback James Harris threw three touchdown passes, two to Harold Jackson.

"It was a good win for us," Coach Chuck Knox said after Los Angeles raised its record to 9-2, "especially since it came in a short work week."

"It was a great tribute to our team," he said. "They came in to play, to wrap up the championship, and they did it."

Detroit saw its record slip to 6-5 with its second loss in five days, a defeat that clinched the NFC Central Division crown for the unbeaten Minnesota Vikings. The Lions had considered themselves contenders for a wild card playoff berth until two games ago.

"The winners could do no wrong," lamented Coach Rick Forzano of Detroit, which suffered its last shutout loss by a identical score to the Washington Redskins in a Thanksgiving game two years ago.

The Rams, who had two shutouts last season, only let the Lions across the middle of the field three times in the game—once in the first half and twice in the fourth quarter—in recording their first shutout this season.

Knox had built a game plan on Detroit's predilection for blitzing its linebackers and defensive backs.

"We were set for them," Harris said. "We were prepared to throw if they red-dogged."

"We expected them to red-dog," Knox said, "so consequently we threw a lot on first down. The 'dog' is designed to stop the run."

Harris threw 10 times on 24 first down opportunities but completed only three for 62 yards. One of them was his 38-yard touchdown strike to Jackson, which cinched the game with 9:24 to play.

That pass to Jackson came after Knox bravely ordered his team to go for a first down on fourth down at the Lions' 41. Harris dove over the line for three yards and Jackson beat cornerback Levi Johnson for a touchdown for the second time in the game on the next play. Detroit was blitzing on the play.

Jackson beat Johnson in the third quarter to give Los Angeles some breathing room. The Detroit cornerback, already beaten, gambled to deflect the ball and never saw Jackson trot 17 yards into the end zone.

That pass and Harris' 11-yard strike to former Lion Ron Jessie in the first quarter came on second down. The Rams tried to pass seven times on their 21 second down situations.

Harris threw 24 passes and completed 11 for 157 yards, with Jackson getting 106 yards out of five of them.

Joe Reed completed 11 of his 26 tosses for 117 yards but he was only 6-of-15 for 53 yards through the first three quarters and was intercepted twice.

The first interception was the one Forzano felt really hurt. Bill Simpson made it, his fifth, right on the goal line in the second quarter as Detroit looked like it might be making a move to tie the game.

The second, which Dave Elmendorf got after Jack Reynolds tipped it, halted a Lions' drive near midfield after the kickoff opening the second half.

The Lions' inability to move and their ability to get penalties, 10 of them for a total of 63 yards, drew boos and a couple of snowballs from the 69,552 fans who spurned bad weather to attend.

A four-inch overnight snowfall plus the fact the sold-out game was televised locally induced 11,086 fans to stay in the comfort of their homes. It was the first contest where the dome on the $55.7 Pontiac Stadium enabled the game to be played in better than natural conditions.

A Much-Improved Image For Georgia's Defense

By UPI

Georgia's "Junkyard Dogs" defense will be taking a vastly improved image to the Cotton Bowl.

Maligned at times this season when it had trouble containing opponents, the Georgia defense was outstanding for nearly three quarters Thursday night while spearheading the 14th-ranked Bulldogs to a nationally televised 42-26 victory over Georgia Tech.

Don't let Tech's 26 points mislead you. They came in the final period after Georgia had built a 42-point lead and when Coach Vince Dooley was letting his reserves mop up.

The regular Georgia defense recovered three fumbles, intercepted a pass and blocked a punt in the first half while sparking the Bulldogs to a 28-0 lead.

"Everything went our way and we took advantage of it," said Dooley. "I don't know how you can play much better."

Georgia's victory over Georgia Tech highlighted a light Thanksgiving college schedule that included Temple's 41-3 rout of Villanova and C.W. Post's 9-6 win over Hofstra.

There are two college headliners on television today. Second-ranked Texas A&M meets fifth-ranked Texas today and 16th-ranked UCLA meets Southern Cal tonight.

If Texas wins today, the Longhorns would get the Southwest Conference championship and the Cotton Bowl berth opposite Georgia. If the Aggies win, they still must beat 17th-ranked Arkansas next week to win the title and the bowl bid.

If UCLA wins tonight, it will represent the Pac-8 in the Rose Bowl opposite top-ranked Ohio State. If Southern Cal wins, the league title and Rose Bowl berth go to California.

Saturday's top game pairs eighth-ranked Arizona State against 11th-ranked Arizona for the Western Athletic Conference crown and a Fiesta Bowl date with Nebraska. Also on Saturday's schedule there's traditional rivalries—Army-Navy, Alabama-Auburn, Tennessee-

Vanderbilt, Florida-Miami and Rutgers-Syracuse.

Georgia, 9-2, scored in the opening minutes Thursday night after intercepting a pass on the opening play of the game. But the Bulldogs actually broke the game open in the second period when they erupted for 21 points.

In that period, Glynn Harrison, who ran for 139 yards although playing less than 20 minutes, had a 78-yard touchdown run; Lawrence Craft scored on a 20-yard fumble return; and the Bulldogs punched in a third touchdown after blocking a Tech punt.

"As far as I am concerned, the turning point came when we fumbled right after (Bucky) Shamburger had put us in good position with a 68-yard run," said Tech Coach Pepper Rodgers. "We had taken the momentum and gave it back. We gave them the ball four times in the first half. They bounced one up there and we couldn't even get that one."

Georgia Tech, 7-4, had only three first downs the first three periods but the Yellow Jackets put on a belated offensive show in the final period when they scored four touchdowns, three by reserve quarterback Rudy Allen.

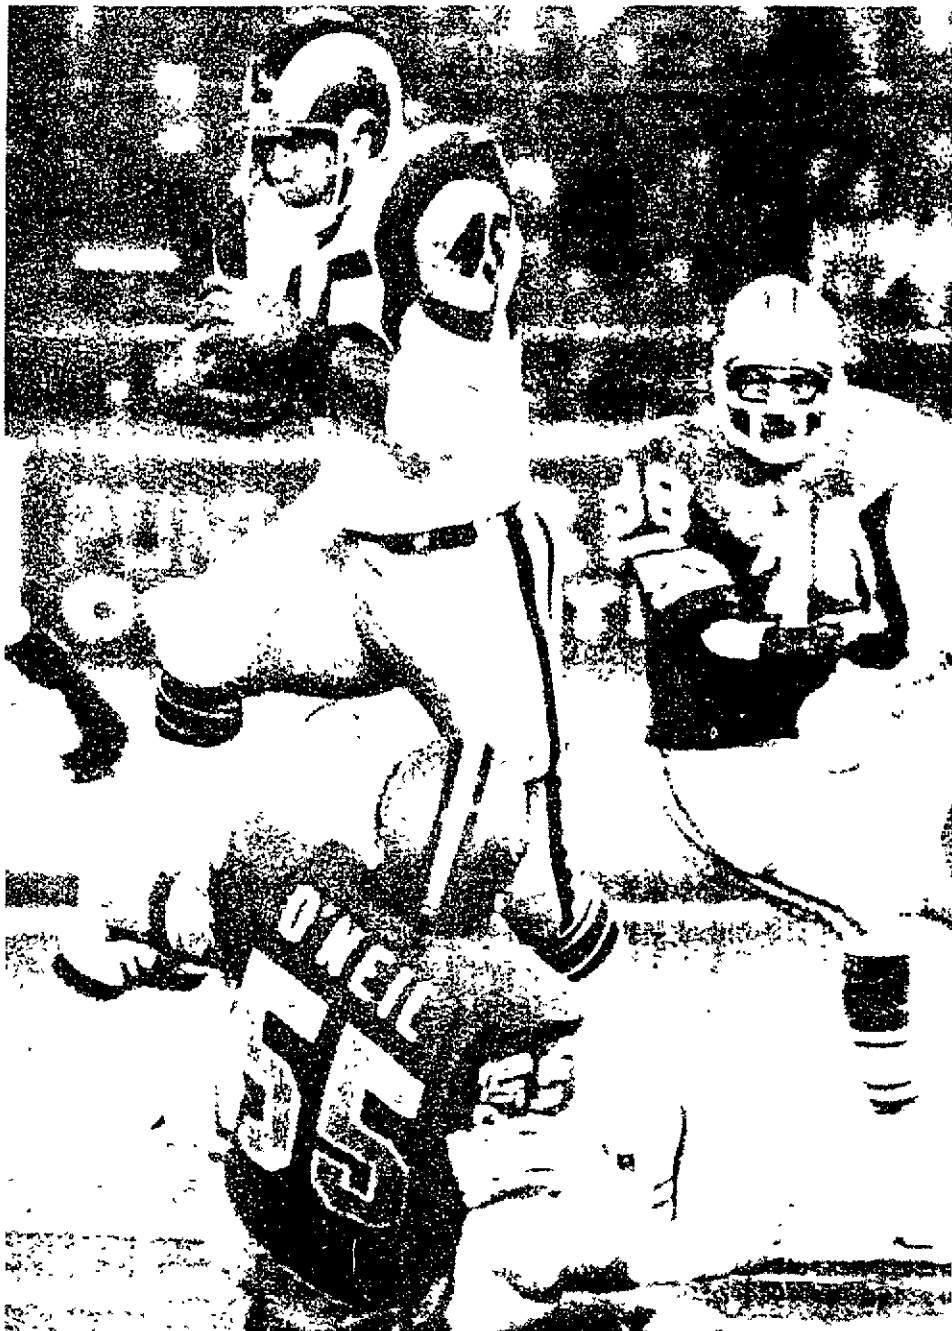

"In the final period we were playing second stringers," said Dooley. "But, to Tech's credit, they came back and made a little hair."

"I think we played great in the fourth quarter," said Rodgers. "That was something to come back as far as we did from 42-0."

Temple's Don Bitterlich kicked two field goals and five extra points Thursday and, in the process, set six NCAA kicking records.

The senior, a soccer player who never played football before three years ago, set national records for most field goals in a season (21), most points in a season by kicking (95), most consecutive extra points (87), most points per game by a kicker (7.1), most field goals per game in a season (1.9), and most career points by kicking (220).

Georgia's Allan Leavitt, with six extra points Thursday night, set a SEC record of 61 straight

Will Army Offense Move?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Army hopes to find its lost, or "ghost," offense but will have a tough time doing that against defense-minded Navy when the two teams meet Saturday in the 76th renewal of the service academy rivalry.

Navy, ranked third in the nation in over-all defense, takes a 6-4 record into the game. Army, riddled by injuries most of the season, is 2-8 and has not scored in the last two meetings of the teams.

Army coach Homer Smith said the Cadets started out like a "house afire," winning their first two games and scoring 98 points, but then came the injuries and losses in the next eight games.

Army had to adjust its offense and insert sophomore Leamon Hall at quarterback after Scott Gillogly, the senior, got hurt in a 67-14 loss to Stanford.

Smith said Gillogly, who has never beaten Navy, "is getting well."

"Now we have the dilemma of what to do all over again," said Smith, who switched from a predominately wishbone attack to increased use of the formation to utilize Hall's talent.

"But it's a delightful sort of dilemma," Smith said.

The return of Gillogly has created what Navy assistant coach Steve Belachic called a "ghost offense" for Army.

"There are things they might do but we don't know what," said Belachic, who coached Army for the past four weeks.

Navy, with a defense led by rover back Pat Muller and in offense facilitated by fullback Bob Jackson of Lindenwood, N.J., is a 20-point favorite in the game, which played to 83,000 fans last year at John F. Kennedy Stadium.

Navy, which won 19-0 last year and 51-0 in 1973, is winding up its best season since 1963 when the Middies went to the Cotton Bowl.

But despite the difference in the records of the two teams, Navy coach George Welsh says the game will be a "horse race."

We must be ready for the game. We know Army will be, he said.

The Middies, who lost two games by one point, had been considered for the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., but ruled out any bid last week because of academic conflicts.

According to Welsh, "a victory over Army is better than going to a bowl."

Canadiens Finally Outscratch Islanders

The New York Islanders usually have to claw and scratch for their victories but Thursday night, the Montreal Canadiens finally outscratched New York and came up with a 2-1 win.

"We checked well against them," said Montreal Coach Scotty Bowman. "I reminded the guys we hadn't beaten them in two years. We proved we can play wide open or a tight defensive game. I used Pierre Bouchard a lot on defense because he is strong physically and that fit into the hitting game they play."

Bouchard helped the Canadiens when defenseman Don Awrey of Montreal got into a fight with Garry Howatt of the Islanders in the first period. Referee Wally Harris gave both five minute majors but Awrey requested permission to leave the penalty box. He had been scratched in the eyeball and his vision was double.

"He came at me with his fist. It must have been a knuckle which went right in the eye," said Awrey. "They checked me at the hospital. I'll try to practice tomorrow and see how it is."

Howatt was sorry when he heard about Awrey and sent him a "hope it isn't serious," message.

The Canadiens and Islanders were both serious about the game and the sellout crowd of 14,865 saw an excellent contest.

Montreal opened the scoring in the second period when Larry Robinson lined a 30-footer past Billy Smith in the Islander net. Guy Lafleur set up Robinson.

Less than two minutes later at 17:40, New York tied it when Billy MacMillan tipped Jean Potvin's point shot.

At 3:11 of the final periodm Steve Shutt won the game for Montreal when he managed to get his stick on the puck after apparently falling over Smith in front of the Islander goal. Serge Savard set up Shutt with the winner.

Al Arbour, the Islanders' coach said, "I thought it was a helluva game. We had our chances. Both Jude Drouin and J.P. Parise had golden opportunities but Ken Dryden came up just for them. Our defense played well, despite Denis Potvin's absence. They had a strong game. If they play this well, we won't lose too many."

Dryden, the Canadiens' goalie, was happy to beat the jinx Islanders finally. They had beaten Montreal twice last year and tied them twice. This season they had won one and tied one. Since Dryden sat out the 1973-74 season, he had not beaten the Isles since their initial expansion season, 1972-73.

"We are playing more consistently and I'm playing more consistently than I did last year," said Dryden. "I think this year we are taking pride in our defensive record as well as the goals we score. I think we are quite a bit better team than last year."

In the only other NHL game, Kansas City edged St. Louis 3-2.

Gary Bergman slammed in a six-footer on a pass from Robin Burns at 9:32 in the second period to give the Scouts a 3-0 lead. Wilf Paiement opened the attack at 40 seconds of the second period. Germain Gagnon raised the Scouts' lead at 6:52, taking Paiement's pass and pushing in a five-footer.

Garry Unger slapped in his 16th goal for St. Louis. Ted Irvine slipped in a Bruce Affleck rebound to narrow the gap. In WHA action, Indianapolis beat Winnipeg 3-1, Minnesota defeated Cincinnati 5-3, San Diego drubbed Quebec 5-1 and Calgary whipped Phoenix 5-1. WHA

Randy Wyrozub had the deciding goal as Indianapolis topped Winnipeg ... Wayne Connelly's record-tying five-goal outburst powered Minnesota past Cincinnati ... Don Burgess, Gary Bredin and Gene Pescosh scored successive goals within a 56-second span of the second period to start San Diego over Quebec ... and Ray DeLorenzi, playing in his first major league game, has two goals in Calgary's win over Phoenix.

Frazier Has Advice for Bullets

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — The New York Knicks broke a pair of losing streaks Thursday night and Walt Frazier has some advice for the team they beat—the Washington Bullets.

New York defeated the slumping Bullets 96-90 to end a three-game losing streak and win its first road game of the season after eight losses.

The loss was Washington's fourth straight, six in its last seven games and it dropped the defending Eastern Conference champions below .500 at 7-8.

"A couple of victories will turn it around for them," Frazier said after a 27-point performance. "Right now, they are starting to press and the crowd is booing a little. They have to overcome it."

"We look like world beaters but just three games ago, we played like the Bullets. We've played well enough to win but didn't get the breaks until tonight."

Those breaks included a pair of Frazier first period baskets after two Bullet rebounds escaped Washington's hands and landed in Frazier's grasp for easy layups.

The two scores helped New York make up a 21-10 deficit and take a 25-23 lead at the close of the first period. The lead then changed hands 12 times before New York moved ahead to stay early in the fourth quarter.

A 10-point streak put the Knicks ahead 83-74 with 9:48 left and despite a scoreless streak in the final four minutes of play, Washington could not get within five points.

"We should have locked it up early," noted Frazier, who was aided in the scoring column by Earl Monroe's 20 and Spencer Haywood's 16. "We had them on the ropes but couldn't finish them off. That usually gives the team momentum to come back but unfortunately the Bullets didn't."

Both Frazier and New York Coach Red Holtzman agreed the Knicks won by moving the ball while the Bullets appeared sluggish.

"We got the ball up court," said Holtzman. "We got some opportunities and that was the difference. I like to think positively, to think about our victory, not the Bullets problems."

"The Bullets had to be tired," said Frazier, "They had just made a long plane trip from Houston. They weren't running."

Frazier then admitted to being tired himself, remarking, "The turkey's still in my stomach, but it's a good Thanksgiving."

Golden State Coach Al Attles preaches and practices the philosophy of letting everyone play.

He practiced it Thursday night and it paid off: the Warriors came back from a 31-point deficit to beat the Milwaukee Bucks 106-105.

"Everybody got into the flow of things," Attles said. "We kept coming at them with fresh players and they got a little tired. But that's the way we've been doing it all along. "We never give up."

Probably the freshest player the Warriors had was rookie guard Gus Williams, who had 22 points and four steals to lead his club's surge.

The Bucks, who led 52-21 in the second quarter, were ahead 97-84 with 8:21 left when Williams entered the lineup.

With the score 103-97, he stole the ball and drove the length of the floor for a layup. He was fouled on the play and his free throw made it 103-100.

Then he stole the ball from Brian Winters and, on an inbound play under his own basket, he found Jamaal Wilkes for an easy basket.

The Bucks brought the ball in and Williams stole it from Jim Price and made a layup and Golden State had a 104-103 lead. Two free throws by Phil Smith with 16 seconds left locked up the win.

"It was obvious their guards were getting a little tired," Williams said, "and that's the way I play—going for the steals. You get to knowing which way their guys are going to turn and it's a simple matter of meeting them there."

"I knew we would be able to come back and close that big gap. There's a tremendous feeling of togetherness on this team. Everybody plays and everybody is always ready. It's tough to keep a good team down."

Both Attles and disconsolate Bucks coach Larry Costello had nothing but praise for Williams.

"Gus has some great speed and he gave us the big lift tonight," Attles said. "But I knew we could come back. Probably one of the best things that came out of our title last year is that we play with a lot of confidence. We never give up. We've been down before and we know we can come back. A little at a time. But we can always come back."

Costello said the fatigue factor of the Bucks, who played without starters Bob Dandridge and Elmore Smith, was crucial.

"Our guys were getting tired and they just kept coming with fresh people who did the job," he said. "That Williams killed us with his steals and layups. Just killed us."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Kansas City edged Cleveland 95-91. Kings 95, Cavs 91

Jimmy Walker and Nate Archibald combined for 18 of Kansas City's final 24 points. Walker, who connected on his first seven shots, topped all scorers with 28 points and Archibald finished with 23.

In the ABA, Utah upset Kentucky 128-126 in overtime. Stars 128, Colonels 126

Ron Boone scored seven of his 34 points in overtime, including the game-winning one second left, as Utah snapped a five-game losing streak. Boone also had 14 assists. The win was only the Stars' third against 12 losses while the Colonels dropped to 11-5.

Bulls Make Moves For Three New Men

CHICAGO (UPI) — In an effort to halt their nine-game losing streak, the Chicago Bulls engineered trades that yielded three new players: Jack Marin from Buffalo and Steve Patterson and Eric Fernsten from Cleveland.

In exchange, the Bulls traded center Nate Thurmond and reserve forward Roland Garrett for the two Cleveland players. Buffalo traded for future considerations.

A spokesman for the Bulls, who announced the trades Thursday, said the three new players were expected to report in time for tonight's game against Milwaukee.

Marin, 31, is a two-time NBA all-star forward with a career scoring mark of 16 points a game and a lifetime shooting percentage of 47 per cent.

Patterson, 27, a five-year veteran center-forward, has a career scoring mark of 4.6.

Fernsten, a 6-foot-9 rookie forward, was drafted on the fourth round this year out of the University of San Francisco. In three varsity seasons, he

No Defense

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Bill Musselman, new coach of the ABA Virginia Squires, is wondering whether anyone on his basketball team can play defense.

"If I can find somebody who wants to play defense, I'll play him the whole 48 minutes," Musselman said. "Right now nobody's playing defense."

The Squires take their 3-14 record against the Nets in New York tonight.

Musselman, who was named head coach last week after the financially-troubled Squires received sufficient funds to complete the season, promptly won two games. Since then however, Virginia has lost two in a row, the latest a 141-122 verdict to San Antonio Wednesday night.

"We got some great offensive players," Musselman said. "We can shoot the ball fine. But no defense."

Hockey Fight Ends With Mace, Arrests

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Three hockey players were subdued with mace and five were arrested Wednesday night after a fight broke out between players and policemen at the Syracuse Blazers-Beauce Jaros North American Hockey League game.

According to police, the scuffle began when Wally Weir, a suspended Beauce player watching from the stands, began arguing with Ptl. Ernest Eagle near the team's penalty box.

Two Beauce players on the ice, James Troy and Joe Hardy, then reportedly reached over the protective glass and tried to hit the officer.

Off-duty officer James Glavin who was attending the game then went to the other officer's aid. At about the same time two other suspended players, Giles Bilodeau and Peter Folco, joined in.

The players were arraigned Thursday before City Court Judge Morris Garber on felony charges of second degree assault. Garber set bail at $2,500 each and scheduled a hearing for Dec. 17.

Authorities had originally planned to charge Weir, Bilodeau and Folco with the lesser crimes of disorderly conduct, obstructing governmental administration and resisting arrest. But, Ptl. Mike Conroy, who helped to finally quell the spat, said he had to use mace on the trio to subdue them. The charge was changed at arraignment.

Glavin was hospitalized with a possible concussion. Eagle also was treated for head injuries.

The Jaros were reported trying to raise money to meet bail for their teammates.

STONE RIDGE
Ulster County Community College's returning basketball coach Mike Perry has announced his starting lineup for the 1975-76 season opener, a Saturday night exhibition game against the Alumni at 8 p.m. in the Senate Gym.

Heading the Senators will be newly named co-captains, guards Rachid Walker (5-10) and Bill Bellamy (6-0). Joining the veteran backcourt duo will be center Joe McCall (6-7) and newcomers, forwards Phil Blount (6-1) and Herman Chapman (6-3).

Also on the UCCC squad are Paul Lawatsch (6-4) and Steve Mihic (6-1), both former junior varsity players at Kingston High, Jeff Port (6-1) of Ontonagon, Ray Younger (5-9) of Ellenville, and Joe Ruggeri (5-9) and Alvaro Rendon (6-1) both of Monticello.

Perry, who is back at Ulster after a two-year leave of absence in Sweden, sees the first week of the season as the tip-off as to the kind of year his club will have. UCCC meets Dutchess at home, Sullivan on the road, and Westchester and Manhattan at home in a five-night span beginning Monday.

A split of those opening four games, says Perry, is his goal. Compounding the challenge is that all teams on the early schedule already have games under their belts. Of those he's seen, Perry is high on Sullivan and Westchester, giving the nod to the latter because of its experience.

In announcing the selection of Walker and Bellamy as co-captains Perry said, "There's no question of the leadership ability of Walker offensively and Bellamy defensively and together I feel they will make a great pair of co-captains. This could be our finest backcourt combination if both continue to improve as they have the last five weeks."

Walker, a graduate of Boy's High in New York, was a first team all-star in the Mid-Hudson Conference last year. Bellamy was a sub backcourtman for Mike Bernstein's UCCC club last season and moved up to the first string this year.

Eddie Younger, a member of the 1971-72 and 1972-73 Ulster teams, is the latest Alumni player to accept an invitation for Saturday night's game. Eddie's younger brother Ray is on the current Ulster club.

Challenge Match

CINCINNATI (UPI) —

Mary Jo Peppeler figures she and a couple of volleyball playing friends are more than twice as good as the six-member Ohio women's collegiate championship volleyball team.

So Ms. Peppeler, regarded as one of the best volleyball players in the country, and her two friends have challenged Mt. St. Joseph's of Cincinnati to a three-against-six player match.

Mt. St. Joseph's has qualified for a national collegiate tournament at Princeton, N.J., Dec. 10. School officials said the team will accept the challenge and play here Dec. 8 if an arena can be found. The local team wants to make money on the special match for travel expenses to the national tournament, but school officials said the college gym is too small for the size of crowd they want. They are searching out an arena.

Ms. Peppeler's teammates are Liz Courtney, a member of the last U.S. Olympic volleyball team, and Carol Hewes, volleyball coach at Princeton University.

SPORT PARADE

Milton Richman,
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — When you're 35 going on 36, when people forget you were MVP only four years ago and when some of them cut you out inside by paying you what they think is a compliment, then you know you'd better take one more good look at yourself and if you don't like what you see, you'd better quit.

That's pretty much the course of action Joe Torre has lined up for himself. He's giving himself one more shot next spring with the New York Mets. He isn't imposing any deadline or cut-off date and he isn't saying he will finish the year or he won't. It all depends, he says. If next year turns out to be anything like this year, that'll be it for Joe Torre, the National League's MVP in 1971. He'll quit. The pitchers won't have him to kick around anymore.

For Joe Torre, this past season was an embarrassment. That's the word he uses himself.

He started the year with a .300 lifetime batting average and ended it sitting on the bench, reduced to an almost forgotten part-timer with the worst batting average of his career, .247, along with only 35 RBI and six home runs. The deepest indignity came when he set a National League record by hitting into four double plays in one game with Houston.

"The idea of quitting crossed my mind toward the end of the season when it looked like my bat was slowing up," says Torre. "I knew I was losing confidence. When you stop doing things well, you start doubting yourself. Then I talked to Bob Gibson. He told me he started losing confidence in himself in 1974. That made me feel a little better."

Generally, though, there wasn't anything to make Joe Torre feel good about last season. He had made the National League's All-Star team eight out of 14 times before playing with the Braves and Cardinals, but there was no danger of him making it again this time. He looked as if he was all through, especially toward the end of the year.

"I suppose the most embarrassing part was when I'd run into people who were friends of friends I happened to be with," says Torre. "I'd be introduced as 'Joe Torre of the Mets' and the people I was introduced to would say 'you're doing great!' That really made me feel bad because I knew these people telling me that didn't know anything about baseball."

Once in the $150,000 range, Torre's salary has been cut by 30 per cent the past two years. Moreover, Joe McDonald, the Mets' general manager, says he's looking for a right-handed hitting third baseman and it so happens that Torre, who plays first base as well, is a righthanded hitting third baseman.

Still, he has embarked on an ambitious physical conditioning program, he's in excellent shape and he believes he can win a job with the Mets next spring.

"I don't feel I have to beat anybody out in spring training," he says. "If I hit, I'll play somewhere. I know that. I think it's simply a matter of getting my confidence back. The kind of swing I have you just don't lose like that, but I got into some bad habits hitting the last few years. I just wasn't swinging right. I could tell that by looking at films of myself. When I see myself swinging right and I'm not hitting the ball, I'll quit because in the 14 years I played before this one I set up certain standards for myself. If I show any indication of playing as badly as I did last season, I won't embarrass myself by finishing out the year. Last season I felt the only thing I was doing was taking up a spot and I don't ever want to do that again."

Olympic Site: More Trouble

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — Quebec Solicitor General Fernand Lalonde says police may make further raids this week for more information into a possible fraud in construction of the $90 million Olympic Village.

Quebec Police Force and Royal Canadian Mounted Police members carried out raids Tuesday and Wednesday, seizing material from the homes and offices of contractors and high Olympic officials.

A QPF spokesman said a "large number of cases of documents" were seized and it may take weeks or months to examine the material. He said arrest warrants would be sought if evidence of criminal activity was uncovered.

"Over 40 search warrants have been served and we can expect more in the days to come," Lalonde said Thursday night. "How many depends on what we find in the documents we have already gathered."

Police said they would also investigate two Montreal firms, each of which received $1.38 million in bonuses for early completion of work at the Village in Montreal's east end.

Police refused detailed comment on their investigation, but did say reports the alleged fraud involved $30 million were exaggerated.

The raids in the Montreal area included offices of the Zarolega consortium on the site of the Village and the offices of the Olympic Organizing Committee.

Police raided also the homes of Zarolega partners Joseph Zappia, Rene Lepine, Andrew Gaty and Gerald Robinson and the homes of COJO vicepresident Simon St. Pierre and architect Luc Durand.

Police said they were looking for any signs of fraud in the construction, the cost of which has tripled from $30 million in 1974 to a current forecast of $90 million.

They refused to substantiate reports the five-month investigation leading to the raids was initiated by the sale of seven mobile trailers to Zarolega for $100,000.

The Olympic Village is a complex of two pyramid-shaped, 980-unit buildings designed to house 11,500 athletes and team officials at the 1976 Summer Olympics next July.

Green Leads By One

MIYAZAKI, Japan (UPI) — First round leader Hubert Green fired a two under par 70 today and led a field of 94 pros from eight countries by one stroke in the second round of the $200,000 Dunlop Phoenix Golf tournament.

Green started badly by three putting from 12 feet for a bogey on the first hole and had a two over par 38 on the front nine but picked up four birdies on the back nine for a four under par 32 for his 70. He had a two round total of a seven under par 137 on the 7,012 yard par 72 Phoenix country club course.

Rik Massengale, winner of the Tallahassee Open last May, shot a five under par 32-35-67 for a six under par 138 and vaulted from 16th place into runner-up spot.

Alone in third was Kosaku Shimada, who will represent Japan in the World Cup next week in Bangkok, with a four under par 34-34-68 for a five under par 139.

Defending champion Johnny Miller continued to have trouble with his putting and could do no better than a one over 38-35-73 for a one over par 145 and a 27th place tie with eight others, including Jerry McGee, winner of the Pensacola Open, who had a 74.

A total of 64 players survived the cut of a four over par 148 for the low 60 scores and ties to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday in quest of the $40,000 first prize.

Holland Cut

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Hawks have put rookie guard Wilbur Holland on waivers.

The team announced Thursday it had waived the 23-year-old first draft choice from the University of New Orleans, saying he had scored just four points in six games.

Other NBA teams can claim Holland up until Monday, when he becomes a free agent on the U.S. tour, Ben Crenshaw, Miller Barber and Brian Allin were knocked out. Crenshaw, who missed the cut for the second straight year, shot a 76 for a 150 although he fired a seven under par 65 for the best pro-am competition Wednesday.

Barber had a 75, also for 150. Allin skied to a 79 for a 159.

Green, a favorite with a Japanese gallery, sank a pressure par putt of 10 feet on the second hole after his threeput birdie on the first hole. But he chipped only a yard away in deep rough off the green and bogeyed the parthree sixth hole. He birdied the seventh but he three putted from 35 feet for another bogey on the ninth for a two over par 38 on the front nine.

Green sank birdie putt of 20 feet on the 10th, two on the 11th and 12 on the 12th. He hit a wedge shot 25 feet from the pin and sank the putt for another birdie on the 18th to be a four under par 32 on the back nine.

"I played much better on the back nine and it was more fun," Green said. "I'm in good condition and I think it's about time I should win a tournament in Japan."

Miller, who in winning last year shot rounds of 69, 69, 69 and 67 to win by seven strokes

over Lu Liang Huan of Taiwan, said "I went 30 holes without making a putt over three feet. But I finally made a 14 footer for par on the 17th and a 15 foot birdie putt on the 18th so my putting may improve tomorrow. It was beautiful weather and the course is good so I have no excuse."

Hsieh Min Nam of Taiwan, who plays out of Japan, fired today's best round of a six under par 33-33-66 and jumped from 55th into a fourth place tie with five others with a four under par 140. The group included Americans Tom Kite and Larry Ziegler, Peter Oosterhuis of Great Britain and Japanese pros Masashi "Jumbo" Ozaki and Haruo Yasuda. Kite, Ziegler and Ozaki had a 69, Yasuda a 68 and Oosterhuis a 70.

Greg Pruitt — Little Man Making It Big

NEW YORK When Cleveland drafted Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma as its No. 1 pick in 1973, the critics scoffed at his size. At 5:10, 190-pounds, they thought he was too small to stand up under the tough demands put on a running back in the National Football League.

Pruitt never agreed with the doubters, of course, and in three years with the Browns he has been doing an excellent job of proving his class. This is his third season over the 1,000-yard mark in combined yardage in his role as an all-purpose back.

"A little guy has more incentive," says Pruitt. "He has to go harder all the time. It's developed my style of running, which is to keep moving. Sometimes when I am following a big tackle or guard, the tacklers don't even see me. I sort of hide behind them. It also works the other way. I have to be careful how I position myself so that I can see what's out front."

Pruitt has been positioning himself properly this season, although he has not attracted much attention because of the Browns' long losing streak, snapped at nine last Sunday with a 35-23 victory over the Bengals.

"Pruitt was super," said Coach Forrest Gregg. "I never saw him better."

It was just last week when Gregg commented that he measured a good player on "how well he plays against the competition." The competition that week was Oakland and Pruitt rushed for 103 yards.

The opposition last Sunday was Cincinnati, another of the top playoff contenders, and Pruitt responded by rushing 17 times for 121 yards. He also caught seven passes for 106 yards and scored twice running and one on a pass.

Only eight other running backs in National Football League history have made "the big double," running for 100 and catching passes for 100 on the same day.

The others were: Larry Brown, Redskins, Dec. 16, 1973 (26-150, 3-150). Essex Johnson, Bengals,

Sept. 30, 1973 (21-121, 2-116). Leroy Kelly, Browns, Nov. 10, 1968 (17-127, 3-104).

Tim Brown, Eagles, Oct. 4, 1964 (16-116, 2-110).

Abner Haynes, Chiefs, Sept. 15, 1963 (15-162, 3-100).

Jim Brown, Browns, Sept. 15, 1963 (15-162, 3-100).

Billy Cannon, Oilers, Dec. 10, 1961 (25-216, 5-114).

Ollie Matson, Cardinals, Nov. 28, 1954 (10-115, 5-161).

Pruitt also picks up yardage as a punt and kickoff return man. In 1974 he led the AFC kickoff returners with a 27.5 yard average. Through 10 games this season, Pruitt has 654 yards rushing, 227 receive-ing, 109 on punts and 302 on kickoffs, for a total of 1,292 yards.

With four games left to play, Pruitt has a chance at the 1000-yard rushing club, needing 346 yards in games against the Steelers, Saints, Chiefs and Oilers.

"He's absolutely the finest back I've ever coached," says George Sefcik, the Browns' backfield coach. "He has a wealth of ability, the quickness, the moves, the desire — everything you like to see in a back."

Blicksteins Honored At Hospital Benefit

SPRING GLEN

More than 600 persons attended the Ellenville Community Hospital's tenth annual dinner-dance recently at Homowack Lodge. The festive event was held to honor Florence and Irving Blickstein and to raise funds for hospital equipment.

Leo Rosick and Arthur Chipp were co-chairmen for the successful program. Serving on the dinner committee were Frank Blackwell, William H Collier, Dr. Martin Cowan, Connie Elman, Irving Esrig, Connie Feldshuh, David Freer Jr., J. William Lempka, Benjamin Lonstein, Louis Resnick, Harry Rieger, Manfred Schroeder, Marcia Sperling and Ruth Suggs.

Guests were tendered a lavish cocktail party and a dinner featuring roast prime ribs of beef, George Washington, in a setting decorated in the bicentennial theme.

In addition to monies raised from dinner donors, the occasion was the setting for the announcement of an $18,000 gift to the hospital auxiliary. Mrs. Harry Greenberg, auxiliary president, made the presentation to hospital president, Benjamin Lonstein, noting that the funds were to be placed in a trust fund to be used for equipment purchases.

Lonstein, on behalf of the hospital family, paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Blickstein, presenting them with a plaque and an antique grandfather's clock as a lasting token of appreciation. The clock, which stands over seven foot tall in a crotch mahogany case said traces it's history to the 1830 period.

In his remarks, Lonstein said, "Ten years ago we met in this room to inaugurate what has become an Ellenville tradition. The Ellenville Community Hospital Dinner, held the Sunday before Thanksgiving is generally regarded and looked forward to as the social occasion of the year. As I look about me this evening I note, with pleasure, the presence of many who have attended each of our nine preceding events, as well as a number who are joining us this year for the first time. I personally, and the Board of Trustees of the hospital, want to express appreciation to each of you for the support you have given the hospital over the years and for your attendance here tonight.

"A benefit event like this does not become a tradition unless it is, year after year, a sparkling success. This requires not only that enough people recognize their responsibilities to support the hospital which sponsors the event, but also that the affair itself is of outstanding quality. That the Ellenville Community Hospital Dinner Dance has met the first of these criteria is a credit to the community. That it has met the second is in large measure a tribute to the remarkable couple we honor here tonight.

"It was Florence and Irving Blickstein who, at our very first hospital dinner dance, set the pace for all the programs which have followed.

"We have come, over the years, to rely on the genuine warmth of their hospitality, the gracious touch to their generosity, the showmanship which adds so much to any evening, and the characteristic sounds of music which have trumpeted our dinner-dances. We have come to know the personal qualities of Florence and Irving Blickstein which have made them beloved by their guests, their staff, their suppliers and their community.

"Irving Blickstein became a member of the hospital Board of Directors in 1963. But even before that he and Florence were active supporters of the highest possible standards of health care for the community. While some people required lengthy explanations and philosophical discussions and persuasive pressures, the typical response of the Blicksteins has always been "If it's good, do it and we'll help you" and they always said "Leave it to us" and when we did, we found we could not have asked for more.

"There are people who can be described as "the salt of the earth" and they are real people, to be depended upon in good fortune and in adversity, in fair weather and in foul. Florence and Irving Blickstein are salt of the earth people but they are also sugar and spice. Together they possess an incisive wit and a tremendous sense of humor. They have crisscrossed the globe on their travels, but they are part and parcel of our local scene. They have built a small hotel into a legend in its own time. Economically, culturally and socially they have contributed to enrich the fabric of our community.

Woolley Photographic Exhibit On Display Saturday at UCCC

STONE RIDGE
The Visual Arts Gallery at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College will be open on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. to permit the public to see "Image of America; Baby Brownie Americana," a photographic essay exhibition.

Admission to the Gallery, located in John Vanderlyn Hall, is free.

This photographic essay was conceived by A.E. Woolley, of New Paltz, an internationally renowned photojournalist, to reflect the spirit of America and its people. It is dedicated to the nation's Bicentennial celebration.

All the photos on exhibit were taken with a Baby Brownie camera, which Woolley rediscovered in his attic. He used it to demonstrate his theory that most photographers often have too much camera to encumber the very act expected from the medium.

Saturday will be the last day the Woolley exhibition will be on display at the college

Yule Festivals at Wine Village

HIGHLAND
The jingle of sleigh bells, the music of caroling, and the spicy scent of hot punch and wine today fill the air over the Hudson Valley Wine Village in Highland, prepares for a series of Saturday afternoon Christmas Festivals.

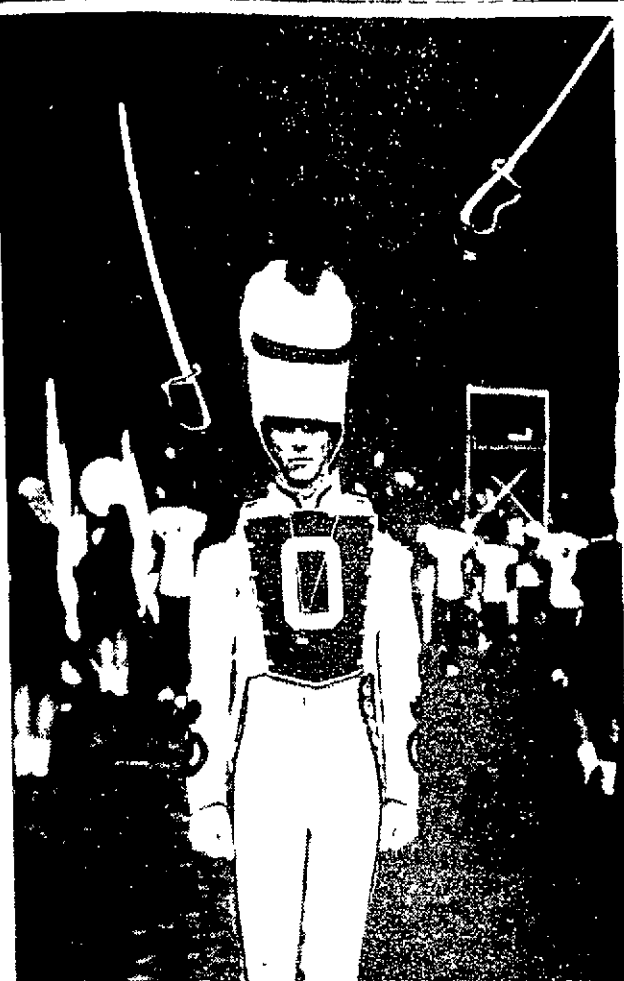

To celebrate the end of a bountiful year, the picturesque estate winery will hold old-fashioned holiday parties the three Saturdays before Christmas, December 6, 13, and 20. The eighteenth-century Manor House has been decked with holly and Christmas greens . . . the quaint European-style courtyard has been decked with party tents . . . and the wine shop, filled with specially-wrapped gift-packs of wines and champagnes.

Santa Claus has promised to be there for the little ones, and the Dutchess Community College Madrigal Singers will be strolling through the wine village singing Christmas carols. For the children, there'll be hot cider and candy canes. For adults over 18, hot punches, egg nogs, and sparkling cups made from the Hudson Valley Wine Company's famous recipes. In the Manor House, with its paneled walls and wood-burning fireplaces, everybody will enjoy an old-fashioned box lunch.

Reservations are required for the Saturday afternoon Christmas Festivals, and the winery requests they be made a week in advance. For reservations contact the Hudson Valley Wine Co., Highland. The wine shop is open daily from 9 to 5 for holiday shopping.

'Rape' Next Y-Forum Topic

"What a Woman Should Know About Rape" is the subject of Y-Forum's third offering of the season on topics of vital community issues. The program will be held Saturday, Dec. 6 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue, Kingston.

Rape is rapidly becoming a major social issue. The FBI reports rape as the fastest-growing of the nation's violent crimes. As many as 500,000 people a year are attacked by rapists.

Ulster County officials have suggested that the community needs to know what rape is all about. Y-Forum offers a group of panelists well qualified to provide helpful, factual information on the subject.

Martha Gans, director of the new Sex Crime Unit of Ulster County Sheriff's Department, will participate in the program, along with Andrea Moran, area lawyer, and Joyce Grainger, psychiatric social worker and deputy sheriff.

Y-Forum is sponsoring this meeting to teach women that they can defend themselves and sometimes prevent rape. It also hopes to encourage rape victims to report this crime for the future protection of themselves and others.

Registration and coffee hour will begin at 9:30, followed by the panel and discussion from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Babysitting is included in the nominal registration fee. This program is open to all women and teens. Students will be admitted free of charge. Interested persons should contact the YWCA to reserve a place.

Mid-Hudson Madrigal Society ... Renaissance Feast News

RHINEBECK
Early in December, between the traditional turkey dinners of Christmas and Thanksgiving, the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck will become again a gathering place for all those devotees who have been awaiting this year's Renaissance Feast. This event, presented annually by the Mid-Hudson Madrigal Society, has proven to be such a success that it must be given twice this year, on Monday, December 8, and on Wednesday, December 10, to accommodate the anticipated crowd.

The formula for success is straightforward and makes good sense: give the audience the best possible food and music for the money, and attendance will prove no problem. Two years ago, with a sudden deep snow on the day of the Feast, Madrigal officers debated whether to cancel. That evening, with the county almost paralyzed by snow, only two people out of a hundred failed to make it to the Beekman Arms for the show. A random telephone survey of reservations holders indicated to the Madrigal Singers that nine-inches of snow wasn't going to stop the Feast! And last year, the small groups of costumed singers who serenade the diners during the meal could hardly make their way between the tables because of the overflow crowd, despite a four-inch snowfall.

As usual, of course, the menu for the Renaissance Feast, will offer another taste-tempting list of good food and beverage, typical of these annual functions.

Musically, the Madrigal Singers hardly need an introduction. In addition to the annual Feast, and the annual concert at the Maverick, the Madrigal Society produces a popular program which has been touring local schools, has appeared on local television,

Jarvis's recent 85th birthday party.

They also have appeared at the Guild, the Artists Association, the Woodstock Playhouse, New Paltz College, and even The Bear! Even if you don't regularly go to concerts, you may have been exposed to their Christmas Caroling through Woodstock, accompanied by relatives, friends, and passers-by.

The music at the feast, in addition to the chansons and madrigals sung through dinner, will feature a Medieval Pageant called "The Shepherds Play," which depicts the effects of Christ's birth on three shepherds. It is a brief and intense narrative, which the group's director Dr. Richard Olsen has been preparing since the summer. The play features an announcing angel, double choir and organ accompaniment.

A recorder consort will appear with the Madrigal Singers this year, and in addition to providing incidental music will play Renaissance tunes and also present an introduction to the Shepherds Play.

Finally, the Madrigal Society will unite the groups of minstrels and troubadors to sing English carols and other seasonal music.

Tickets and reservations may be made through any Madrigal Society member, or by telephoning Judy Sykes. Tables of up to eight persons per party are available, and the seats this year are limited, on a first-come basis.

After Turkey Day . . . It's Sticks 'N Chick

CHICAGO, Ill.
After the hectic holidays, families settle down doggedly determined to stay solvent. If they must be indebted at this time, best it be only to a recipe — a special one like Sticks 'N Chick that takes little money but tastes delicious.

You really can reinforce your resolution to eat better economically when you serve moist, wholesome corn sticks covered with a colorfully captivating chicken sauce. As an economy measure, the yummy corn stick base begins from scratch using corn meal enriched with B-vitamins and iron. Over each serving of two corn sticks is spooned a fine blend of flavors — diced cooked chicken, chicken broth and a whole bouquet of vegetables (celery, onion and cooked peas and carrots). The sauce, savory from poultry seasoning, is thickened just right; it's not too thick and not too thin. Bountiful serving portions fill you up but don't leave the pocketbook empty.

Corn Sticks:
1 cup enriched corn meal
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup milk
¼ cup melted or liquid shortening

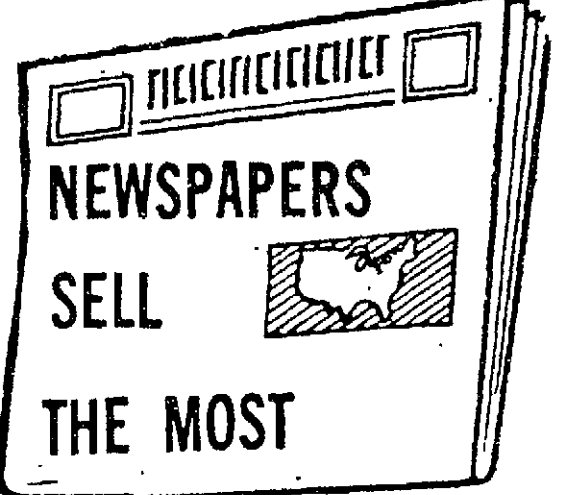

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 cups chicken broth
1 egg yolk, beaten
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
½ teaspoon pepper
One 4-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
One 10-oz. pkg. peas and carrots, cooked and drained
2 cups diced cooked chicken

Chicken Sauce:
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For corn sticks, sift together corn meal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl. Add egg, milk and shortening. Mix until smooth, about 1 minute. Pour batter into hot, greased corn stick pans. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Let cool a few minutes before removing from pans.

For chicken sauce, in medium-sized saucepan sauté onion and celery in butter until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Gradually add chicken broth, stirring constantly. Continue cooking over medium heat until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Quickly stir in beaten egg yolk. Add remaining ingredients; stir to combine. Heat thoroughly, but do not let boil.

To serve, place 2 corn sticks on each plate. Spoon over corn sticks; serve immediately.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABY: My husband died last winter, and ever since, I have had a terrible time falling asleep. I don't want to get into the habit of taking sleeping pills.

I recently visited my sister, and the sound of her husband's snoring in the next room put me to sleep instantly! Every night I was there I slept like a baby. I soon realized that what I'd been missing all these months was the sound of my beloved late husband's snoring. It must have given me a sense of security and well being.

I suppose it is ridiculous to ask if there is some place I can buy a record or a tape of a man snoring. But that could be the answer to my problem. Can you help me?
SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

DEAR SLEEPLESS: Ask your sister's husband to record a long snoring session on a cassette. All you'll need is something on which to play it, and you're off to dreamland!

DEAR ABBY: My son, a brilliant, ambitious honor student, has just announced that he is dropping out of law school (in his second year) to get a job so he can marry a girl he has gotten pregnant.

This young man was told the facts of life early so there is no excuse for such an "accident." Nowadays, no girl has to get pregnant unless she wants to — or is awfully dumb. And Abby, this girl is far from dumb — she's 21 and a college dropout.

I can't help but feel that the girl used my son to escape from a family situation she found intolerable.

I know I can't prevent the marriage, but I would like to know how I can honestly accept this girl when I feel she used my son and cost him his lifelong dream — to become a lawyer.

CRUSHED IN COLORADO

Widow Needs Snorer to Sleep

DEAR CRUSHED: Unless you want to alienate your son completely, you had better "accept" the girl — and graciously.

If your son is as brilliant and ambitious as you say he is he'll find a way to resume his education and realize his lifelong dream.

DEAR ABBY: I am anti-trousers for females. So much so that I refuse to extend any gentlemanly courtesies to a woman who is wearing trousers. (I won't hold a door open for her, allow her to go ahead of me or help her with her chair.)

If I get a waitress who is wearing trousers, and doing a good job, she gets NO tip. If she does an excellent job, she gets only a 5 per cent tip, but I won't go back to that restaurant. A waitress wearing a skirt (length unimportant) gets anywhere from 15 per cent to 25 per cent tip, depending upon the service she gives me.

My wife wears trousers once in a while. So do my daughters-in-law, but if they don't wear dresses in public, I refuse to go along. And when I don't go, they have no one to pick up the tab.

I've heard all the excuses women use for wearing pants instead of skirts — "they're more comfortable, hide the runs in my stockings, keep my legs warm in winter," etc. — but I still hate 'em.

PREFERS SKIRTS

DEAR PREFERS: To each his own, but I think you're unfair to penalize a waitress just because the legs she rushes around on to serve you happen to be in trousers!

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Gardiner Boy Wins Scholarship

GARDINER
Eight-year-old Anton Gross of Brunswick Road, Gardiner, has been awarded a full scholarship to the School of American Ballet in New York City. The school's director is George Balanchine, the famed choreographer and director of the New York City Ballet.

Young Anton was born in New York City and demonstrated unusual agility as a baby. His parents, Donna and Richard Gross, nicknamed their active boy, "Anton Upside Down" for his habit of hanging by one leg from the family chinning bar.

Fred Douglass de Mayo, director of the New Paltz School of Ballet, recognized Anton's talent after his first few classes, and it was de Mayo who recommended that his young student audition for a Ford Scholarship to SAB in New York City.

Anton still attends the New Paltz School of Ballet under de Mayo once each week for lesson. In addition to this, his traveling time to New York for ballet studies, Anton pursues his academic studies at the Thoreau School in Wallkill.

The youngster is well-traveled for his age and has lived in San Francisco, and on an island in British Columbia, Canada before moving to Gardiner. He has a twin sister, Jamie and an older brother, Joshua.

In response to many requests for young boys being accepted in dance, the New Paltz School of Ballet is offering area youngsters an opportunity to experience the dance through existing scholarships for boys between ages 8 through teens. Interested coaches, parents and students may contact the director at NPBS located at 6 North Front Street, New Paltz. No previous training is necessary. All auditions are conducted by de Mayo.

Mideast Peace Talks Considered by UN

By UPI

U.N. diplomatic sources say Syria will agree to renew the U.N. peacekeeping mandate on the Golan Heights if it gets a Security Council resolution calling for new talks on an overall Middle East peace settlement.

The sources said Thursday Syria gave conditional approval to the mandate in talks between U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim and Syrian President Hafez Assad in Damascus earlier this week.

But the sources said Syria wants a Security Council resolution linking the mandate to a call for early negotiations on an overall Middle East peace settlement.

The mandate allows the United Nations to station a 1,250-man peacekeeping force in a buffer zone between Israeli and Syrian forces on a 42-mile long stretch of the rocky Golan Heights.

Victory Over Fires, But Now a New Danger

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI) — Light rain brought victory Thursday over brush fires that ravaged 100 square miles of southern California, but warned of a possible worse disaster to follow — floods and mudslides that could engulf whole neighborhoods.

Worried officials scheduled a meeting today to discuss emergency plans to meet the threat.

Some 4,000 firefighters battled for five days against the two main blazes that swept from the Angeles National Forest into suburban canyon neighborhoods and destroyed or damaged 43 houses, chasing an estimated 5,600 persons from their homes.

Preliminary damage estimates rose to more than $20 million, including $14 million in damage to the watershed in the major blaze, the Tujunga fire.

Helped by cool weather and light rains, firefighters Thursday contained both the 46,500-acre Tujunga blaze and the 19,500-acre Mt. Baldy fire 30 miles to the east. This meant both fires were surrounded by fire breaks, although they continuing to burn inside the perimeter.

"There are still hot spots in the midst of both blazes," a U.S. Forest Service spokesman said. "But we are confident we can hold the lines if the weather doesn't change drastically."

Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. declared the blackened region on the northeastern fringe of Los Angeles a disaster area, the first such declaration of his administration.

State assemblyman William Campbell, chairman of the committee on fire services, appealed to Brown for millions of dollars to combat "one of the most critical disasters that has ever confronted southern California" — the expected floods and mud slides that often follow such fires, doing more damage to people and houses than the fires themselves.

Rain falling on the steep hillsides, denuded of brush, runs off as flash flooding or turns them to rivers of mud that can swamp whole neighborhoods. The season of heaviest rains begins in about six weeks and runs for three to four months.

Beclouded Retirement

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Superior Court judge arrested for lewd conduct with another man in a sex movie theater retired on a $29,000-a-year pension, records disclosed today.

Judge Sherman W. Smith and another man were arrested in a Hollywood theater Aug. 1 on charges of sex perversion and lewd conduct. They were allowed to plead guilty to trespassing charges, fined $200 each and placed on probation.

Smith applied for a disability retirement, submitting medical records showing he suffers from hypertension. Records showed the state Commission on Judicial Qualifications granted the request, giving Smith a lifetime pension of 65 per cent of his $45,299 salary. The first year's pension is exempt from taxation, officials said.

Hamilton paid up. And it sure paid off.

The War of Independence had put us in the red for $27 million in securities. It would have been easy to shortchange the public by paying them off at depressed market value. But Hamilton said no. You see, he had pretty definite ideas about keeping the people's trust. After all, he was the first Secretary of the Treasury. So he insisted that every debt be paid in full. And they were. Over the years, it's paid off. Today, over 9½ million Americans buy U.S. Savings Bonds through their Payroll Savings Plan at work. They know Bonds are safe, secure and pay off at a good rate of interest. 6% when held to maturity in 5 years. Here's a tip that's guaranteed to pay off. Take stock in America. With the specially designed Bicentennial Series E Bonds. Don't shortchange your future.

Now, U.S. Bonds pay no interest when held to maturity in 5 years. If the first year's interest is not paid, the bond is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Your Astrograph

For Saturday, Nov. 29, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Seek not your pleasures in groups or among crowds today. Happiness comes through the company of one you cherish above all others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Today you'll find time to do that postponed labor of love. It may be small to others, but heart and mind combine to make it a big thing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Situations that may be chancy for others could prove to be sure things for you as long as you don't push your good fortune beyond reason.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You're a far more sparkling person today than you realize. Don't hide your light under a bushel. Let your rays shine forth brightly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You have massive sex appeal today, not in the physical sense but in your demeanor which members of the opposite sex find irresistible.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
While others bide their time at fun and games, you should keep your nose to the grindstone today. The rewards will enable you to play better later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
In addition to your natural charm today, there's an extra dash of enthusiasm about you which makes your personality more charismatic.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
While others may ignore the plight of an unfortunate friend, you won't. You'll perform your good offices secretly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

21) You retain the desire and the capacity to be pleasantly sociable today. Don't stop at one spot. You can handle it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Business and pleasure are a good mix for you today. Take the initiative in promoting some light diversion as a prelude to an important discussion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Soft lights, sweet music and a rendezvous with the one you love will please you today. Don't spoil it by bringing others into the picture.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
The results you're seeking today can be attained with gentleness, but firm persuasion. Don't be afraid to add a dab of humor.

Bonds will be strengthened between you and a loved one this coming year. If there has been a temporary void in your life it will soon be filled.

think you may beat the contract. The odds against you are too great.

The contract did go down. West opened his king of spades and wound up with a spade trick and his two side aces.

Of course, North should not have bid five hearts. He should have passed. South would double four spades, set it two tricks and pick up 300 points, which is a much better result than being set at five hearts.

Guards Suspend! Action

BEACON, N.Y. (UPI) — Guards at the Fishkill Correctional Facility and Matteawan mental facility for criminals, apparently satisfied with negotiations with state Corrections Commissioner Benjamin Ward, have suspended picketing after one day protesting of alleged understaffing. Ward had helicoptered to Fishkill from his Albany office Wednesday to direct negotiations aimed at getting the guards back to work. A guard spokesman said talks with corrections department officials were continuing. Guards say the sprawling Dutchess County facility, which cares for about 1,000 patients and inmates is down 62 men from assigned strength. Wednesday, about 240 guards assigned to the morning and afternoon shifts refused to report for work and picket lines were set up at all four gates. The facility has about 516 guards but days off, vacations and other factors limit the daily available work force to a total of about 320 guards. Thursday, however, the 6:30 a.m. shift turned up as usual. The job action followed a vote by the members of Local 1255 of Council 82 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), AFL-CIO, to remain off the job to protest what they see as a shortage of guards. They said the manpower shortage meant guards had to supervise too many inmates and that there had been 400 injuries among the guard force in the past seven months. According to Carl Gray, Council 82 president, the guard force had been trimmed from three to one officers on certain posts and each officer had to supervise from 40 to 75 inmates. A prison spokesman said, however, that the maximum number of inmates under supervision in any single unit was 50. The one-day protest was mainly centered around the Matteawan unit, which houses about 300 inmates judged mentally ill after committing a violent crime. The facility also includes the General Containment unit, which has about 400 inmates, and units for the elderly and handicapped, work release programs and diagnosis and evaluation.

Gilman Wants Stewart Action

MIDDLETOWN — Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th Dist.) today urged "expeditious consideration" of the environmental assessment report for the proposed 4000 foot extension of the east-west runway at Stewart Airport. A public hearing on the runway's environmental impact statement has been scheduled for 9 a.m. at the County Building in Goshen on Wednesday, Dec. 17. In his request to Orange County Executive Louis V. Mills, Congressman Gilman said that "it is in the interest of enhancing our region's economy to conduct these hearings as expeditiously as possible without any undue delay." Gilman noted that the opponents of the runway extension are requesting postponement of the runway hearings. "These hearings will provide the public an opportunity to become involved in the airport planning process," Gilman said, "noting that improvements in the quality of air transportation at Stewart will help to make the airport environmentally more compatible while at the same time helping to rekindle business developments and economic growth in our area. Three public hearings on the runway extension proposal by the MTA prior to the Dec. 17 public hearing will take place at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 9 at the Meadow Hill School in the Town of Newburgh, Dec. 10 at the Temple Hill School in New Windsor and December 11 at the County Center in Goshen.

'Constructive' Mood Promised

TOWN OF LLOYD — Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 6), newly elected minority leader of the Ulster County Legislature, has promised that the 12 Democratic representatives that will serve on the board for the next two years "will not be a silent majority." "We will be a constructive, as opposed to a destructive, minority," said Klein. "We will support those majority programs benefitting our county, but vigorously oppose those contrary to the public interest. We will offer an affirmative program of our own and fight, if necessary, for its implementation." "In short, we the Democratic legislators pledge to work diligently in support of the needs and interests of the citizens of our county. We are confident that our contribution will be felt for years to come." Klein said he is "enthused with the caliber" of the 12 Democratic legislators elected in November. He said that victories on election day "have provided us with several well-qualified, outspoken and enthusiastic legislative representatives." Klein was recently elected to replace Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City) as minority leader. Gorman did not seek reelection, and his term will end Dec. 31.

Problem Solving In Phoenicia

PHOENICIA — Half the problem created when the Phoenicia Bridge collapsed 10 months ago was solved this week when installation of a new six-inch water main across the Esopus Creek was completed. But replacement of the bridge itself is still on the drawing boards. The new water main—supported by steel I-beams suspended across the creek—will service customers located in the south end of the Phoenicia Water District. Since the bridge, and the water main it supported, collapsed in February, residents have been provided with water via a temporary three-inch plastic pipe. That arrangement was unsatisfactory to residents of the area—who had to boil their water to eliminate impurities and who had to tolerate extremely low pressure during peak use periods—and to the Ulster County Health Department, which warned that the water could become contaminated. Health Department officials declared the situation an emergency and required immediate corrective measures. That prompted installation of the steel water main. Work began two weeks ago and was completed Tuesday. The Health Department announced Wednesday that residents do not have to continue to boil their water now that the new main has been installed. Pressure is expected to reach 1974 levels. The measure, however, is only temporary. When, and if, a new bridge is constructed, a new main will be attached to the span. Originally, the Town of Shandaken had intended to locate the new water main below the bed of the Esopus Creek, a project that would have cost an estimated $22,000. Complications arose in that procedure—not the least of which was New York City's refusal to shut off the Shandaken portal to allow construction crews to work in the creek bed—prompting the more expeditious solution of suspending the line above the stream. There was also some concern that a heavy frost could fracture the plastic pipe, necessitating its immediate replacement. The bridge toppled into the creek on Feb. 27 after an 11 1/2 foot rental truck driven by Craig Shultis of Phoenicia tried unsuccessfully to pass through the 8 1/2 foot span.
